The birds in the garnered sheaves And the wind that wearily grieves I have never a thought of care; Forgotten the old despair. Too blest for even a prayer, With clasped hands I lie. There is peace in the darkened room. There are lilies in perfect bloom, And the haunting, rare perfume

Of jessamine floating by, No glance I backward cast: A seal is on the past, And the future, vague and vast Beckons with bated breath. But the wind goes shuddering by I hear a strong man's sigh And a heart-sick child's low cry: Is it life, or is it death: -Sarah D. Hobart, in Linpincott.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOW. He came-the day was dull and dead The skies were cold and gray; The slanting rain beat on the pana And blurred the tossing bay, But oh, so dear his tender tone, His smile so sweet to see. That in my heart the sunlight shone,

And all was fair to me. He's gone-the day is fresh and fair The skies are warm and bright. The robin sings; the blithe bee win; O'er fragrant fields his flight, But dim and blurred through tearful eyes The sunlit bay I see: For on my heart a shadow lies And all is dark to me.

THE DOCTOR'S WARD. "Marry Kitsie!" Dr. Grealy cried pushing.back his chair and staring at his sister in amazement. "What in the world should any one want to marry Kitsie for?" "For a multitude of reasons," Miss Dora replied, with a pleasant little laugh.

love with her already." replied, grimly. men in the place that can afford to keep a wife; but what you say about Captain Challoner fairly amazes me. Why-why,

-Walter Learned, in Manhattan.

he's very near as old as I am!" "Even so, Jack; you're not quite a one moment-what brings the captain called a good read. here day after day and evening after

"Well, then, to tell you the truth, Dolly. I rather flattered myself that he came to see me and play cribbage with me," the doctor replied, looking gravely at his sister. "I did, upon my con-"Then you're a conceited old goose.

that's all I can say," Miss Dora replied, laughing heartily at her brother's evident azement. "Frank Challoner comes to see Kitsie. 'Then he sha'n't see her any more,"

the doctor cried, ringing the bell vio- gently. "Here, Bridget, where's Miss Kitsie?" he roared, as an elderly woman put her stairs—fixin' herself for tay?" Bridget re- tor Grealy of his trouble and expense at not stop when successful, which he never The pickets were doubled and all the "Where would she be, sur, but up- out that it was her duty to relieve Docplied, in an aggrieved tone. She did soon as she could; then he told her of does, vows that he will be more prudent people put under arms, so as to prevent who was the only bachelor President, not like being summoned from the his wealth, his home, his friends-of | next time, and in order to have the chance kitchen for such a trifle. "Then go upstairs this moment, and her. tell her she's not to come down to ight. No. wait a seco is taking lave of his sinses!" Bridget exclaimed, still clinging to the door-handle; and at that moment Kitsie came tripping down stairs singing gayly:

Or you go, Dora."

'Oh! there's nothing half so sweet in life As Love's young dream! "What do you know about love's young dream, miss?" the doctor said, as | be your wife!" he entered the room.

"Nothing at all, Uncle Jack, but what the song says," Kitsie replied, looking at | find his way out of the house as best he him curiously with a pair of the bluest | could. eyes, shaded by the longest and most defi-ant black, curly lashes. Nothing in the Was that white-faced, trembling little world yet; but, sure, I may be wiser some day."

"Hum!" the doctor growled, throwing a triumphant glance at his sister. "I'll take care you learn none of that nonsense yet a while."

"Miss Kitsie, jewel, will ve come here kitchen; and when they were alone Miss Dora stood by her brother's chair and looked at him sadly. "I am sorry, Jack, that I said anything about Captain Challoner; but now that well look it fairly in the face. There is no doubt, whatever, but he admires Kitsie-who could help that !- no doubt, either, it would be a fine thing for the child if he married her. He is rich, and a thorough gentleman—though not so young as I could wish, perhaps. If anything happened to you to-morrow, what crust she would share it, of course, and Bridget would work her fingers to the bones for her; but it would be a poor thing to be shut up in solitude and poverty with two heart-broken old women. Life at best is uncertain, Jack, and a doctor's more so than many people's, going, as you do, in the way of Wouldn't it be a comfort to you to know that Kitsie was well provided for gnawing his mustache somewhat savagethen he took two or three turns up and down the dining-room, and stood looking out of the window for a minute. The prospect was a pleasant one—a strip of smooth emerald lawn, the white darling. road leading to the village, and beyond the beautiful blue sea and the white cliffs of Ballycoyle. For seventeen years he had associated Kitsie with the sea, the cliffs, the lawn, he pretty cottage. How would it all look when she was gone? What a change would take place get on without her loving, constant com-How would he. Jack Grealy, bear the loss? It was so sudden and unexpected that he had scarcely time to grave, handsome, wealthy suitor could her light. He had been everything to Kitsie for seventeen years-since he resin his sister's arms. saved were a tiny, golden-haired baby a Hindoo woman-evidently her nursewho died a day or two after. For seventeen years the child had made the sunshine of the doctor's home, the music of his life.

She knew no other friends, was not even aware that she was their nince in love only, and had no claim on either Uncle Jack or Aunt Dora; and now the first stranger that came by would take

He or some other-it was all the same, Jack muttered. He would have to lose her, and he might as well "I suppose you're right, Dolly," he s id, at length, turning to his sister;

'Challoner would be an excellent match such a thing, and for the moment I was surprised. Of course, I must tell him her history, the little there is of it."

And then be left the room with the slow, unsteady step of a room but here. awake. Miss Dora looked after him for a moment in pained surprise. It slowly dawned upon her that there was some thing wrong with Jack-something strange in his face and voice and manner, and that somehow Kitsie was the cause of it. But she was a wise woman and knew when to be silent as well as when to speak, only she thought deeply and sadly of the trouble in Jack's honest gray eyes. After tea, Kitsie sat down to the piano, and played over her uncle's favorite airs, "The Meeting of the Waters," "The Young Hay Moon," "The Coulin," and other plaintive, old Irish melodies. "Play something else, Kitsie," the doctor cried at last, "something newsomething English. I'm tired of the old Irish airs, they're so melancholy." "Then I'll play you something from Pinafore.' I know you like that." Kitsie cried, merrily, and the doctor smothered an exclamation. He hated "Pinafore"-hated it doubly at that moment for he remembered that Captain Challoner had given her the music.

At that moment the captain himself MONACO'S GAMBLING DEN was announced, and after a pleasant evening he rose to go at 10 o'clock, his usual time for saying good-night. But when the doctor accompanied him to the door he lingered for a moment, and then said he should like to have half an hour's conversation. "The fact is, doctor, I have something serious to say to you and as I am summoned to England on urgent business, I should to say it be-"Come into the den," the doctor said, leading the way. He knew quite well what the captain was going to say and neved himself to bear it.

