HOUSE OF DELEGATES.

N. E. WHITAKER,
GEORGE L. MURKIN,
WILLIAM S. MEEK,
EDWARD M. ATKINSON.

They Want a Political Party.

This from the Parkersburg Journal contains a statement which is either true or untrue. It comes from a respectable newspaper which names names:

A Prohibition ticket for the House of Delegates was decided upon last August, before the Republican ticket was named. The chairman of the State Prohibition Committee, Mr. D. D. Johnson, some six weeks ago in a conversation with the editor of this paper said they would nominate a straight ticket, even if the Republicans were in favor of it. Being asked if they wanted to defeat the submission of a ticket, he replied: "Oh, I don't care so much for that. I want to see a political party." In other words, the prohibition without the "Third Party" was not wanted. We presume that is why they put up their ticket Saturday.

Aside from the character of the authority, the probability is that the statement is true. The idea of the Third Party is to build up a political organization. If prohibition were to be brought about by any other party, or secured by the people irrespective of any and all parties, their occupation would be gone and their disappointment would be great.

The Johnson combination, which runs the Third Party in West Virginia, is a combination of politicians for political purpose; and it is interesting to know that it is a Democratic combination. "We don't care much for sublimity just now. What we are after is a political party."

Ephraim's Day of Rebuke.

"Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke; among the tribes of Israel he will be known that which shall be." Thus saith the prophet.

Ephraim had mixed among the people by the flowing water, on the mountain sides and up the "hollows." He had filled their ears with his exceeding great misunderstanding of the tariff question. He had sought to soothe them with comforting words about the pensions of men who went out to fight and were maimed for life or came home again no more forever. He had failed to explain what he told them two years before about the great surplus of shovels in the coffers. He had besought them in the name of the father, Jefferson and Jackson, to write his name among the lawmakers of the land. He had beamed on them with that smile which is as the sun on the sea with the rising breeze.

Having watched with friendly interest the sleepless efforts of Ephraim we regret to say that the day of rebuke came on November 2, after which time Ephraim was obliged to abandon all other business and devote himself to being desolate. It had to be, for the prophet had foretold that "which shall surely be." It was awful and in the house of Ephraim.

A Good Thought.

The Knights of Labor are resolved to be informed on the conspiracy laws of the several states, and to enforce them against employers who conspire to wrong workmen. For this double purpose the Richmond convention has appointed a committee.

This is a step in the right direction. Employers cannot always be forced to be fair to their employees, but if they transgress the law they ought to be punished by the law. Only those who have been guilty of such offenses, or are willing to resort to lawless methods, will object to the resolve of the Knights.

The same law also forbids conspiracy against the employers. It is a public wrong for two or more men to band together to injure their employer or the person whose employ they have left.

If there is a failure to agree employers may seek other service and employers other men to do their work. The law then protects the employer and his new workmen. Whether the conspiracy takes the form of violence or boycotting, it is under the ban of the law. Men who appeal to the law must abide by the law.

THE IRON TRADE.

On a Regular Boom—Construction Very Heavy.

The following elaborate review of the condition of the iron trade of the country with hitherto unpublished facts, showing general prosperity, is published in the Philadelphia Press: Investigation into the state of the iron trade of this country shows there has been an increased production of 821,500 tons during the first nine months of 1886; that the demand has been and is as great that orders cannot now be filled for some grades of iron; that in the last six days an advance in pig iron has taken place of 50 cents to $1 per ton East, $1 in the West and from $1 to $1.50 in the South.

Pig iron has advanced at the rate of $2.24 per ton, plate iron at the rate of $5.40 per ton and much more than 50 higher than the lowest price this year. The heaviest business of the year is being done at the present time. The views of iron masters in all parts of the country are given. In this city there is really no foundry for sale, but the price has not been advanced by any company. The scarcity of this brand can be illustrated by the fact that the Thomas Iron Company was compelled to refuse to ship fifteen tons to a customer because it had not to spare.

Nearly all the furnaces in the Lehigh Valley are sold up to the end of the year for all the iron they can make. There is not only a large demand for iron for immediate consumption, but inquiry for next year is very keen. The Thomas Iron Company, which has not yet opened its books for 1887, has had inquiries for nearly 100,000 tons. The Crane Iron Company is said by the trade to have disposed of 15,000 tons, but declines to make quotations generally. The Glendon and other leading furnaces occupy the same position.

In the west and south prices have advanced, and the demand for iron is greater than the supply. In view of the increase in production of pig iron for the first nine months of this year of more than 800,000 tons the trade will be pronounced in a better state than was hoped for by the most sanguine producer. At this moment far more iron is being consumed than ever before.

The heavy orders of railroad companies for cars, locomotives, bridges and material generally has caused a sharp advance in the price of iron. Bar iron, which sold a few months ago at $1.75, is now $1.85.

A large buyer for a car-works came to town this week in the hope of getting his iron at less than $1.80, at which price he was offered last week, but was compelled to pay $1.85. The Pennsylvania railroad which has built 4,000 cars this year, and is now turning out of the Altoona works a whole freight train a day, or a car every fifteen minutes, has just given a new order for 600 cars.

