BOT BOLD ATTEMPT TO ROB A SOLDIER -A discharged soldier by the name of Gruton, took a walk up on Wheeling Hill, on Sunday evening, and being pleased with the prospect, lingered about the hill-ind until after nightfall. As he was retugning home, he was approximed by two men, who demanded his money. Bruton lenied have ing any money, but one of the men drew a had money, and if he did not give it up he would kill him. At this Bruton started to echoes on the morning of the fourth, run, and was hotly pursued by the men, who once or twice approached him so closely as to be able to strike him with the clubs which they held in their hands. As the soldier neared the city and the gas-

The faces of the men were concealed by pieces of black oil cloth, and the soldier thinks be could not identify either of them.

This is certainly one of the boldest attempts at robbery which we have heard of for a long time, occurring, as it did, early in the evening, and almost within the city

RAILROAD ACCIDENT .- On Tuesday morning of last week, an engineer on the Battimore and Ohio Railroad named William Williams, was so badly injured that he is not expected to live. He was the engineer of a freight train and stopped a short distance east of Cumberland on the switch, to await the passage of a passenger train. Being somewhat tired he laid down, and falling asleep rolled over upon the track in front of his engine. There was another train spon the switch, the coginger of which moved his own engine for some purpose, forcing the other engine upon the body of the sleeping engineer, crushing his arm and shoulder in a terrible manner .-Mr. Williams is now lying at Cumberland in a very dangerous condition. He resides at Martinsburg and is a man of family.

THE STRAWBERRY CROP. - The strawberry senson is about wound up. The which has been postponed till the 3th of yield everywhere hereabouts has been enormous. The cheapness of the fruit has been greater than in any season within our recollection. We have heard of parties exentsion trains over their road on the who from a single patch of less than an acre have cleared during the season some hundreds of dollars. In point of pecuniary return the cereals bear no comparison with this fruit. A five acre lot of straw, berries will yield a greater nett profit than thirty acres of the best wheat land, As dealers tell us that this season they have sold more strawberry plants than for years before, the inference is that agriculturists

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES. The Battle before Richmond -- A Victory claimed for our side -- Federal closs 1,200: 11 37

NEW YORK, June 30 .- The N. Y. Tribuns has just issued an extra, with dispatches dated on the battle field Sunday morning. The dispatch states that a severe and determined battle was fought on the right wing on Thursday and Friday, which is claimed by some of our officers as a successful strategetic movement, driving the enemy unwithingly into a trap which will soon capture Richmond and the entire reb-

The attack was made by the enemy in immense force, who crossed the Chicka-hominy near the railroad above Mechanicsville, on Thursday afternoon. The rebels fought desperately, but were unable to drive our men a single rod, though the enemy were ten to our one. The only force engaged that day was McGall's division. The battle lasted from 2 o'clock till 9 p. m. when the division was ordered back.

Gen. McClellan was on the field and expressed himself satisfied with the result.

The Herald also publishes a report dated the 28th, which states that our killed, wounded and missing will number 1200.
The object of the movement was to bring Gen. Porter's and other divisions into close connection with

Fuller Particulars of the late Battle

Our Victory complete—Stonewall

Jackson and Ewell Routed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—The following is from the correspondent of the Baltimore to allow the rebels to follow and if possible to bag them.

Gen. McClellan ordered Gen. Porter to withdraw to two miles this side of Gaines' Mills early on Friday morning, which was done, the enemy following and thinking they had gained the victory, our troops slowly moving back in order fighting as gratifying announcement that Stonewall Jackson and Ewell in attemyting to turn the right flank, were repulsed by General McCall, with his Pennsylvania reserve, and driven back with great slaughter. This attempt of Jackson's was made at 3 o'clock in the afternoon a general and heavy engagement occurred here, lasting till seven o'clock when a full took place; but the rebels again renewed it, having put to a complete route, with very light loss to our forces.

Although it might and was intended for a surprise, the gallant Pennsylvanians were found to be wide awake. There was how-ever every indication of a general battle along the whole line. Gen. McClellan in order to be ready for any emergency, gave directions to General Casey and Col. Ingalls to make every preparation for the in-stant removal or destruction of all the sup-plies at White House, should the result of the impending battle render such a course necessary. His force being deemed too small to render the successful defense of small to render the successful defense of his position a certainty against such a movement of the enemy as might ensue.

