SENATOR WHITAKER

Accepts Renomination for the State Senate by

FIRST DISTRICT REPUBLICANS.

THE CONFEREES MET YESTER-DAY AFTERNOON, AND AC-COMPLISHED THE UNANIMOUS CHOICE OF MR. WHITAKER IN LESS THAN FIVE MINUTES, COUNTY COMMISSIONERS NAME ELECTION JUDGES - SIGNIFI-CANCE OF THE ELECTION ENU-MERATION OF VOTERS.

Yesterday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock the Republican conferees of the First senstorial district, comprising the counties of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio, met in the office of the mayor, city building, for the purpose of acting upon the dec-tination of Mr. Joseph C. Brady to accept the nomination, tendered at the recent gathering of the conferees, after Senator Whitaker had written a letter stating his hope that he would not be given the nomination.

The conferees were called to order by the chairman of the first conference, Mr. Raymond G. Scott, of Brooke coun-ty. In the absence of Mr. Alex. R. Campbell, who acted as secretary be-fore, Mr. A. S. Bell, of Ohio county, The letter from Mr. Joseph C. Brady, in which he stated in positive terms that he would be unable to accept the nomination, was read, and the declination accepted by the conference.

Mr. Sam O. Boyce arose and placed in nomination Mr. N. E. Whitaker, of this city, who is now serving as state As stated 'exclusively in the senator. Intelligencer of Monday morning, Senator Whitaker had withdrawn from his determination not to accept a renomination, and when this became known to the senatorial conferees, of course their action after accepting Mr. Brady's declination was without doubt.

Senator Whitaker's nomination was seconded by a number of the conferees, and he was nominated without opposition.

A committee of notification was named, composed of Messrs, Sam O. Boyce, Henry Kern and A. S. Bell. Mr. Boyce said that the committee would call and notify Mr. Whitaker in person some day this week. The candidate was out of the city yesterday.

There has seldom been a convention of such shor: duration, nor one whose work has met with such general endorse-ment from the rank and file of the party it represented. Senator Whitaker's high standing as a business man, a humane and kindly employer of labor, a legislator of experience and ability and other qualifications make him the ideal candidate, and even in the face of the admitted strength of the Democratic nominee the Intelligencer joins with the Republicans of Ohio county in the bellef that Senator Whitaker will be returned to the state senate by as large a majority as he received in 1894.

Tuesday morning a special meeting of the board of commissioners of Ohio county was held for the purpose of naming the judges of election for the approaching November election. In all of the districts excepting Liberty, the Democrats have one and the Republicans two judges. In Liberty district, however, there is a Democratic com-missioner, Mr. Faris, thus explaining the exception, by which the Democrata have control of the election machinery. The judges' names and their politics are as follows:

in its opinion it would be in the nature of a hardship to compel the Baltimore & Ohlo to put safety gates at Fortythirdand McCulloch streets and the com-mittee recommended in lieu thereof that a watchman be stationed at the crossing during the summer months.

The second branch was undecided what to do with the committee's report. A motion was entertained which would refer the report back to the committee with instructions to draw up an ordi-nance in favor of compelling the railroad companies to crect the gates. There was an amendment offered later to lay the committee's report on the table. Acting President Connelly called for votes on the motion, and decided that both were lost. Then the whole matter was gone over in another form. Mr. Weisgerber moved that the ordinance committee's report be received. Mr. Marschner amended by referring the report back, with instructions to draft an ordinance compelling the Baltimore & Ohio to erect the gates. Mr. Miller inquired about gates at Sixteenth and Main streets, and was informed that the Baltimore & Ohio had been given an extension to erect the gates by council some time ago. The committee's report was adopted, however, so the gates will not be put up at Forty-third and McColloch streets.

We refer to Dr. Greene, who has his office at 35 West Fourteenth Street, New York Cite. This famous doctor is a blessing to humanity, for he charges nothing to anyone who may call upon or write to him for advice. Inasmuch as he will conncientiously advise by letter, this greatest of Bos-tor's advantages is being extended to the whole United States. We would ad-vise sufferers from blood and nerve troubles, or any of the many blood and nerve troubles resulting from this de-cargement, to consult at once this great specialist. The success of "My Friend From India." which comes to the Opera House next Saturday, matinee and night, means many things. It means that a young firm, Smyth & Rice, with many qualifications for successful and astute hanagers, has risen, from which, in the future, we may expect productions of high-class comedy. These gentlemen will undoubtedly not rest on the vantage ground already gained, but proceed will undoubtedly not rest on the vant-age ground already gained, but proceed many steps further. It means also that a new author is launched into the field, with simple yet unique and original ideas and methods. "My Friend From India" has been constructed by a mind menost myope in its clarity, and the se-cret of its success is that the author has so cleverly exhibited this quality, though it has been disguised by sim-plicity. With a perceptive faculty little short of marvelous, he has taken an un-usual subject, and so constructed the se-quences of his dramatic and farcical effects, as to have won his audience be-fore they were aware of it. He has ap-pealed to the risibilities of his hearers by their intuitive spontaneous appreci-ation of lnes verging together from many directions, and blending into an irreslatible whole. Another quality of the play is that it contains just enough of a touch theosophical to appeal to both those with and without a knowi-edge of the occult, and thus the author has cleverily avoided shooting over the admirably enacted, and touching on new lines in a new way, it is a novely and a success. and a succoss
