> amendment the Committee do it for the purpose of giving the system of free schools in our State, such a basis as shall insure uniformity, as far as possible, throughout all the counties thereof. We desire to secure such a sum in the Treasury of the State, as when distributed to the several counties in proportion to the enumeration of children, will support our school for four months in each year, leav. Mexico. ing a smaller sum to be levied by the peo-

tion upon the one hundred dollars valuation of property, to be collected in the State Treasury, we propose by another amendment to deduct a like rate from the per centage to be levied by the people at their township meetings, and for this reason: The tax in the first instance will be uniform all over the State, while in the second, each township may make a different levy.

Here a township would assess the full limit of the law, another a less amount, while others through neglect, indifference. throughout the year, in others the schools would cease so soon as the State funds were exhausted.

Our State is now in her infancy. Having stricken off with such unanimity the chains of human slavery, let us strike boldly for freedom from its twin ally, ig-morance. And how are we to do this? Through a system of education which shall carry its blassings into every city, and village and cabin in West Virginia. And this blassing can only be secured by a system of schools supported by general taxation. We have tried the system of individual enterprise, which, while it served to give us a class of highly educated men, has left the masses in almost total destitution as to schools.

We must change the plan, and institute is race, should seek to elevate his fellow the line of the march. man in the scale of knowledge. It is only n this way that our government, founded be transmitted from generation to generation, for no republic can long exist that is not sustained by the intelligence and morals of its citizens. And what is intelligence but another name for education? A development of all the powers physical, intel-lectual, and moral? This education goes on daily, and it is impossible that we shall feel as if we had done our duty, while the current of ignorance is bearing away the youth of our land, into indolence and rime, and we make no effort for their res cue. Each individual is being educated daily for good or for evil. There is no powhich you can place your chil dren and say in truth that they are unin-

Then let us as law-makers not shrink rom our duty, but let us give to our constituents such a law as shall by its opera tions provide, as so strongly expressed in our constitution, for a thorough and efficient system of free schools.

Is it urged that we must reduce the taxes? Let us not make the reduction here. Is it said we are engaged in war, a war for the life of our nation, and that we must husband all our resources for the conflict? We know it, we feel it. But remember that your children that will never return. The

It is ignorance that produces nearly all the crime and misery in the land. In civil life it fills our jails and penitentiaries, and has supplied in this war the sinews of fanatics and gives innumerable followers to such leaders as Joe Smith and the false hose cancers upon the body politic of up per and lower classes, patrician and plebe-

Then let us remove as speedily as possin every precinct throughout our State, in the rich and the poor shall be educated for their support. Let us return to our homes to popularize this system, and soon we shall see all over our mountain State such a system as shall give knowledge to all the masses. I shall not be a member of this body, but I hope, as a citizen, soon to see the day when we shall not only provideschools for all the children, but when public opinion wilf have so far advanced as to say to the

on the State a citizen unprepared for his duties," when laws will be made to comel such parent to be just to what is indeed the protege of the State.

Then, sir, will just laws be honored and obeyed by intelligent and happy citizens .-Then will religion be respected, and the liberties of our country, nader the blessing of God, be secure in the bands of a people both wise and good.

Particulars of that big Cavairy Raid to Move this Week.

Special to the N. Y. Times. WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

It was announced a month ago, that the veteran and victorious army of Gen. Thomas, which had then just inflicted such a series of disastrous defeats upon Hood, would at once take up its march after the remnant of the rebelarmy, which had found refuge in Mississippi, at Tupelo, a station on the Mobile Railroad, some fifty miles south of Corinth. Our army, in undertaking this movement, would necessarily have to prepare itself for a campaign extending through the State of Mississippi, and as far as Mobile, for Hood would simply retreat from Tupelo and other points as we advanced upon them, and would thus draw vanced upon them, and would thus draw trustwerthy gentleman, who ought to our forces on indefinitely, without result know. The Provost Marshal in question This would have been a campaign of great has since been removed. difficulty and required considerable time in to be done in the Southwest. In fact a limited body of infantry, with a super-abundance of cavairy, are all that are now required in all the vast range of country betwees the Ohio River and the Gulf of solved upon, and by the time this is printed, a cavalry movement of the most gigantic character, and promising the greatest results, will have been begun. The army, in fact, is in motion. The main circumstances have already been announced in the papers of the West and South.