ENTERPRISING FARMERS.

What Energy and Enterprise Accomplishes in Agriculture.

Atlanta Constitution.

As little as the people think of it, the farm offers great room for a display of enterprise and thrift. In fact, the farmer needs to be far more business like than the average business man of the town. Take, for example, the affairs of an improved farm where advanced agriculture is a reality. Real business tact is shown on every hand. There is some prejudice against "advanced agriculture," but let us see what that sort of farming really is.

In the first place, advanced agriculture means small farms well managed, improved machinery, close neighbors and more advantages every way.

When a country is new land plentiful and population scattered, there is not so much fault to be found with the man who lives leisurely, letting the future take care of itself, and even taking little thought for the present. But when the population has come, railroads traverse the country, and markets are created for the products of the farm, it is a careless man who lets opportunities slip through his fingers. A farmer should make every edge cut, and should strive to make his home in comfort and value every year. It is a bad policy that does not improve the land each season.

Georgia is particularly blessed. Our climate is not surpassed on the face of the earth, and our soil is susceptible of the highest culture. The Thomas county land under high culture has produced 119 bushels of corn per acre, at a profit of $77. In the same county $443 has been cleared on an acre of cane. In Brooke county over $2,200 has been cleared on a two-acre farm. A single acre of Georgia land has produced four bales of cotton.

These cases taken at random show what Georgia soil can do. Very few States can show such varied and abundant crops as are yearly produced by the farmers of this State. When they get fully down to living at home, get their big farms divided up, turn their attention to making one acre produce what two or three now yield, buy only what they cannot raise, and above all, pay spot cash, their state of bloom as the rose, and the farmers will be the most independent people in the land.

There is no overestimating the value of so managing that a few hundred dollars will remain in the pocket when the year's work is wound up. It makes a man proud and it makes him two-fold more industrious to end the year with silver jingling in his pocket. Make up your mind to try it.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

Women physicians are highly successful in the Quaker City. They are several here who make from $10,000 to $17,000 a year, and many who make a round $5,000.

Colonel William Ludlow, one of the District Commissioners of Washington, regards the extension of Massachusetts avenue as the beginning of a new city of the future.

Atlanta wants a bottle factory, and looks to Pittsburgh manufacturers to start a plant there. This is a strange demand from a town where there has been so much prohibition.

Many explosions in flouring mills are said to have been caused by electricity generated by belts. Even ordinary belts are found to generate electricity along currents to perform the common experiments for which electrical machines are used.

Speculators are boring industriously at Knowersville, an Albany suburb, for natural gas. The outlook for success is good, and it is estimated that a well will bring a boom for Albany! What a transformation must come over the old Dutch town.

James Ireland, of the West Oxford Cheese Manufacturing Company, Ontario, has received an order for a two-ton cheese from Master Bro. Hamilton, for the English market. This mammoth cheese will weigh 4,500 pounds. It will be five feet in diameter and will stand four feet in height.

A colored son of Philadelphia, Matthew Hope, just ten years old, mounted a horse which was standing at Tenth and Pine streets, rode up Broad street as far as Norfolk, and was trying to sell the animal to a man for $4, when a police sergeant appeared and took charge of the boy and horse.

Lawrence J. Ibach, a queer old chap, illiterate but wise, a blacksmith once but now a physical worker, lives in Newmarket, Lebanon County, Pa. He learned astronomy at odd moments in his shop, mastered the task of preparing almanacs, and now calculates for twenty-five almanacs. For all this he only gets $500 a year.

Sleeplessness is not considered agreeable, but an Italian who has voluntarily given up sleep for the sake of notoriety asserts that he can live very comfortably without his usual refreshment. At his last report he had been without sleep for eighteen days by relying on frequent ablutions in cold water and occasional sniffs of ammonia, and claims that sleeplessness did not exhaust his physical strength.

Greatly Excited.

Not a few of the citizens of Wheeling have recently become greatly excited over the astounding facts that several of their friends who had been pronounced by their physicians as incurable and beyond all hope—suffering with that dreaded monster, Consumption—have been completely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, the only remedy that does positively cure all throat and lung diseases, coughs, colds, asthma and bronchitis. The friends of Logan & Co.'s drug store, large bottles $1.00 each.

Alfred Sinclair, an aged citizen of Flemington, a few days since met with a serious and probably fatal accident while driving. His horse became frightened, kicked, reared, and threw him. Mr. Sinclair, however, escaped unhurt. The horse ran at least one hundred yards, dragging him over stones, logs, &c. When the wagon was reached the man was found semi-conscious, horribly mangled and torn.

ACKER'S BLOOD PURIFIER is the only Blood Remedy guaranteed. It is a positive cure for Ulcera, Eruptions or Syphilis Poisoning. It purifies the whole system, and banishes all Rheumatic and Neuralgic pains. We guarantee it. Logan & Co. and Charles Monkmeyer.

The County Court of Webster county has ordered another election upon the question of subscribing $40,000 to the Chicago, Parkersburg & Norfolk Railroad Company. The vote will be taken November 2.
