Mr. Edgington spoke of Mr. Russell's recent speech. That gentleman had adverused to give an account of his stewardship at Charleston, but neglected to say soything about any of the transactions there in which his constituents and the people generally were interested. In refer-+pec to Mr. Russell's course at Charleston, E. Edgington said that about that time Julge Daniels, of the U. S. Supreme Court, leceased. There was nothing remarkable in this, but shortly afterwards Mr. Russell was recommended as a marvellous proper mes to fill the vacancy. The inference as that Mr. R.'s action in taking the lead the seceders was with a view of securag that appointment. In alluding to Mr. mor the speaker said that the people of Western Virginia wanted no disunion emissaries sent out here to tell them their

Mr. Edgington was applauded very enhasiastically throughout his speech.

By Defacing Bills .- The practice of is simply nothing more nor less than a wanton destruction of property-tor these are property, and are paid for by the advarisers, who, if they are not permitted to have the benefit of them, are swindled. Bus of the most excellent and costly character are torn down and defaced with computation as if they were worthless. In many instances this is done thoughtlessly, but in most cases the destruction is the result of malice, or a sort of "cussedness" which is born or gradually engendered in some people, and over which they have no more control than they have over the growth of their hair .--Bills have been detaced in a most shameiess manner, and there will soon be no sifety or efficiency in this mode of adver-

DE THE RIVER .- There were about five and a half feet water in the channel of the Olio yesterday, and the river was falling slowly. There was no particular din about the landing. On the contrary matters and things were decidedly dull.

We resterday saw a letter from one of the crew of the steamer Snnny South, which left here about six weeks ago. The letter is dated near Natchez, Oct. 18, and