"You must have seen, doctor," he began, "that I admire your niece, Miss Kitsie, very much. She is very beautiful, artless, and unaffected, and if I can succeed in winning your consent and hers. I should like to make her my wife. I am a rich man, and I do not think you will have any reason to fear for her future if you intrust her to me." "I believe that, captain, but I can't answer for Kitsie," the doctor said a little huskily; "in fact, I have no legal right either to give or withhold my consent, as the child is no relative either by blood or marriage, nor is she my ward in reality. I picked her up seventeen years ago, when a ship was wrecked off 'Old Man's Nose.' She has lived with my sister and myself ever since, and is very dear to us both, but we have no right to influence her." "Still, I am sure she will be guided by your wishes to a great extent; at least, she ought to be, seeing how good you have been to her. At least, give me your consent to try and win her!"

"You have it," the doctor replied; and if you do win her you will be fortunate. She has a beautiful nature, a sweet temper, a loving heart. Kitsie is largely endowed with good qualities, and she is very lovely!" Captain Challoner fully indorsed the help asking himself what some of his aristocratic relatives and friends would say to his marrying a nameless sea waif, brought up by a poor dispensary doctor in a remote little Irish village. He thought it best not to inquire too minutely into the circumstance of her rescue, better take her just as she was, Dr. Grealy's niece, than discover that she belonged to some one more objectionable. He resolved to discover the state of Kit-"You seem to forget, Jack, that she's not | sie's feelings the very next day-though a child any longer, and that half the he had not very many doubts or fears on eligible young men in Ballycoyle are in the subject, she was always so glad to see him, and enjoyed his society so much-'That's not saying much," the doctor and that he would return to London and "There are only three | see what the very urgent business was that his lawyer had written about.

About 2 o'clock he called at the cottage with the intention of asking Kitsie to accompany him for a walk on the beach. He found her alone, curled

Her uncle had gone to see a patient ten miles off, and her aunt on a shopping expedition to Miltown. The captain thought he might as well speak then and there as anywhere else. For a long time Kitsie did not under stand him and when she did she glanced around with frightened eyes, seeking some means of escape. "Oh, no, no, please, Captain Challoner! I never thought of such a thing!" she cried, entreatingly. "But you can try and think of it now, he said, holding her hands dearest,"

"I can't-I won't! Please let me go!" she sobbed. But he detained her, pleaded his head in the door, holding the handle in cause with gentle insistence-told her that he knew her history, and pointed her ears-"You are no relation to Docss an' save us, miss, the masther | tor Grealy: you are a litte sea waif." At last she pushed him from her with both her trembling hands. "Go away, or I shall hate you!" she "You have robbed cried, passionately. me of all I care about on earth; I will never see you, never speak to you again, Captain Challoner-never, never, never And she rushed past him and into

An hour later the doctor returned. form looking up at him with such mute. appealing misery his blithe, bonnie

"My pet, what is it?" he cried. stroking her hair tenderly. "Come, tell me all about it." With many sobs and tears, Kitsie told one minute?" Bridget called from the her story; how Captain Challoner wanted to marry her and take her away, and, worst of all, said that she did not belong to Uncle Jack and Aunt Dora. "As if I could ever leave you!" she cried, piteously. "Oh, tell me it was a we've broached the subject, we may as cruel, wicked story, and that I am your very own Kitsie-tell me, Uncle Jack! My pet, it's true we saved you, but you belong to us all the more on that account, and you shall never leave us, dear -never, till you wish to go. Come now, dry your eyes before your aunt comes home, and forget all about Captain Challoner. not forget so easily. She fretted and which excited but little notice. Now it worried herself into a serious illness, and ther Miss Dora had to take her away for fact. Half the people one meets are goa change, she grew so thin and pale. But after the first few weeks Kitsie seemed no better, and one day, when the doctor are is: I am going to Monaco, to the classicame to see her, he resolved to find out cal concert, to the band, or to an operatic

"Kitsic, what is it?" he whispered, taking both her hands, and kneeling Hundreds go from Mentone every day, beside her. "My darling, can't you trust | thousands from Nice, Cannes, and even me? Can't you tell me what troubles San Remo and Genoa. It is a growing

"I don't know," she replied, hiding her face on his shoulder.
"But I must know, or I shall go mad. Kitsie, you are not fretting for Frank Challoner, are you? Tell me the truth, "Jack!" Only one little word, but it was enough another moment the Many of their most respectable clients doctor had taken her into his arms, and lose so heavily at Monte Carlo in the early worst troubles were ended. wonderful surprise awaited them. Kitsie the North to save life, lose all their funds was no longer a sea-waif, but a wealthy early in the winter and have to return Ohio, Illinois, Mississippi, and Mississippi, in their happy home! How would Dora heiress. Her friends at last had discov- home to face disease or perhaps death. ered her. She had sailed with her father, Other invalids, better off send again that to the eastward, further up the mother and nurse from Calcutta, and and again for money, sell. morttheir vessel had been wrecked. They gage, borrow, entirely neglect their were rescued by the brig that went to health, spend the days and evenings Each reader can pieces on "Old Man's Nose," and only in the close, badly ventilated rooms, and how much was gained and how much pieces on "Old Man's Nose," and only in the close, badly ventrated to be a lost by the fact that, under the bicked up at sea escaped. They, however very hard that people going to the south ordinance finally agreed upon, these picked up at sea escaped. They, however proved that a gentleman and lady and for health should be exposed to such little girl had been on board their brig; temptation. In every hotel there is a the win her, let him; he would not stand in and several other circumstances proved that Kitsie was indeed the long-lost but rouge and noir, of numbers, of sysdaughter of a wealthy gentleman, whose tems of play. These votaries of gambling cued her, a tiny baby, from the sea at fortune on his death went to his brother, are not necessarily the young and the the risk of his own life, and placed her and from him to his nephew, Captain inexperienced. They are often middle-Challoner, his sister's son. When Kitsie aged or aged men and women, and noble-There had been a wreck off "Old was discovered, the captain honorably men, gentry, generals, colonels, barris-There had been a wreck off "Old Man's Nose," and the only two persons gave up the fortune, but neither she nor ters, physicians. The demon of gamtics are abundant by means of which the doctor would consent to taking all; bling has got hold of them. They come this claim can be, in a part substantiahalf was more than sufficient for their shall conwants, for they declare they shall continue to live all their lives in Ballycoyle, erty, dishonor, suicide—mostly falls much to improve society, education, or only paying an occasional visit to Kitsie's

In a recent paper read before the Bosimpression that to take food immediately before going to bed and to sleep is un-Such a suggestion is answered by a reminder that the instinct of animals prompts them to sleep as soon as they then be left the room with the or seven o'clock, and the first morning when visiting a small town in one of the should be crowned with a new milking meal seven or eight o'clock, an interval smallest German states, the sovereign pail and an extra feed of meal. The of twelve hours or more clapses without food, and for the persons whose nutrition is at fault this is altogether too long a head and backache, and the languid, tive appearance of the vanguard, His Sehalf-rested condition on rising, which is rene Highness did what comported itself in many parts of the country from a tary of State, occupied the place of chief accompanied by no appetite for breakfast. well with his sixty years and his princely downward course in raising grain or lady at the White House at the state This meal itself often dissipates these dignity-he kissed every one of them on sensations. It is, therefore desirable, if their beautiful forcheads. At the end of in raising stock, grass and hay. Flowers Abigail Adams, wife of President not essential, when nutriment is to be crowded, that the last thing before going crowded, the grant crowded crowde crowded, that the last thing before going only for a couple of seconds, however; to bed should be the taking of food. then he beckoned to his adjutant, "Spar-Sleeplessness is often caused by starvation, | renholz, here, go on with the rest!" and a tumbler of milk, if drank in the middle of the night, will often put people to sleep when hypnotics would fail of their purpose. Food before rising is an equally important expedient. It supplies strength for bathing and dressing laborious and wearisome tasks for the underfed, and is a better morning 'pick me-up' than any hackneyed 'tonic. Hanlon seems to have discovered the rowed to wealth .- Whitehall Times.

