

THE PITY FOR BEN ALI.

Hundreds of People Express Sympathy for the Supposed

JACK THE RIPPER IN NEW YORK.

They Believe Him Innocent of the Murder of "Old Shakespeare"—Analysts of the Testimony on Which He Was Convicted—What Medical Experts Say.

New York, July 9.—Ameer Ben Ali, the poor outcast son of Algeria, who is now confined in the Tombs awaiting a life sentence for the alleged murder of "Old Shakespeare" at the East River Hotel, was visited by two of his counsel, Messrs. Levy and House, yesterday.

Mr. Levy said afterward: "We are more positive than ever that 'Frenchy' is innocent of the crime for which he was convicted. He persists that he is innocent, and continues to say that he did not know 'Old Shakespeare' and did not kill her."

Mr. Levy says that his associates and himself are earnest in their desire for an appeal and reversal of judgment. He believes that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, and that Frenchy was either guilty of murder in the first degree or not guilty at all. Notwithstanding the hardship the firm has passed through and the expense of appeal with which they are saddled, they have determined, if necessary, to go to the court of last resort to vindicate their confidence in their client's innocence and the injustice of his conviction.

"I can only say," continued Mr. Levy, "that in the words of Prof. Formad, in one of his publications, 'This trial evidences that scientific experts may become more dangerous to society than the very criminals they are called upon to convict.'"

He declared that the specimens examined by Professor Formad, and upon which he based his testimony, were not well preserved. "If that be so," he said, "we are sustained in our position by Professor Formad's own words: 'If the blood is well preserved the expert can determine it easily; if, on the other hand, it is putrefied, he cannot.'"

"The specimens were examined," said Mr. Levy, "by Professor Formad two months after the spots were placed upon them, and he himself admits that he discovered in the specimens examined by him evidences of bacteria. That in itself shows putrefaction."

Since the trial Messrs. Levy, Friend and House have received numerous offers from well known scientists and medical men, who express their willingness to assist in disproving (as they say) the "radically impossible" theories of Professor Formad.

The firm has also been receiving hundreds of letters from all over the country, in which the writers express their belief in the innocence of Frenchy, the falsity of the testimony given by the witnesses now in the House of Detention, and the absurdities of the theories advanced on the trial by Professor Formad.

There was one among the hundred or more letters received yesterday, which seemed very pleasing to Mr. Levy and his associates. It was written by a lady, evidently of culture, is dated New York, July 5, and runs thus:

"Will you permit a stranger who has carefully watched your actions in defending the poor outcast recently and in doing so your acknowledgment of the God who is the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, to say God bless you and prosper you in every good work?"

Then follow these verses:

Work on, though some time the thought may come,
My labor has all been in vain;
From the seed sown with care in the earth so bare
I shall reap no golden grain."

Work on, with a heart that is trusting and brave,
And as the morning light comes after the night
Your reward will come to you.

Dr. Justin Herold, of No. 78 Seventh avenue, who was formerly a deputy coroner of this county, who has examined over sixty thousand living persons and passed upon 15,000 coroner's cases, out of which he made 2,200 autopsies, and who was an expert witness for the defense at the recent trial, said yesterday:

"I heard all of the testimony at the coroner's inquest, and I think it simply unfair for physicians to change their testimony at a trial from the original at the inquest. Deputy Coroner Jenkins testified at the inquest that 'Old Shakespeare' died from both strangulation and mutilation. At the trial he testified that she died of strangulation only. He never saw the body in its original position at the hotel. How could he swear whether the wounds were produced by the right or left hand, or whether the mutilation had caused death, or whether she had been mutilated after being strangled?"

"His opinion about strangulation was formed from the fact that the tongue protruded. He examined her body at the morgue. The coroner who examined the body at the hotel says her tongue did not protrude."

"At the coroner's inquest there was no mention of preserving any intestinal matter to compare it with what was found under the defendant's fingernails and on his shirt and socks. What was found on his person was compared with matter on the mattress, on an article which had probably never been cleaned since it had been in use. It is supposed that a physician, in order to testify as to the effects of the intestinal fluid on articles of food, must have had opportunity to examine the operation of the fluid in human beings. This is a ridiculous supposition. The fact of the matter is, that all we know about its action we have learned from the animal kingdom."

A PRINCELY HEIR.

CINCINNATI, July 9.—Austro-Hungarian Consul Max Schamberg, of Pittsburgh, has found Mathias Duller, the heir to many millions.

Duller has been located at No. 510 Central avenue, where he lives under the name of Max Dollar.

Mr. Schamberg was notified some time ago that two young men, August Duller and Mathias Duller, had fallen heirs to a considerable fortune, left by an Austrian aunt and uncle. The two were born in Austria.

