The Intelligencer.

WHEELING, PERRUARY 29, 1892, THE approaching contest is remièred especially important by reason of the in-dustrial and financial policies of the Government being at stake. The popular de-cision on these issues is of great moment and will be of far-reaching consequence.

The Chief of Police Is Hight.

A line in the INTELLIGENCER'S report of the proceedings of the police committee of Council has been misunderstood as a desire to screen ex-Policeman Marks because he is a Republican. The INTELLIGENCER approves the dismissal of Marks, as it will that of every man who may be dismissed for like or equally good cause.

The INTELLIGENCER is glad to see that the chief of police is making an intelligent and courageous effort to do his duty and give the city a good police administration, something not seen in Wheeling for a long time.

The Intelligences deeply regrets that the police committee of Council, instead of supporting Chief McNichol in his honest effort to raise the police force to higher efficiency, has arrayed itself against the chief, against the efficiency of the force, against the public welfare, and on the side of an insubordinate officer who has shown himself unworthy to wear the uniform of a guardian of the peace.

A man of less honest determination than Chief McNichol might well be disheartened by this flagrant violation of the proprieties of the situation; but Chief McNichot will probably console himself with the reflection that he is not responsible for the committee's queer idea of what constitutes a good policeman.

The chief has sworn to do his duty. Let him continue to do the best he can, no matter what the police committee or anybody else may do or leave undone. It may be that in the end Council will sustain the chief of police and rebuke the police committee for what it has sought to do. If Council endorses the committee, that will be bad for the city, but it will still remain for the chief of police to go on doing the best he can under unfavorable circumstances.

The people will know where to put the blame. Chief McNichol will have a good conscience and the approval of good citizens without regard to party.

Lighter Light-Weight Tin Plate. In order to cut under the product of the young American industry the manufacturers of tin plate conceived the idea of knocking twelve pounds off the standard weight of a box of tin plate. This does not seem to have been cut enough; as witness this interesting extract from a letter to the INTELLIGENCER from the N. & G. Taylor Co., of Philadelphia:

A. & G. Laylor Co., of Philadelphia:

Since writing you on the 19th jinst, our attention has been called to the great extent to which the manufacture of foreign light weight in plates is carried on, and we hear of plates weighting 80 be, to the box, whereas the standard is 112. This you see is a discount of 28 per cent; we hardly think the consumer will get this benefit in the price. It is a great pity that such plates have to be put upon the market. It may pay the seller for a time bundard weight and superfor quality will command the trade it deserves as tin plate is an article that soon shows its value.

Whoever has use for tin plate has use for that article of greater weight than 80 pounds to the box, and consumers will do well to see what it is they are getting when they order tin plate. The foreign makers will resort to other shifts. but there will be an American tin plate industry nevertheless, just as we have established an American steel rail industry. This country will not turn back.

Crowding Mr. Pendleton.

There is in Washington a disposition to crowd the Hon. John O. Pendleton. Republicans do not take him seriously. but in his own party there is an evident desire to get rid of him, probably because he is forging to the front and getting in the way of Democratic aspirants for higher honors.

It has even been suggested by Mr. Pendleton's Democratic associates that his party at home try to nominate somebody else this time. All this is idle talk; Mr. Pendleton has the nomination within call, and when the time comes he will take it. Speaking of Mr. Pendleton, here is a Washington correspondent's snap-shot view of him on a great occasion.

Representative Pendleton, of Wheeling, W. Va., Is a young man, who wept when he was unseated by the Fifty-first Congress. He is now attempting to prove to his constituency that he is a state-suant. He had a little speech prepared on the Indian question to-day, and after various struggles and wild waving of his hand, managed to obtain recognition. His great speech which he was bursting to get off, was a combination of platitudes that interested no one. He began to outline an Indian policy which he conceived to be original until Representative Pickett, of South Itakota, who knows all about Indians, Informed him that his supposed now idea was the policy this covernment under Republican laws had been following for years. Mr. Fendleton subsided.