A VIVIDLY DRAWN PICTURE OF A GREAT EVIL.

Enormous Profits of the Concern-Immense Sums at Stake-Hundreds Lured to Ruin and Death,

Dr. J. H. Bennett says in a letter to the London Pall Mall Gazette: Public attention has been forcibly directed for the last few years to the Monte Carlo gambling establishment at Monaco, and to the growing evils which its existence Of late the feeling of aversion. entails. not to say horror, which it occasions has become so general in every country throughout Europe, both with the gov erned and the governing bodies, that I cannot but think that its days are numbered. Both Europe and America have become fully awakened to the fact that the gambling house is a blot on modern creasing prosperity scatters ruin and desolation over the earth. The acknowl-000 francs, or nearly £700,000. No per- room. have of the Monte Carlo gambling establishment, for I have resided in its immediate vicinity (Mentone) for twentyfive winters, and consequently no one is better qualified to speak of its moral and social influence on the surrounding populations. I took refuge on the Genoese saved life, and have returned to it in the winter ever since. On my first arrival the gambling house was in its infancy, established at Monaco itself, under the patronage of the prince, and attracted but little notice. It was a very small and insignificant concern. When the gaming establishment at Homburg was closed, M. Blanc, its head, bought up the Monaco business, obtaining from the prince a long lease with all kinds of list of perfections, though he could not privileges, which were, of course, largely paid for. Bringing to the matter great experience and a masterly mind, M. Blanc's success has been stupendous, What much aided him was the fact that the closure of Homburg was followed by that of all the gambling houses in Europe, so that gamblers of all nationalities, men and women, have been thrown into his clutches. Year by year the area of the pernicious influence of Monte Carlo has increased, in ever widening circles, until it is now felt all over the world, in

Its enormous influence for evil is best understood by a simple calculation which I owe to a professional gambler. As the chances of the table are one in thirty-six in favor of the bank, to gain annually nearly £700,000, which it professes to do, (17,000,000f.) £24,500,000 must have been staked on its tables, must have been won and lost. The bank's patriarch yet, you know. Just think for up in an easy-chair, having what she £700,000 profit is its royalty—at the rate of one in thirty-six-on this enormous amount of money, which must therefore, have been played, lost and won. If the 17,000,000f, are the profits after deducting the very heavy expenses incurred by the establishment, as I believe is the case, the amount actually played must be much greater. It i this fact of the gambler dealing with large masses of money that partly accounts for the strange fascination exercised by gambling. A careful player, who begins with, say, £1,000 capital, may have fingered, according to the doctrine of chances, £30,000 before he loses his capital. If he play long enough, the bank royalty of one in thirty-six is sure to swallow up his capital, and then he has had all the emotion of having been alternately successful or the reverse, rich or poor. He regrets when he has at its safety, because thus deprived of all which was heard around the world. last lost his initial capital that he did the new and delightful world open to sells, borrows, raises money anyhow. the Hudson on the ice. Often he loses all feeling of honor and proher.

Europe, Asia, Africa and America.

But Kitsie listened in a dull, dazed way; only a few of his words rung in way; may be, by suicide.

At Monte Carlo often every fourth player is a woman; and such women! Truly they represent the sirens of old, and are infinitely more dangerous, often ruining entirely those whom they circum-The women are not all, however of this class. Husbands often thoughtlessly encourage their wives or daughters to risk a few five-franc pieces, or napol her Uncle Jack's study, leaving him to eons, on the table, and thus inoculate them with the gambling frenzy. It is principally to attract these really respectable people, to lead them by slow de grees to the gaming tables, that every possible allurement and inducement is offered to all, to travelers and to residents, with the most unbounded liberality. A magnificent band of seventy-five musicians discourses sweet music every afteratic performances are offered weekly at nominal prices, at which the leading celebrities of the day take part. The gardens are, perhaps, the finest in South-ern Europe; the reading room is one of the best supplied, with periodical liter ature; and all are opened from morn to night, without restriction, to any well dressed person. Says the spider to the fly." They do walk in by the hundreds the thousand, and are constantly sucked dry, destroyed morally and phy sically. When I first inhabited the Riviera the Monaco gambling house, as already stated, was a mere gambling club or casino, has become the great attraction, the great ing or have been to Monte Carlo. friends are invited the probable answer performance, but few dare confess they People who ought to know better play away the money they brought to live with throughout the winter, and are impoverished throughout their stay, living on strict necessaries. This I hear from the Mentone tradespeople, who bewait the daily loss they experience from this cause.

band of gamblers who talk of nothing in history.

Medical Intelligence. "Doc or, I come to see you about my vounger brother." "What is the matter with him?" "One of his legs is shorter than the other, and he limps. Now, what would you do in a case of that kind?"

"I reckon I'd limp, too."-Siftings Whoever has learned to love. learned to be silent.

SCIENTIFIC AND INDUSTRIAL.

The sawdust and refuse of the sawdust s now made to yield fourteen gallons of turpentine, three to four gallons of resin, and a quantity of tar per cord. Dr. Koller says that if silk tissues are impregnated with chromate of copper and then exposed to the direct sunshine, various shades of brown may be obtained, and the fabric is rendered waterproof. W. J. Knowles has exhibited to the London Anthropological Institute a to know who it shall be as the individual chipped flint implement which he found in undisturbed boulder clay in Ireland, and which he therefore regards as evi-dence of the existence of man in the glacial period.

Clover does not seed in New Zealand because there are no humble bees to fertilize the flowers. Various attempts which | the weary worn appeals for office which have been made to introduce the insects | are made not alone to the President, but society, and that its great and yearly in- have proven futile, but Mr. J. C. Firth has succeeded at length in getting a consignment of humble bees, which were edged profits of the concern are 17,000,- transported in a torpid state in a chilled If successful in acclimatizing son living has probably seen more than I | them, Mr. Firth expects them to save him $6,000 a year in clover seed, all supplies having now to be imported. Reports to the Paris Academy of Science on the lightning-strokes in France during 1883 show that such accidents were largely confined to the months of June and July, the number reported for Riviera in 1859, ill unto death, thereby July being 143, resulting in thirtee: deaths. Most of the persons struck occupied positions near a tree, a chimney or a house on an elevated site with trees around it: but there were cases of death in open fields and on a roadway. Several accidents from lightning happened to persons carrying umbrellas. The manufacture of artificial human milk is growing into quite an industry in England. It is made from pure cow's milk, which is first boiled to destroy all germs, then treated with a digestive ferment called pancreatine, by which artificial digestion is produced, and is finally brought to the constitution as human milk by the use of dilute acids for precipitating the excess of albumen. Sick children in hospitals have been fed on this product, and gained most rapidly in health and weight.

