Saturday evening at the Siebert Garden bowling alleys the Intelligencer and Wheeling Bowling clubs of the Wheeling Bowling League played two championship games, with the result that the newspaper boys got knocked out completely-two defeats. Quite a crowd was on hand to see the contests. The victors are now tied with the South Side aggregation for first place in the championship race. The Intelligencer's standing in the race was not impaired by the two defeats; that team still cupies fourth place and is not out of the cupies fourth place and is not out of the race yet.

The first game was won by the W. B. C. boys after a contest that was very close on the first five frames. The thetelligencer boys fell toward the end of the game—on the easy alley at that. The scores of the Intelligencer's recently strong bowlers were poor. Cassell made the best individual score of the evening, 277. The score of the first game in detail:

Mr. Wilson's Secretary Thought it Might be an Infernal Machine.

Washington, Feb. 4 -Somehody in New York sent a little tin box to Chairman Wilson, of the ways and means committee, Friday and Saturday morning it was received by the son, who is clerk of the committee. Its appearance was so unusual that he concluded it might contain dynamite or some other explocontain dynamite or some other explosive.

Ho called a council of the messengers who were in the room, and they pronounced it dangerous. The suspicion grow that it had been sent by some of the highly protected monopolists to avenge the treatment they had received in the Wilson bill, and it was thereupon decided to take the box out into the Capitol grounds and open it with care. With the aid of a pair of tongs, a long-handled spike and padded gloves this was eventually accomplished by a messenger. Inside the box was a package of fine caudy and a neatly inscribed card, saying that the inclosed product was one of the results of free sugar.

The donor congratulated Chairman Wilson upon the action of the house in retaining sugar upon the feel list, and and expressed the hope the senator would do likewise.

CLEVELAND, Feb, 4 .- A special to the Plain Dealer from Columbus says: The purpose of the visit to John C. Gowdy. chairman of the Indiana Republican State Executive Committee, is no longer a secreat. The fact is that Chairman Gowdy is an accredited messenger and minister from ex-President Harrison, and that he carried with him assurances of good will and substantial aid in the governer's coming fight for the Presidental nomination two years hence. Harrison does not want the nomination, and would not accept it and so he here.

Illarrison does not want the nomination, and would not accept it, and so he has informed Governor McKluley.

Since his great bereavement he has no ambition, except to live a useful and dignified life, devoted to his profession and his studies, and, futhermore, he believes that he could not survive the worry and work of another campaign and term as President.

UNDIVIDED VIRGINIA DEBT. A Virginia Commission to Negotiate With West Virginia.

FOR A NEW TRIAL

The Reilly Will Case Opened Up Again Saturday,

CASE ARGUED BEFORE THE JUDGE.

For the Proponents of the Will, Judge Melvin Made the Argument-Mr. Hubbard, for the Contestants, Replied-Judge Campbell Takes the Matter Under Advisement-Interest in the Case.

Saturday arguments were heard before Judge John A. Campbell, of the circuit court, on the motion of the proponents of the Michael Reilly will, for a new trial.

The discussion was opened at 10 o'clock by Judge Thayer Melvin for the proponents of the will. Judge Melvin objected to all of the instructions to the jury offered by the contestants with the exception of No. 3, and he claimed that the verdict was not warranted by the evidence. As to the first instruction which is to the effect that the proponouts must prove that the deceased was of sound mind when he executed the will, the judge thought it not right as it does not set forth that the burden of proof as to insanity is on the contestants. As to the fourth instruction the speaker objected to the word "legal." Another objection was made to the words, "and no controlling effect is to be given to the testimony of the subscribing witnesses." Read in connection with another instruction it was confusing to the jurors.

As to the instructions of the contestants regarding insane delusion, he took the stand that the character of the delusion had not been set forth, leaving the jury free to construct any ill feeling of Mr. Reilly for his children as a delusion. He held that the other instructions he held that the burden of the proof as to insanity is on the contestants.

He held that the eleventh instruction was confusing to even an attorney. It instructs the jury to inquire as to undue influence before the will was made; this was not applicable to the case. He noxt took up instruction No. 12, which is as follows:

The jury are instructed that if they be of sound mind when he executed the

is as follows:

The jury are instructed that if they believe from the evidence that the said John T.
Sullivan was the priest or spirital advisor of the said Michael Rellly, and that he had opportunity for the exercise of undue influence, and that he obtains a personal and substantial bonefut under the paper writing in question to the exclusion of the heirs and natural objects of the bounty of said Michael Relliy, then it is for the jury to say from all the facts and circumstances of the case whether or not undue influence was exerted by said J. T. Sullivan on the mind of said Michael Relliy which operated upon and controlled his mind at the time of the execution of said paper writing."