Their parents, it is said, died young, and a wealthy aunt gave them a good education. Mathias entered the army. The brothers came to America some years ago. August is now in Pittsburgh. He has a thriving butcher business and a family. Some weeks ago the news of the death of a wealthy aunt and uncle reached Mathias. He reestablished his claim to the legacy. The latter was one-fifth of 76,000 guilders left by the aunt and about the same amount left by the uncle. This would make the legacy of the brothers about $10,000 each. The Cincinnati lady yesterday wrote Mr. Schamberg. Duller says that he left the Austrian army three years ago for reasons with which his aunt had been acquainted. He appears well educated, but is not in particularly good circumstances. It is thought that the widow of the deceased uncle, who lives in Vienna, is still living, but upon her death the two brothers will get her fortune, according to a clause in the uncle's will.

A YOUNG THIEF.

A Seventeen-Year-Old Boy who Stole $30,000 Worth of Diamonds.

New York, July 9.—William C. Duncan, alias "E. Valdez," the Brooklyn youth who stole $30,000 worth of diamonds from his employers, Lewisohn & Co., of No. 41 Maiden lane, last January, was arraigned before Recorder Smyth yesterday morning. Through Lawyer Jacob Berlinger, who was assigned by the court to appear for him, he pleaded guilty to the charge of grand larceny and was remanded until Friday for sentence.

Duncan is only seventeen years old and comes from a good family. He is a nephew of Congressman R. Whitlaw, of Missouri, and also the Bloch Brothers, diamond merchants in Maiden lane. Up to the time of the theft he bore an excellent reputation. He was a member of Dr. Talmage's church, the Young Men's Christian Association and the secretary of the Elliott Dramatic Society, one of the most aristocratic organizations in Brooklyn.

He was employed by Lewisohn & Co. last summer as a clerk, and, proving faithful to business, and being apparently trustworthy, was given the delivery of gems to city customers. By claiming several uptown jewelers as possible customers, he was permitted to take out $20,000 worth of diamonds to leave with them for approval January 22 last, and two days later he took out $10,000 worth of diamonds and pearls. He was not seen again by his employers until yesterday morning, when they were brought face to face with him in the courtroom.

The night of the last theft he registered at the Astor House as "E. Valdez, St. Louis," and deposited in the hotel safe a small box containing nearly all the stolen gems. The following morning he went away, and since then has been traveling in Spain, Algiers, Germany, Holland and Belgium. It was not until his money, obtained through the sale of $1,300 worth of the diamonds before he left this city, and $500 more borrowed money from a wealthy Philadelphia family which he met and traveled with in Algiers, was almost gone that he decided to return to this city and get the box of jewels which he had left at the Astor House. The reason he did not take it with him was that he was afraid that the Spanish customs officers, being notified of the theft, would recognize him by means of the diamonds.

But through the accidental breaking of the box while it was being placed in a different compartment of the Astor House safe one day about a week after his departure, the nature of its contents was learned, and a few days later the $28,000 worth of diamonds was turned over to the rightful owners. The accident was fatal to Duncan's plans. When he appeared at the Astor House Monday evening, registered his name as Valdez, and said he would like to get the box he had left there six months ago, night clerk Van Boscoten naively asked him if he would like to be shown to the same room that he occupied before, and promised to send up the package in a few minutes. When Duncan had gone to his room the night clerk telephoned to police headquarters, and a few minutes later Detectives Rogers and Titus had the clever young thief in custody. He admitted the theft, and said that if he had known that the contents of the package had been discovered he would not have come back.

A MILLION DOLLARS LOSS.

The Great Fire at Cincinnati Worse Than First Reported.

CINCINNATI, O., July 9.—There is a visible loss in the architectural line at Fourth and Elm streets, where the great fire of last night destroyed a million dollars worth of property. The high west wall and a portion of the Fourth street front are gone, making a great gap. Only the upper portion of the east wall left, but it caught the two adjoining buildings, the Pope Bros. Moulding Company and the M. Steinert & Sons, pianos, and crushed in their middle as if they were eggshells. The Pope Bros. Moulding Company's loss is total. The scene at M. Steinert & Sons' piano warehouses is almost sickening. They had over 200 costly pianos stored on the three floors and the cellar of their large place. Three or four instruments on the first floor in front seem to be unburnt. All the rest seem to be a mass of wreckage.

Mr. Burkhardt has already intimated his purpose to rebuild and to immediately resume his manufacturing business. His insurance will aggregate perhaps over a half million dollars, and with his long experience in the business he expects to soon be re-established in the old quarters.

The loss of the firm of Henry Geiershofer & Co. is total, except what was saved by the salvage corps. Their loss is estimated at $300,000, and insurance $215,000.