SELECT SIFTINGS.

About 125,000 elephants are annually killed in Africa to supply the ivory trade.

A famous bell, which in the old days of Florence used to signalize the outbreak of war, was called the martinelia. The caves or tombs of Benni Hassan are excavated in the rock on the shore of the river Nile, and are the oldest known monuments in Egypt, except the Pyra-Picadilly, one of the fashionable streets of the British metropolis, received its by the gallants of the times of the first gress made for that purpose. name from the "pickadils," or ruffs, worn two reigning monarchs of the House of Stuart in England. In the island of San Domingo there is a remarkable salt mountain, a mass of crystalline salt nearly four miles long, estimated to contain 89,337,600 tons, and said to be so clear that type can be read little experience outside of a country through a block a foot thick. In January and February, 1780, the cold was so intense that the harbor of attention to public affairs which his du-New York was so strongly bridged with | ties required, stricken with grief during ice that the British dragged cannon over the years of her stay by the loss of her it from New York to Staten Island. favorite son, Willie, the painful expe-Knyphausen was in command of the city of New York, and he became alarmed for the advantages of its insular situation. One of the queer sights in the streets has ever had. where they are left upon entering. They and make a loud, clacking noise. It is stay there, attended to the social duties surprising to see how quickly the people | only because they were duties. step in and out of them without even stopping. Straw slippers are also worn, and travelers starting on a journey take a marked as a literary woman than any supply of several pairs, in order to have since Abigail Adams. It was her taste new ones ready when the old ones give for books which established the library out. They cost only one and a half cents now in the White House, her husband

Names That Were Missed.

Now that there is some speculation on what name to give the Northern portion of Dakota, in case the Southern part should be admitted to the Union as the State of Dakota, it may be interesting to note that just one hundred years ago, in 1784, an ordinance was drawn up in regard to "the territory ceded or to be ceded by individual States to the United States." The original draft read: "The territory northward of the forty-fifth degree, that is to say, of the comquator and extending to the lake of the Woods, shall be called Sylvania. "Of the territory under the forty-fifth and forty-fourth degrees, that which lies westward of lake Michigan, shall be called Michigania; and that which is eastward therefore, within the peninsula formed by the lakes and waters of Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Erie, shall be called Chersonesus, and shall include any part of the peninsula which may extend above the forty-fifth degree.

"Of the territory under the 43d and 42d degrees, that to the westward through which the Assenisipi or Rock River runs, shall be called Assenisapia; and that to the eastward, in which are the fountains of the Muskingum, the two Miamis of the Ohio, the Wabash, the Illinois, the Miamis of the Lake, and the Sandusky Rivers, shall be called Metropotamia. "Of the territory which lies under the 41st and 40th degrees, the western, through which the river Illinois runs, shall be called Illinois, that next adjoining to the eastward, Saratoga; and that between this last and Pennsylvania, and extending from the Ohio to Lake Eric, shall be called Washington. "Of the territory which lies under the 39th and 38th degrees, to which shall be added so much of the point of land within the fork of the Ohio and into his heart forever, and little Kitsie's part of their stay that they have to live Mississippi as lies under the 37th degree, from hand to mouth during the remain- that to the westward, within and adja When they returned to Ballycoyle a der. Many who come to the Riviera from cent to which are the confluences of souri, shall be called Polypotamia, and Ohio, otherwise called the Pelisipi, shall

Each reader can judge for himself proposed names were not fastened upon

Western territory and perpetuated A few years ago many people stood ready to claim that cotton was king, indeed there are many gasping slaves to upon them at home at New York, Rio condescend to fight such a vulgar thing Janeiro, Batavia, Calcutta, anywhere. It as a mortgage. Cotton may be king or is said that during the winter about a not just as people care to think. suicide a week occurs in and near Monaco. | don't believe he is, but we do believe If so, it is only a tithe of what occurs that the good old cow is queen, and that elsewhere through Monte Carlo. For with a gentle and royal purpose she is ton Society for Medical Improvement, by Mom is this royalty of £700,000 yearly, seeking to build up the lands that the by Mom is this enormous income, raised? Merely to old monarch has wasted. There is very subsidize a degraded prince, and to give little style about the old cow. She step colossal incomes and fortunes to half a slowly and clumsily about her busi dozen persons, who are ashamed of the ness, but she makes the business pay source from whence their money comes, well. She plods along in heat or whom no respectable person would like | cold, wet or dry, eating what is given have eaten: and in summer an after-dinner to acknowledge or receive as friends, and her, feeling interest enough in the nap, especially when that meal is taken to whom society only owes punishment family to look after the dairy interests under circumstances that would dis-cotton to an upper and prosperous one dinners. King Cotton may well tremble when he a remarkable woman. sees good old Queen Cow marching in in advance of better schools, better salt codfish before buying it."

of her milking pail.

THE WHITE HOUSE QUEENS

stand and shake by the hand the rows those occasions on which she must sit at state dinners and say pleasant nothings;

to her by privileged friends as well; the annovances which her public station involves, and the self-asserted privileges of the press, all tend to make the position lic recognition, however, she has been seen little by Washington generally and has only been known personally to a cir-an uncomfortable one.

the White House.

nation.

most any color. WOMEN WHO HAVE REIGNED IN THE EXECUTIVE MANSION.

lace over shot silks of light colors. Their Laborious Duties—The Growth and Development of Social In-fluence in the Government.

The duties of the mistress of the White House are quite laborious, and it is probable that society feels as anxious season. Between the ages of fifteen and fortyhours of reception in which she must five a woman can grow aboutseven crops of nameless and unknown visitors; again, Almost all petticoats to wool dresses > sistency. White and colored mull pokes, with Valenciennes lace ruches, are pretty for girls' hats. White flannel suits should never be laundered; when soiled they should be sent to be dry cleansed. -Of course there are many pleasant fea-A black satin basque waist has a mustures and many which gratify personally, and it is hardly possible that any who know the details of its duties and and vellow lace sleeves. pleasures would reject it or seek to do so f it were offered. Yet there have been those among Presidents' wives who re-Some new silk stockings have stripes running up and down: those in black gretted that their duties took them within Arthur is the fourth President who has and white are most fashionable. entered the White House a widower. His sister, Mrs. McElroy, has been the acknowledged mistress of the White for kilted and flounced petticoats. House during his term, and is quite accomplished in a social way. Very retiring in her ways, and without ambition for pub cle extremely limited. The women of the White House, tracing back to the beginning, form an interesting chapter or series of chapters in the history of, not alone Washington society, but of the Under Garfield's administration the so-Many elegant black lace mantles cial features had scarcely developed. Under Hayes the White House was open to all society, thousands attending the receptions, and lunch-tables were gauze. spread at the evening entertainments for many hundreds. Under General Grant the White House was gay, but there was not that democrator scallops. ic freedom which marked the regime of Small circular capes are again revived