Judge Melvin said that this instruc-tion contains three propositions which are wholly out of the case. He objected to Monsigner Sullivan being singled out for mention. He said that legally Father Sullivan took no part in the con-struction of the will, was not a legatee and did not receive bounty to the ex-clusion of the hoirs. The speaker cited cases in support of his view. Conclud-ing he said that the verdict was not warranted by the evidence given, and that it was wholly contrary to the evi-dence. Judge Melvin said that this instruc-

Hon. John A. Hutchinson, of Parkreplied to Judze Melvin. His claim was that the burden of proof as to testamentary effacity was upon the proponents. In support of this view he cited from a number of authorities, and insisted that the proposition is this: "Is this the will of Michael Reilly?" and that the burden to prove testamentary capacity is wholly upon the proponents. Referring to Judga Melvin's objection to the fourth instruction he said it was not to be read by itself, but they were to be read together. The instructions for and against the will were not to be taken as hoslile to each other, but were to represent the court's condensation of the evidence. As to snother objection he said it would be impossible to particularize as to exactly what delusion the old gentleman was suffering. He considered the sixth instruction which related to this matter very clear. He maintained that the evidence and the verdict were in harmony.

Regarding the objection to the ersburg, of counsel for the contestants in harmony.

Regarding the objection to the Regarding the objection to the eleventh instruction he cited several cases from New York. Regarding the twelfth instruction he said the original one went a good deal further than the one allowed by the court. He considered the instruction allowed entirely proper, and that it did not injure the proponents. It only calls the attention of the jury to the relations that existed between the testator and Father Sullivan. Judge Melvin had said that the trusted does not bonefit to the exclusion.

between the testator and Father Sullivan. Judge Melvin had said that the trustee does not benefit to the exclusion of the children, but the speaker held a different view—the estate is entailed upon them in fee for three or four generations, and during that time they have entire control of it. Concluding, Mr. Hutchinson said the instructions should not be molested.

Mr. W. P. Hubbard followed for the contestants. In opening he said that all the questions had been fully considered and passed upon during the trial, and that a higher tribunal having final jurisdiction, should be allowed to pass upon the objections. He held that the burden of showing mental capacity is wholly apon the proponents of the will. He commented on the fact that witnesses for the proponents had testified to the fact that regarding his children Mr. Reilly was perverted. As to instruction No. 4, he said it must be presumed that the jury has a reasonable amount of common sense. As to instruction No. 4, he speaker said that if it were shown that there was a delusion respecting the will, that was concept. Regarding instruction No. 12 Mr. Hubbard said the other side should not complain. enough. Regarding instruction No. 12 Mr. Hubbard said the other side should not complain.

Mr. Hubbard said the other side should not complain.

Continuing, Mr. Hubbard referred to the benefits which the executors received from the immense estate left to them, and said that the jury had properly decided that the executors did receive personal benefits from the will, to the injury and exclusion of the heirs. Late in the afternoon Judge Melvin concluded the argument for the propenents. He began by a reference to the weight he thought Mr. Hubbard's remarks should have. He made a short review of the evidence and replied to the objections made by Messrs, Hubbard and Hutchinson. He again instead that the burden of showing instead that the burden of showing instead that the burden of showing instance delusion is upon the contestants. He again referred to instruction No. 4, and said that in his opinion the court had made a grave error in using the language would be proper in an instruction, but manifestly improper in an instruction. He hald language it had. The tanguage would be proper in an opinion, but manifestly improper in an instruction. He hold that there was nothing to show that there was more than a feeling, or possi-bly a prejudice, against the children. At the conclusion of the argument the court took the matter under advise-ment.

One of them flushed $20 and the other had but $10. He borrowed $10 from Burke, and just after he gave up his money some one yelled "policel" and the crowil ran. Burke didn't. He made complaint against White and the mayor taxed him only $10 and costs for steering a man who, although quite unsophisticated, was not so easily "done up" as most of the victims of the gang of slick gentlemen.

Guess How Many packages of Pearline have been consumed. Hundreds of millions! Successful from the very start, it is more successful now than ever. Every year the sales are piling up and increasing, though every month brings some new wouldbe imitation. Why is it? If you're one of the millions of women who are using Pearline, you won't have to ask why. This is the reason: It is the best thing of its kind. And that is what most women want, for their washing and cleaning. ALWAYS refuse imitations. JAMES PYLE, New York,

What is