The starting point of the campaign is Eastport, in the northeastern corner of the State of Mississippi, where Thomas' head-quarters have been for some time located. You tought your moder was dead? Now never you mind what you tought. Don't quarters have been for some time located. The Columbus (Miss.) Republic has recently published the information that large Federal forces were "cendentrating at Eastport and Decatur for the purpose of and sign de pabers. or opposition to the whole system, would moving on Selma and Montgomery as soon gib me $50 for preparing dem; and $100 make no levy whatever. Thus, while the as the roads are in suitable condition." Of for me to gib to de oder man for finding make no levy whatever. Thus, while the as the roads are in suitable condition." Of schools in one township might centique course they can stop neither at Selma or Montgomery; and the articles that have been telegraphed North from the Mobile Tribune show very clearly that the rebels know the point aimed at to be the great commercial city of the Gulf. The R chmond Whig of Tuesday informs us that Gen. Canby has sent a large force of infantry from New Orleans to Pascagoula, close to Mobile; and the city is so weakly defended that the idea is universally expressed in the South that it will be abandoned by the rebels.

The number of cavalry engaged in this great expedition is stated in the Western papers as 40,000, including mounted infantry, but the force may not be as large as this. The distinguished cavalry lead er, Gen. Wilson, is in command. The disprobably make twenty to twenty five miles a day, and the campaign, if continuous. as it is upon the popular will, can safely would thus occupy from fifteen to twenty

It is by far the largest expedition of this character of the war, and its conditions and prosperity have been so thoroughly Robert Minor. canvassed in advance, that no doubt whatever is entertained of its complete success The demoralized condition of Dick Taylor's (late Hood's) army at Tupelo, not over 16,000 strong, takes it away as an element of danger. The intense animosity of the people of Alabama and Mississippi against the rebel Government and authorities, known to amount almost to revolution, makes the prospect of the campaigu good in that respect. It will probably be even freer from harrassment than Sherman's campaign through Georgia. The opening of the Alabama and Tomrigbee rivers, and the occupation of Selma, Montgomery and Mobile, will virtually

WASHINGTON ITEMS.

Washington was welcomed almost as warmly as her coming. The ladies at her hotel, in particular, are greatly wroth with her. In their geatle hearts they took pity on her sufferings in rebeldom, and sought to welcome her to a land where she would find something to eat, and cease suffering from "nothing to wear." To their great through the Gulf States Announced disgust, she responded by depicting the delights of Richmond, and absolutely came off with flying colors. Said the wife of an eminent officer, "I tried to be polite to her; but when she told me that the day before she left Richmood she saw as good a market as she ever saw in her life, I couldn't stand any more of it!" The general verdict of the ladies was that if Mr. Foote was a type of Southern Unionism, Mr. Seward might welcome her as much as he pleased, but we had better keep fighting a while longer.

Hunireds of deserters have come off to the army and to the fleet, and unanimously agree in the statement that nearly all the ebel troops have left that place, and that will be surrendered whenever a demand or it shall be made, even if the force by which it is backed up shall not be a very large one. The cotton has all been removed from the city into the interior. Our feet are busily engaged in removing the obstructions, and expect to be able to reach the city by the lat of March.

The Herald's Paris correspondent states that the two formidable naval rams Sphynx and Cheops, built at Bordeaux, France, sometime ago, having been fitted out in the most complete manner for our Southern ebels, with the heaviest class of guns and all craws, and under the new names of the "Stonewall" and the "Rapidan," were to sail in the beginning of this month from a little island off the coast of France for this port. It was believed they were of so staunch a character that they would experience no diffiulty in passing all the batteries in our harbor and coming right up to the city, which it is reported to be designed by their commander either to lay under heavy contribution or to destroy. This scheme is said to have been concocted and assisted in is prosecution under a secret treaty between the Emperor Napoleon and the Jeff Davis government.

A correspondent of a South Carolin paper, who has been over the route of Gen. Sherman's march through Georgia, is surprised to find that that officer dealt so len iently with that state, and consoles himself The Richmond Examiner of the 10th