Why did not covers

Why did not some party friend do Mr. Pendleton the kindness to tell him that he was going wrong and save him from colliding with a South Dakota blizzard? Anybody who knows the representative from the First district knows he rehearsed this speech in Democratic hearing more than once before he got a chance to fire it into the Congressional Record.

And why this persistent effort to put Mr. Pendleton down by calling him a young man? He has been young, "but he hasn't for a long time now." His age is one of the secrets of local history, and the correspondents have no right to refer to it. By common consent at home Mr. Pendleton is regarded as a person of uncertain age and corresponding attainments. Isn't this enough?

Mr. Pendieton will not be in the next Congress and he should be permitted to round off his career handsomely in

To Restrict Immigration.

The Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly made a sensible move yesterday when it adopted a resolution favoring a tax of $200 on each immigrant arriving in this country. This is the remedy proposed by the INTELLIGENCER as the most practicable way to deal with an increasing evil which grows more threatening every year.

The attention of uneasy politicians is directed to the action of this representative body of wage-earners, which includes in its large membership a large proportion of adopted citizens. Foreign born citizens who have come to this country to stay, who love it and desire to shelter it from danger, think as clearly and as patriotically on this important subject as those who were born to this splendid inheritance.

The politicians need not be afraid to take up and deal vigorously with this matter of immigration. The people are getting their eyes open and are ready to move. What timid politicians have to fear is that they may be run over if they do not begin to move.

Put up the bars $200 high!

The Democratic Revolution in New York. The New York anti-snaps are bravely resenting the degradation of their party by Hill, but they will not induce the Chicago convention to seat their delegates. The Hill delegates will go to Chicago with the brand of regularity blown in the bottle, and this will settle

Before the anti-snaps can get seats in a national convention they will have to get control of the party machine at home and through that machinery work up from the bottom to the top. They are essentially revolutionists, and before the highest national body in their party will recognize them they must be successful revolutionists.

It is to be assumed that their able leaders understand this and are going to Chicago with an ultimate object that will not be defeated by a denial of admission to the convention.

Dehorning Cattle.

A case of interest to farmers was before a justice of the peace in Beaver Falls, Pa., last Saturday. Certain farmers were arrested for sawing the horns off their cattle, the arrest being made on the ground that the farmers had been guilty of cruelty to animals.

Much testimony was taken pro and con. The farmers explained that they dehorned the cattle to keep them from injuring each other and other live stock; that the operation was not cruel, being accomplished in from ten to twenty seconds, and that the animals showed no signs whatever of being injured. The defendants were acquitted and the prosecution had to pay the Domestic animals have no need of their horns and may do a great deal of mischief with them. The day will come when they will have no horns. Farmers will dehorn them until they breed the horns off and save the trouble of sawing them off.

Reports are so conflicting that it is impossible to tell just what has caused the outbreak in Berlin. It is a reasonable supposition that the absolutist talks of the young emperor have contributed to the situation. Men do not like to be told that they are owned body and soul even by their hereditary

THE sympathy of the community goes out to the sufferers by yesterday's fire, honest, energetic, worthy business men. It is hoped that they may soon be doing business again. There is also a tender solicitude for the brave firemen who were injured in the discharge of an atways perilous duty.

It seems only yesterday, so time flies, that Mr. George William Curtis was kicking against the nomination of Mr. Blaine. Now he is in the noble army of Anti-Snap Democrats, wearing out his shoes on Hill. Mr. Curtis in his declining days is an unfortunate politician.

IF Mr. Cleveland has any views to communicate with regard to one David Burglar Hill the press of the country without regard to party will be glad to give him as much space as he may require. His private opinion would be interesting public reading.