Mrs. Grant's successor as mistress of the White House. Another term back, Mrs. Johnson, wife of Andrew Johnson, was mistress of the White House. She was an invalid, and personally entertained little, receiving her visitors in her chair. Her daughter, Martha Patterson, wife of Senator Patterson, entertained in her stead, renovating the war-stained, tattered habiliments small allowance of $30,000 which Con-

Mrs. Lincoln, who preceded, was mis tress of the White House in a time of great turbulence and national tribulation, and there is small wonder that the recol lections of her time there are not agreeable ones to those who were there during that period. An ambitious woman with town when called there, deprived of the counsel of her husband by the constant riences of her time in the White House culminated with the assassin's shot, Preceding Mrs. Lincoln, Harriet Lane, the adopted daughter of James Buchanan, gave to Washington society one of the dent but a short time before her arrival have a separate place for the great toe, at the White House, and who, during her The next in order, tracing back, is > having, through her solicitation, asked of Congress and obtained an appropriation of $30,000 for a White House No sadder woman ever reigned mistress of the White House than the wife of President Taylor. She had accompanied her husband in all his war experience, caring for him in camp and counseling with him upon the field. During the presidential contest she prayed daily for Clay's election. "It is a plot," she said, "to deprive me of the comforts of a which I had expected to enjoy home. duty, her daughter, Betty Bliss, being pushed to the front to bear the burden as mistress of the establishment. When the White House she was heart-broken, may call her own. Her jewel chest is and during the two remaining years of her life never mentioned the House unless necessity compelled. Mrs. Polk, who preceded Mrs. Taylor, still lives in the city of Nashville. She position of private secretary to the Presishe had seen. dential mansion.

Mrs. Harrison never occupied the up in large bags and then dispatched, White House as its mistress, her health unmarked, to the buyer. having prevented her from coming here with her husband, whose death followed a month later, before her arrival. Van Buren was a widower when he entered the White House; his daughter how much exactly. One log may give was its mistress. Jackson was also a widower when he entered the White House, having become | I clear about eight or nine dollars a day so but a few months previous, and under out of it-perhaps more. I never figured the most painful circumstances. His it up. trustful woman, married in her early you put in too much the paper gets years injudiciously and had been di-During his campaign the tongues of par- If you mix the flour with linseed gum tisan malice did not spare even Mrs. her, keeping from her the newspapers and other animals. I guess it's good, but which contained these attacks. After his election, however, sitting in her room those fellows give it to some other felin a hotel at Nashville, whither she had gone to prepare for her journey to Washington, she overheard in an adjoining room the tongues of gossipers detailing the slanders which the press had published regarding herself. The agitation The agitation brought upon her by this caused an attack of heart disease, and in a few hours she was a cornse. Mrs. John Quincy Adams, the wife of Jackson's predecessor, gave to Washington a more brilliant social reign than it had ever known, provoking Mr. John Agg, the first short-hand reporter ever in Washington, to the production of hifamous poem, a couplet of which runs

Her reign was quite in contrast with that of her predecessor, Mrs. Monroe, who was the daughter of a British officourage any other living creature; and | cer, and little given to social enjoyments. | and maple; and now the wood-flour mill A German paper tells this story: Once when visiting a small town in one of the should be crowned with a queen. She genius ever occupying the White House. Her reign there was, of course, brilliant. Jefferson, who preceded Madison, was a is at fault this is altogether too long a period for fasting. That such an interval without food is permitted explains many a restless night, and much of the many a restless night.

> don't stop to enthuse over them, but con- She dried her clothes in the great east verts them into good, solid, hard cash. room on wash day, but was, for all that, his direction. She comes marching along A cookery book says, "always smell a We almorals, better farms, better men and ways do, and after buying it, too-for beggar on a crowded city crossing, notwomen. The dead old cotton fields will three or four days after. The fact is, burst forth into grass at her touch, and contentment and happiness will leap out buying it at all if you get within ten rods

NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN.

Red hose are worn with dresses of al Married ladies frequently wear black Dresses are much less draped this season than they have been for many seasons

French modistes are using more materials of red and yellow than of any other Alligators' teeth set as pins are used for holding the corsage bouquet this herself to assume those duties, writes a Washington correspondent. The long are lined with canvass to give them con-

In front of black and vellow striped satin Spencer waists with shired vokes make a pretty change from those win plaits. and are rather more dressy.

Bows of rosette shape now figure on many of the French models as decoration General Wallace says that although he lived in Turkey three years he never spoke to a Turkish woman during that

Tunics with full blouse bodices or red Adrianople are worn with two toned gray or beige skirts of glace ba-The newest bonnet is called the "Se quin," and in shape is not unlike the Princess," which was worn for several have either the sleeves alone or called "Blizzard." It is probably so the bodice only lined with red silk called because so many men have been ruined by it. - Boston Post. Capes are shown in ladies' cloth of rarious colors and are finished with a hog or none." "Please don't say 'whole ruffle of the same pinked in fine points hog'," remonstrated the high school girl, but meet with little popularity, as they are ugly, notwithstanding their unpre-Patent leather low-cut shoes are worn with bright-colored silk stockings, but they have not a very lady-like air for out-

Thee." It is probably Jay Gould's ode to the mighty dollar. — Philadelphia of-door wear. Scarlet crepe sun bonnets trimmed with green corn or with bearded wheat Chronicle. of the mansion with rare taste upon the and green velvet frogs are worn at French watering places.

A simple tucked petticoat, long overskirt and Norfolk jacket and trimming of white silk bindings of galoon, is the prettiest style for making white flannel mits. Wraps are lined with surah or louisine silks in blue and white and brown and Fine landscape, I suppose? Fogg-No. white, and these often form the trimming there's no landscape to speak of, but of the dress with which the wraps are there's two fire 'scapes."-Boston Tranworn. Miss Mary F. Seymour has been recenty appointed commissioner of deeds for New Jersey by Governor Abbett. She is the first woman who ever took testimony in a New Jersey court. Red Morocco shoes are quite fa hionable, but this bizarre foot covering is never becoming to the foot. Red bows and Rhinestone buckles are added to make them more conspicuous.