The mail steamer which should have left for Fortress Mooroe at 7 o'clock in the morning, was ordered to be detained, and at 9 o clock a despatch was received that a general battle was progressing along the whole line, the enemy having renewed the sattempt to flank Gen. Porter's position on the enemy with the bayonet, driving the right wing.

At 11 o'clock a second dispatch announced that Gen. Porter had driven the enemy before him, and repulsed them three times with terrific slaughter, and was then ordered by Gen. McClellan to fall back.

This dispatch was a signal for renewed energy in the work of evacuation, and all the Ouartermasters' papers and valuables.

On the whole route down steamers and tugs were passed having large numbers of vessels in tow, and at West Point, forty miles below White House, not less than 300 vessels were at anchor, whilst the numerous steamers and tugs which had brought them down were preparing to start up for several hundred still up the

About 7 o'clock on Friday evening num bers of wounded commenced arriving from the front of the lines. With a few of the most intelligent of whom I had an oppor-tunity of conversing.

Those engaged in the repulse of Stone-wall Jackson represent it to be most dis-astrons. He came down on them expect-ing a surprise, but found them all momening a surprise, but found them all momentarily expecting him, having been informed by Gen. McGlelian two days previous that he was coming. Instead of surprise the enemy received the first shot, and after two hours fight retreated in confusion.

The wounded represent it to have been a most terrific encounter, the enemy coming from Richmond in such dense masses, that the shell and grape poured into them as they advanced made great gaps in their lines which were immediately filled up, but they moved forward most determidly. They still moved on and exchanged showers of still moved on and exchanged showers of balls which were destructive on both sides, but when Gen. Porter ordered a bayonet charge, they retreated in double quick. They again rallied and approached our lines a second time, when the same terrible slaughter ensued. This time their artillery, being better served, was more effective.

On coming to close quarters they were again repulsed and driven back further

This twice fought over battle ground was ow literally strewn with dead and dying. Gen. Porter then a second time fell back to his position, and waited an hour for the enemy to renew the assault.

They finally came on in increased num-bers, having been largely reinforced, and were again received with shell and grape, causing great chasms in their ranks.

A third time the enemy bore down determinedly and bravely apon our lines.—
This conflict was the most severely contested of the whole battle, but when the bayo-net was brought to bear they fell back and were pressed toward Richmond, fully one were pressed toward sucommon, tury one mile beyond our original lines.

General Porter fell back to his first position, when an order was received from General McClellan to continue his retrogade movement, slowly and in order.

Soon as it became apparent to the enemy that it was the purpose of Gen. Porter to retire they pushed forward again boldly and bravely, when they were checked by the entire reserve force, consisting of the New York 5th and 10th and two other regiments under Col. Warren, acting Brigadier General. This fresh force held the enemy in check while the force which had previ-onsly borne the brunt of the battle moved steadily back and in good order. The enemy made a fierce attack on the reserve but cannon were posted at various points of the ronte by which they were retiring towards the Chickshominy, which occasionally poured in shot and shell upon them and checked their movements and embled the troops to move back in the most admirable order.

on the enemy with the bayonet, driving him back a mile. In this charge the gallant New York 5th and 15th, drew forth the plaudits of the army by their steadiness and bravery, in which however they lost about one hundred of their members. Cheers went up along our whole like. enemy before nim, and repulsed them three times with terrific slaughter, and was then ordered by Geo. McCiellan to fail back. This dispatch was a signal for renewed energy in the work of evacuation, and all the Quartermasters' papers and valuables, and the chests of the Paymasters, were brought on board the until boat. The family of Quartermaster Engle was also brought on board, with his horses and car

That there was an intention on the part of Gen. McClellan to evacuate the White flouse as soon as his movements in front should be perfected there was no doubt, but whether as a necessity or a stragetic movement, could not at that time be foreseen.

The attamers and tags were all in early requisition and were moving down the river with long trains of transports in tow—