SECRETARIES FOLGER, Manning and Windom got too much of the treasury department, and Secretary Foster, a man of robust physique, has gone abroad for his health. Does the country demand too much of the secretary

THE Berlin policeman is a kicker from 'way back who leaves his impression on the shins of his victim. This may be better than laying heads open with the ready club.

PRESIDENT HARRISON may be supposed to view with entire complacency the interesting situation in New York. It is not casting any deep shadows over the Republican heart.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.

It is told of the late Sir George Airy, the astronomer rayal of England, that, by reason of his timidity, he seemed doomed to be a bachelor for life. An intimate friend remarked to him one day: "Have you ever observed Miss—'s eyes? They have the property of double refraction." "Dear me, that is double refraction." "Dear me, that is very odd," he exclaimed; "I should like to see that; do you think I might venture to call?" And call he did, and begged permission to examine the young lady's eyes. The novelty of the situation may have fascinated him. At any rate he begged the privilege of a second call to look at the eyes in a clearer light. The problem grew so interestor light. The problem grew so interesting that he at length came to the con-clusion to make it a life study.

In the case of widows this canopy, which was called the "care cloth," was considered quite unnecessary. A necessary portion of the costume of an English bride of the middle ages was a carving knife stuck in her girdle.

It was the Chinese who invented the well known plan of capturing ducks and other water fowl by wading toward them with a basket over the head and dragging them under water before they knew what had caught them by the legs.

the chase. Very acceptable mirrors are now being made of wood in Germany. The wood is treated to achemical bath, after which it may be polished to shine like silver.

PERSONAL POINTS.

General O. O. Howard is preparing to write a life of President Zachary Taylor, and has been at work for nearly year gathering material therefor. Re-cently he was in Louisville, where he went to consult General Thomas Taylor regarding the disputed date of "Old Rough and Ready's" marriage. He found the court record fixing the date of the ceremony on June 10, 1810, and found also the log house on the bank of Harrod's creek where the ceremony was performed.

Why Edison is a Republican.

The father and brother of the great electrical inventor, Thomas A. Edison, were Democrats. Some one recently asked him to explain how he happened to be a Republican when his environ-ment was Democratic.
"I will tell you all about it in a very few word," said he. "I became a Re-publican in New Orleans. It was on a street corner, where there was a poor devil in blue uniform grinding an organ. He was blind in one eye. He had a big sear above the other eye. He had a big sear above the other eye. One of his ears was slashed off. One leg was cut off below the knee. The other was severed above the knee. His left arm was cut off above the elbow. His right hand was mutilated so that only the little finger remained. With that finger he turned the organ handle and brought forth doleful times. A big brute of of a southerner came along and stopped in dolent times. A big britte of of a southerner came along and stopped in front of the organ, looking the crippled soldier all over. Then he drew a ten dollar bill out of his pocket and tossed it on the organ. As he started away the old soldier called after him to know if he had not made a mistake, saying that he man had over given him the that no man had ever given him a bill before. The southerner turned about with a fierce look and responded that he was willing to give $10 any time to see a Yankee sliced up like the organ grinder, because that was the way he would like to see every blankety blanked Yankee carved up. Well, that incident made a Republican of me."

GROVER'S SOLILOQUY.

To be or not to be—a candidate,
That is the question: whether 'iis nobler in the mind tosuffer the silings and arrows
Of outrageous fortune, in the shape of Ribaid lest, unseemingly derogation
Of my lofty claims, the vile nitacks of Campuign scribbers and itilit's mercenaries;
Or, in inocuous desuctade,
To rest and leave this wicked world alone
To lts political extinguishment?
Alas to write, to speak, perchance to dream—
Ay, there's the rub; for in that speech my mouth
Might put my princely claims in evil peril.
There's the respect that makes the candidate
Fear a calamity, for if my mouth
Should intercept my feet, the end would come.
This thought doth give me pause: methinks my soul
Revolts, and yet I hear my country's call,
And from my puzzled will evolve a hope
That makes me rather hear the various fills
Of I vasidential offer than to fity