Bonnets made of figured light foulards man cordially hate himself it is when he most brilliant social administrations it and lace are worn by little girls. They takes a walk about a mile to the posthave soft crowns and frills of lace in double rows around the front, and are office to find that he has left his keys at home, and then on going back after the only thing in it is a card notifying front, wherein decoration of flowers and him that his box rent, is due. - Boxto ribbon may be added to fill in the space, Post. is hailed with delight by those whose youthful bloom finds in them a becoming who was rather careless in expressing setting. herself, approaches Mr. McPeal, and

The wedding gown of Miss Tooker, says: "Supper is ready. Why don't you take a lady to eat?" "Be—be—because," lately married at Newport, and worth five million dollars in her own right, was replies the stuttering Mr. McPeal. a fine white satin, covered with point and Mechlin laces and pearl embroidery, worn with a point lace veil and diamonds. Bishop Clark performed the ceremony. At the famous ball given by Minister Morton in Paris, Mrs. Mackey is said to Bee it ever so humble, there's no place like have outshone all French or American millionaires by the display that she made of diamonds and precious stones. She There's no place like Comb!
Oh, he stung me! The brute! My probosci sapphires which attracted so much attention at the Paris exhibition in 1878. It is valued at $300,000, and comprises dia-Go back to your ugly-thatched beelive once dem, bracelets, ring, earrings and neck-The wasps wax impatient, the hornets ar lace. The pendant to the latter is comnow that the war is ended." She came posed of one enormous sapphire of the They want you; I don't! When you go, I'll fifth degree, that is to say, of the completion of forty-five degrees from the duty her daughter. Betty Bliss, being monds. But then Mr. Mackey's income averages about $75,000 per month, and this is only one among many parures and her husband died within the walls of sets of precious stones that Mrs. Mackey valued at $1,000,000.

sit with your back to a draught you sit with your face to your coffin. Flour Made of Wood In a letter from the Catskill mounof lemonade, taken as hot as possible is the only woman who has ever held the tains to the New York Sun the writer every hour or half hour, as not only an says: The chief industry up here is pro- easy and agreeable but a most efficient dent, she having filled that position ducing wood flour, a kind of cousin to cure for diarrhea. through choice during her husband's wood pulp. It was first manufactured term. She was a woman of great ability, in the Catskills about nine years ago, method almost instant relief of earache quite as familiar with the affairs of State and now over twenty mills are in full is afforded: Put five drops of chloro as her husband, and even more so as to details. "Sarah knows where it is," ple. Any soft-wood tree—poplar is the was President Polk's customary remark favorite—is felled and drawn to the mill. when any document or book was wanted. The bark and boughs are removed, and She did not ever neglect her social duties, the trunk put in a machine which is and was spoken of by an English lady as | nothing but a lead pencil sharpener on a | recommended to send a flax seed in after not being surpassed in beauty, style or large scale, with four or more knives indignity by any of three queens whom stead of onc. On starting the machine forms with the lachrymal secretion, enthe pencil sharpener revolves with great velopes the irritating body, which is car-Under Tyler the White House had two swiftness, and in a few minutes converts ried out thus encapsuled. Travelers on mistresses. His first wife died there the log into a hundred miles of fine, clean railway trains who are peculiarly liable during the early part of his administra- shavings. These are ground and bolted New York, afterward became known as is a soft, fine, yellowish-white flour, the bride of the White House, being | similar in appearance to very well ground married to President Tyler in the presi- corn meal. It possesses a slight woody smell, and is almost tasteless. It is put

I tried to find out who purchased the article, but with no success. The wood miller was not very communicative. "It five bags, and it may give ten. It sells well-that is, pretty tolerable. I reckon things. It's used to stiffen paper, but if afterward marrying Jackson, lar flour, and that's why they put it in and 'biled' oil you get a kind of oilcloth Some folks mix it with meal to give to pigs I never give it to my hogs, and even low's critters and not their own. Yes, I mixed it with meal for army and Indian supplies, but I don't take much stock in the story, because they could buy sour meal as cheap as poplar flour. wouldn't pay to mill pine or cedar or hemlock; they are worth too much as timber. But any wood that isn't used that way can be milled into flour. I use poplar almost altogether, but when I run short of logs I grind up buttonball, birch, elm, or willow." The farmers dislike the new industry. as it promises to play havor with the forests, which are both an attraction to in favor of their own overwhelmingly the boarder and a protection to agriculture. The tanneries years ago used up nearly all the oak and hemlock; the lum bermen have stripped the country practically of nine cedar and walnut; the chair factories are consuming the hickory

The Two Nymphs.

Two nymphs named Luck and III-luck. who lived in a wood, wished to know no means devoid of courage, and have which of them was more beautiful than shown on occasions that they can fight the other. They went to a fox in the bravely and with determination. wood and asked him for his opinion. He the Chinese have no liking for the pro-turned to them and said: "I can give no fession of arms. They despise it, and opinion unless you walk to and fro for a regard their soldiers as inferior beings, while. So they did. Quoth the fox to and as being fit only to be food for pow-Luck, "Madam, you are indeed charm- | der. It is obvious, therefore, that a coming when you come in." Quoth he to plete change must come over the national Ill-luck, 'Madam, your gracefulness is mind on this subject before the necessary mply inimitable when you go out." A Story of London Life.

The circumstances were very pathetic. The ruined gentleman continued to maintain the wife of his affections in a life of whole corporate life of the empire; the ease by presenting himself as a one-legged | public service must be chastened and withstanding the conviction that it would ministered; and the egregious folly of one day bring him to grief. He was despising everything which is not Chinese biness will leap out buying it at all if you get within ten rods.

We take off our of where it is. The odor of a salted brougham. She had never suspected cere be able to place an army in the field what his business was till she saw the which will face the foe with the strength hats to Queen Cow. May her shadows codfish is like the darkness that once never grow less.—Southern Live Stock settled on Egypt; it is something that Journal. Settled on Egypt; it is something that victim of the accident.—Notes and and steadiness of trained soldiers.—Blackwood's Magazine.

NATURA NATURANS.

Where'er my eyes may turn or senses range, Hypocrites hide their defects with so Inspiring nature points to life beyond; much care that their hearts are poisoned And when the soul, with rays of light that din The stars, dispels the haze that floats and falls Every day is a little life, and our Athwart the rising dream of future life. whole life is but a day repeated. There-As tranquil seas endow the tranquil air. fore, live every day as if it would be the Lo, from the depths of premonitions wise Peace her glory sheds upon the heart that

'Tis life's fulfillment that all things

Again to live. Nature can ne'er destroy

Naught perisheth, and all that's dust is life.

Still with care shall we await the certain

HUMOR OF THE DAY.

"Out on the fly!" is now the cry of the infuriated bald-headed citizen. -Lowell

Talk about babies; but then, we never indulge in small talk.—Chicago

A man will put his best foot forward

The rising of the tied-Turning out to Stooping over to pick up a fair lady's

Since pantaloons have been selling for ten cents a pair Detroiters have begun to

"Ah, how do you vote this year,

Smith?" "Same as I did last-at the polls." And they passed on. -Boston

"That was a clothes shave," said the

In Cincinnati there is a soda fountain

"No," said Amy, "I'll have the whole

'Yours till death."-Somerville Jour

A bit of poetry floating around in the

"There! that's the summer hotel for me," said Bigsby, pointing at an adver-tisement in his paper. "None of your temperance houses. They advertise,

Hops every night."-Burlington Free

Brown-An. Fogg! Quite a stranger

How do you like your new residence

THE BITTEREST BITE.

The bite of a "skeeter" is painful, The bite of a bug will haunt; The bite of a sandwich is baneful,

At a railroad restaurant; The bite of a serpent is sadd'ning, And nothing is worse than this; The bite of a bull-dog is madd'ning,

While the bite of a girl is bliss; But a bite more painful than kerosene

Is the bitter bite of an apple green.

-New York Journal.

the hox that

If there is anything that will make

At a fashionable ball, Miss Gattlefry, ner-ner-ner -never e-e-eat la-laladies." Smart man, but he ought to Oh, frolicsome insect, though far you may

Where honey lies sparkling in beautiful wells

Comb, Comb! Sweet Comb!