AN EVANGELIST'S CLAIM

Against a Congregation Not Paid Because he Did Little Good.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., July 9.—Evangelist Dixon Williams has created a great stir in Birmingham. The Cumberland Presbyterian church brought him here to conduct a grand revival, and built him a tabernacle to seat 1,500 people. He was to stay a month and furnish a great singer to lead the singing. He came, and for a while people flocked to hear him. Then he had to leave for Indiana on business and stayed ten days. The meetings came near falling through, but were carried on by a pastor, and during this time all the real conversions of the meetings took place. The contributions did not pan out. It was a big struggle to keep the meetings going until it was closed with the church $500 in debt and no results worth mentioning. The church got together $400 for him and paid his board bill of $100. He demanded $1,000. They refused. He offered to knock off $250 and take $750 in full satisfaction. They had raised all they could. Rev. Dixon then sent a claim for $250 to a lawyer with instructions to sue on it. The lawyer would not take the case, and the evangelist withdrew his suit. Mr. Williams came here from Indiana.

THE NAVAL ACADEMY.

The Board of Visitors Makes Recommendations—Hazing Denounced.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—The Board of Visitors to Annapolis, through its secretary, Lieutenant Alexander Sharp, has made a report to the Secretary of the Navy upon the result of its visit to the Naval Academy last June. Among the recommendations made by board are the following:

First—That the age of admission to the Academy be fixed from sixteen to eighteen years, instead of fifteen to twenty.

Second—That the law providing a donation of one year's sea pay, amounting to $950, to cadets not entering the service at the end of the six years' course be repealed.

Third—That every cadet shall be appointed one year in advance of entrance, except when, by reason of death or other cause, a vacancy occurs which cannot be provided for by such appointment in advance; and that in each case an alternate shall be nominated at the same time; and that a course of study covering the work of one year preparatory to admission be recommended to each appointee and alternate as a desirable line of preparation for admission; and

Fourth—That no cadet reported deficient in either conduct or studies and recommended for discharge by the Academic Board shall, unless upon recommendation by that board, be retained or reappointed in the academy or appointed to any place in the navy until his class shall have left the academy and received their commissions.

The board treats the subject of "hazing" at considerable length.

"The odious, brutalizing and un-American habit of 'hazing' has not as yet entirely disappeared from the academy. The efforts that have been made for its extermination, it is gratifying to say, have been largely successful, but there yet lingers among the cadets a degree of class feeling that is extremely detrimental. This is, no doubt, difficult for young men of the age of those at the naval academy fully to comprehend and always act upon the broad principles of justice and equity that generally prevail among educated and broad minded men; and yet the very purpose of the liberal education the government bestows upon those who are the object of its care here, is to make them officers who, loving justice, will always defend the right. The lesson they are to practice throughout life they ought to learn and practice here—to hate wrong and oppression. Looked at from a proper standpoint nothing is more brutal, not to say cowardly, than for the strong to oppress the weak; or for a superior in rank to take advantage of his position to wrong an inferior. Though young men may in moments of recklessness and mirth disguise the truth from themselves, yet this is really the spirit that prompts those of a higher to degrade and insult those of a lower class.

"The board is glad to be able to report that there is now at the academy only a relic of the hazing that in times past was so disgraceful, and the officers in charge are taking what they believe to be wise and proper steps to eradicate, so far as may be, certain false ideas of honor that still linger among the young men and manifest themselves in certain extravagant fidelity to one class at the expense sometimes it may be, of even official duty and honor itself.

DRY ITCHING SCALES THAT CRACKED AND POPPED OPEN.

LINDLEY, STEUBEN CO., N. Y., April 11, 1890. FOSTER, MILBURN & Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

GENTLEMEN:—When about ten or twelve years old I was troubled with cracks across the palm of my left hand, and when they healed the trouble broke out on my head, and every winter it would come out as a sort of tetter and make scales all over my head. I have not been free from it a single winter since, but it was worse last winter after I had the grippe, for then it came out in spots all over my body. I had a doctor examine me, and he told me that there was no cure for me. I got worse and worse. Scales would form over the sores and then dry out until they would crack and pop open, showing a watery matter. My skin was all like a dry wrapper. It felt as though it had dried on me. The scales were so bad that they would collect in the bed and have to be shaken out. It was about this time that I commenced using B. B. I was so bad that I was ashamed to take my hat off before a neighbor. I had used five bottles of another medicine without noticing any effect; but when I commenced to take B. B. the sores came out thicker than before, and they burned like fire; they were immense blotches of fire that would burn so I could not sleep. The way they burned and itched can not be told, and I hope no one else may ever know from experience. The only relief I could get was from washing the sores with some B. B.

I stuck to the medicine and was on the fourth bottle before I could see that I was really better, although I knew that it was better to get such rottenness out of my blood than to have it stay there. I did say once that I wished I had never commenced taking B. B., but my wife encouraged me, and to-day I thank her for the advice, for I am in good health now, and I don't believe I ever would have been with my blood in such a condition as it was.

My scalp now is clean and clear of all scales and tetter, and on my body there are only small spots to show where the sores were, and these spots are free from scales. I do not doubt but that the cure will be perfect.

I am now on the sixth bottle and will take more until every spot is gone. I firmly believe that Burdock Blood Bitter will cure the worst disorders of the blood, for such certainly was mine.

Signed, Chad Wingate