Comb, Comb! Sweet Comb! There's no place like Comb!

HEALTH HINTS.

A Spanish proverb reads: "When you

Doctor Vigouroux recommend a glass

It is said that by the following simple

To remove a cinder from the eve it is never be forgotten.

The Chinese Army.

turing a gunboat, they determined the present time. They have the best weapons, ships, and armaments pro-curable, but they do not know how to use them. The mandarins labor under the delusion that European soldiers and sailors are, man for man, no better than their own defenders; and they believe that the possession of equally good arms would, in any future war, turn the scale large battalions. They entirely ignore the fact that the success of the weapon depends on the power and the will of the soldier to turn it to the best account. Only lately we have seen

Egyptian soldiers armed with rifles slaughtered like sheep by savages carrying only soldiers would ever present so abject a not men likely "to snatch bright honor from the pale-faced moon," they are by radical reforms in the army can be thoroughly carried out, But this is not the only direction in which there must be a complete change of front. The iron of reform must enter deeply into the purified; the laws must be justly ad-

The glutinous substance which it be killed .- Arkansaw Traceler.

be glad!

them to find on oner

papers is headed: "Thee, Thee, Only

'say 'undivided porcine."-Derrick.

look quite dressy .- Courier-Journal.

handkerchief loses its joy when it sacribuild the fire and cook the breakfast.-

if he has a sore toe on the other foot .-

-Hugh Farrar McDermott.

Like Fear mantled by her good behavior.

not die:

change,

Citizen.

Picamme.

Waterloo Observer.

bulldog.—Life.

fices a suspender button.

Sun.

fade.

savs: If life were not good for man, man would not ment. If death were not good for man, man would

Any man may do a casual act of good nature, but a continuation of hem shows it is a part of one's tempera-One of the best rules in conversation left unsaid.

WISE WORDS.

Hard words are like hallstones in summer, beating down and destroying what they would nourish were they melted into drops. The net of our life is of a mingled yarn, good and ill together; our virtues yould be proud, if our faults whipped hem not: and our crimes would despain f they were not cherished by our virtues. Blessed are they to whom people go when they are in distress! Blessed are they around whom little children flock. Blessed are they upon whom grateful eyes look, saying, "Come again! I'm better for your coming." It is one thing to indulge in playfu rest, and another to be devoted to the pursuit of pleasure; and gayety of heart during the reaction after hard labor, and quickened by satisfaction in the accomplished duty or perfected result, is altogether compatible with-nay, even in some sort arises naturally out a deep internal seriousness of disposi-

To passion, to joy, to anguish an end must come; but mere gentle living, determined by a framework of gentle rules and habits-why should that ever be ended ? When a soul has got to this retirement, and is content in it, it becomes very hard to die; hard to accept the neburglar as he tumbled over the fence. cessity of dying, and to accustom one's leaving a part of his pantaloons with the self to the idea, and still harder to consent to carry it out.

Henry Clay's Fortune.

Ben: Perley Poore says in his reminis-cences: "Henry Clay was pronounced insolvent by his Kentucky opponents in 1842, and they paraded some mortgages on his property as evidences of his inabil-Young physician—No, it is not in good taste for a young physician when writing to a patient to sign himself, ity to pay his debts. In a letter to a friend, denying this calumny, Mr. Clay said: 'I am not free, absolutely, from debt. I am not rich. I never coveted riches. But my estate would, even now, be estimated at not much less than $100,-000. Whatever it may be worth, it is a gratification to me to know that it is the product of my own honest labor, no part of it being hereditary except one slave, who would oblige me very much if he would accept his freedom. It is sufficient, after paying all my debts, to leave my family above want if I should be separated from them. It is a matter also of consolation to me to know this wanton exposure of my private affairs can do me no pecuniary prejudice. My few credi-tors will not allow their confidence in me to be shaken by it. It has, indeed, led to one incident, which was at the same time a source of pleasure and of pain. A friend lately called on me, at the instance of other friends, and informed me that they were apprehensive that my private affairs were embarassed, and that I allowed these embarrassments to prev upon my mind. He came, therefore, with their authority, to tell me that they would contribute any sum that I might want to relieve me. The emotions which such a proposition excited can be conceived by norable men. I felt most happy to be able to undeceive them, and to decline

> Redwood forests in California are yearly diminishing, as this wood is increas-The superstructure of most dwellings in San Francisco is of redwood, and the 'Friscans cherish the belief that it does not burn as readily as other light material. The Navajos, a New Mexican tribe or their benevolent proposition."

and horses, numbering respectively 7,000, 1,000,000 and 5,000 head. Their reservation is large and isolated, and the climate is favorable to the increase of their herds and flocks. very expensive matter. A real, live, Whitehead torpedo costs in England

At a recent scientific meeting in London it was stated that arsenic, in quantities large enough to poison beasts, has been known to find its way through the ground into wells fifty feet distant.

Loss of Flesh and Strength, with poor appetite, and perhaps slight cough in morning, or on first lying down at night should be looked to in time. Persons afflicted hence the emaciation, or wasting of the flesh. It is a form of scrofulous disease, and fiesh. It is a form of scrottious disease, and is curable by the use of that greatest of all blood-cleansing, anti-billous and invigorating compounds, known as Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery."

A BAND of young turkeys routed an arm; Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ures all female and kidney compla

Will buy a TREATISE ON THE HORSE AND HIS

"Rough on Toothache."
Instant relief for neuralgia, toothache, faceache. Ask for "Rough on Toothache "15&25c. Keep in the Fashion. The Diamond Dyes always do more than they claim to do. Color over that old dress. It will look like new. They are warranted. 10c. at druggists. Wells Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. Thousands, yes, millions, of bottles of Carboline have been sold, and the sale still goes on. If there were no merit in this great natural hair renewer do you suppose that the people would still buy, as they continue to do. Life Preserver.

If you are losing your grip on life, try "Wells' Health Renewer." Goes direct to weak spots.

Pretty Women.

Ladies who would retain freshness and vivacity. Try "Wells' Health Renewer."

An international anti-vivisection congress will be held in Paris next year. The Vacation Season

If a cough disturbs your sleep, one dose of Piso's Cure will give you a night's rest.

recreation. But the first essential to enjoyment is good health, and if you suffer from biliousness, dra pepsia, scrofula, salt rheum, or diseases of the kid-neys and liver, nothing will restore you to health so quickly and effectively as Hood's Sarsaparills. Then vacation. "During the summer months I have been somewhat debilitated or run down. I have taken Hood's Sarsa-parilla, which gave me new vigor and restored me to my wonted health and strongth. WILLIAM H. CLOUGH, Tilton, N. H." "I derived so much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla that I think it has no equal." Mrs. M. A. KNIGHTS Charlestown, Mass.

Mrs.W.O. Ashton, Lynn, Mass., says she was a great offerer from sick headache; she received gre Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by all Druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only U. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 134 Leonard St., N. Y. City. 100 Doses One Dollar

Insurance is a good thing whether applied to life or property. No less a blessing is anything that insures good health. Kidney-Work does this. It is nature's great remedy. It is a mild but efficient cathartic, and acting at the same time on the liver, kidneys and bowles, it relieves all these organs and enables them to perform their duties perfectly. It has wonderful power. See advt.

Cautien to Dairymen.

Ask for Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color, and take no other. Bowars of all imitations, and of all other oil colors, for every other one is liable to become rancid and spoil the butter into which it is put. If you cannot get it write to us at Burlington, Va., to know where and how to get it without expense. Thousands of tests have been is never to say a thing which any of the company can reasonably wish we had made, and they always prove it the best. Hay-Fever. After trying in vain for eleven years to cure my Hay-Fever, I purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, which entirely relieved me.—R. W. Harris, letter-carrier, Newark, N. J. Price. 50 cents.

For twenty years I was a sufferer during the summer months with Hay-Fever. I prothe summer months with Hay-Fever. I pro-cured a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm; was cured by its use.—Charlotte Parker, Waverly, N. Y.

A Great Problem.

-Take all the Kidney and Liver Take all the Blood purifiers, Take all the Rheumatic remedies
Take all the Dyspepsia and ind

—Take all the Ague, Fever, and billion -Take all the Brain and Nerve force Take all the Great health restorers.

In short, take all the best qualities of all these, and the —best —Qualities of all the best medicines in the world, and you will find that — Hop —Bitters have the best curative qualities and powers of all —concentrated ind powers of all —concentrated —In them, and that they will cure when any or all of these, singly or —combined —Fail. A thorough trial will give positive proof of this. Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my imbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been new in my grave. J. W. Morey, Buffalo, October 1, 1881.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.
"I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a rick day live and I want to say to all your sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor risit will cost. I know it."—A WOREING-

None genuine without a bunch of treen Hops on the white label. Shun all the vile, poisonous stuff with "Hop" or "Hops" in their name.

N Y N U-38 Kidney Complaint Among both Sexes an

Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., is often congratulated on the exceptional success of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy" in arresting and radically curing these most painting dangerous disorders. Proofs of this, like the lowing, are constantly brought to his attention, are published by him for the sake of thousand other sufferers whom he desires to reach and be fit. The letter, therefore, may be of vital impance to you or to some one whom you know. I from one of the best known and popular drugg in the fine and growing city from which he writtend doubtless where those may find Mr. Crawf at his place of business on the corner of Main Union Sta:

at his place of business on the corner of Main and Union Sta:

Springfield, Mass., March 22, 1984.

Dr. David Rennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

Dran Six—For ten years I had been sufficied with Kidney disease in its most acute form. What I suffered must be left to the imagination—for ne one can appreciate it except who have goes through it. I resorted to many physicians and to many different kinds of trea ment, and spent's great deal of money, only to find myself older and wree than ever. I may say that I used 35 bettles of a preparation widely advertised as a specific for this precise sort of troubles, and found it entirely useless—at least in my case.

Your "FAVORITE REMEDY"—I say it with a perfect recollection of all that was done for me be sides—is the only thing that did me the slighted good; and I am happy to admit that it gave me permanent relief. I have recommended "PAVORITE REMEDY to many people for Kidney diseases and they all agree with me in saying that DR.

TE HEM DY to many people for Kidney diseases and they all agree with me in saying that DR.

PREMEDY has not its equal in the wide work for this distressing and ofto 1 fatal compisint.

Use this letter as you deem best for the benefit of others. Yours, &c., Lyman Chawrond. Indians, are very rich red men. Theif wealth consists entirely of cattle, sheep about $1,800 and torpedo practice at $1,800 a shot is something almost too costly for even long-pursed nations like

GOOD NEWS TO LADIES!

BLAINE & CLEVELAND & HENDRICKS,
In 1 Vol. by T. W. Kroo'x In 1 Vol. by Hend. A. Barriz, Authorized, authentic, impartial, Commisted. the Boot and BEAUTIFULLY CONTRASTED COLORS On 40 plain cards 10c. Sen I for Samples. Age. Wanted, JOS. CUSTER, Jackson, Mich.

VIGOR For Mon. Quick, sure, safe. Book from Civiale Agency, 160 Fulton St., New York

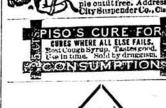

of the Horse, and the Diseases to which the noble animal is liable, that sickness may be recognized in its incipiency and relief promptly afforded. Our book should be in the hands of every Horse owner, as the knowledge it contains may be worth hundreds of dollars at any moment. If you want to know all about your Horse, how to Tell his Age, how to Shoe him, etc., send 25c. in stamps, and receive the book, post-paid, from

NEW YORK HORSE BOOK COMPANY.

At least twenty food-reform societies are now in a flourishing condition in England. How to Save Money, and we might also say—time and pain as well, in our advice to good housekeepers and ladies generally. The great necessity exist-ing always to have a perfectly safe remedy convenient for the relief and prompt cure of the ailments peculiar to women—functional irregularity constant pains and all the symption"—woman's best friend. It will Paris had 2,593 fires within its limits las cially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the vigor of the brain and nervous system.

AGENTS WANTED for the LIVES of

to receive cinders into the eye, should carry a small supply of flax seed with irregularity, constant pains, and all the symptoms attendant upon uterine disorders—induces us to recommend strongly and unqualifiedly Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription", woman's best friend. It will constant the symptomic properties of the symptomic p them against these accidents. As heartburn is usually a symptom some form of dyspepsia, to prevent it thoroughly, it will be necessary to cure the disease. But great temporary relief may generally be obtained from the use of anti-acids, such as magnesia, lime Many imitators, but no equal, as Dr. Sage's water, etc. The great thing is to prevent it, by the use of a proper diet. Dispose of pastry as you would if you knew it to be half arsenic. Let others cat all THE oldest American firm manufacturing gunpowder was established ninety years ago the sweet things. Take a large propor "Rough on Itch." rougn on Itch" cures humors, eruptions, ring-worm, tetter, salt rheum, chilblains. tion of animal food, though not salt or smoked meats. Sait and water, or vinegar and salt, over the stomach and bowels, with plenty of friction, should DISEASES Book of 100 pages, valuable to every owner of horses. Postage stamps taken. Sent postpaid. New York Horse Book Co., 134 Leonard Street. New York city. When, in the engagement at the Peiho Scovill's Sarsaparil'a and Stillingia, o Blood and Liver Syrup, will restore perfec-health to the physic lorganization. It indeed, a strengthening syrup, pleasant take, and has often proven itself to be the in 1860 the Chinese succeeded in capturn their prize to account. Having, with this intention, lit the fires, and probest blood purifier ever discover d effect-ually curing scrofula, syphilitic discretes, weakness of the kidneys, crysipe as, mataria, all nervous disorders a d debility, bilious complaints, and all diseases indicating an impure condition of the blood, liver, kidneys, storage, etc. It corrects indirection. espeduced the amount of smoke from the funnel which they had been accustomed to see, they expected the vessel to move. and were much astonished to find that it remained motionless. We fear that this is but an illustration of the condition of stomach, etc. It corrects indigestion, espe the bulk of the land and sea forces at