

Edgefield Advertiser.Johnston Will Participate in the Parades.

The people of Johnston are public spirited to a highly commendable degree. Notwithstanding the distance of eight miles, our sister town will be represented in the parades at the county fair. It can be safely stated in advance that whatever Johnston contributes to the parades will be highly creditable and will add greatly to the beauty of the pageant. Those Johnston ladies not only know how to do things but are never satisfied unless everything is done in the best possible manner. Their handiwork always bears the marks of a high order of talent.

Mr. Bailey's Bible Class.

Twice each month Rev. E. C. Bailey teaches a Bible class at the Presbyterian church. The second meeting of the class was held Sunday afternoon and the attendance steadily increases. Mr. Bailey has a way of making theological subjects exceedingly interesting that are ordinarily very dry. This class affords the laymen and laywomen an opportunity to learn much concerning the teachings of the Bible that they otherwise would probably never know. Tell your friends about the class and assist in its growth and usefulness. The time for holding the next meeting will be duly announced.

Death of Mr. M. W. Posey.

Early Saturday morning last, Mr. M. W. Posey died at his home near Philippi church where he had resided for nearly three-score years. He was in his 86th year and was remarkably active for one of such an advanced age. Mr. Posey was a sterling citizen, an active member of Philippi church for many years. He served for four years during the Civil war and had never allowed his interest in the Lost Cause to wane. His body was laid to rest Sunday morning at Philippi in a casket covered with Confederate gray. He is survived by four daughters, Miss Elizabeth Posey, Miss Artelia Posey, Mrs. Ella Yonce and Miss Pauline Derrick.

The First Lyceum Attraction.

The lyceum season in Edgefield will open with the presentation of the first number of the course next Wednesday evening. The programme will consist largely of instrumental and vocal music, but readings and other attractive features will be introduced so as to give spice and variety to the entertainment. These entertainers, each of whom is a real artist in his or her respective field, delight audiences in the large cities and have added to the prestige of the Alkalest bureau, under whose management they are making the season of 1913-14. The people of Edgefield who appreciate and enjoy good music should not fail to hear musicians of the Apollo Concert Company Wednesday evening.

Death of Mrs. D. E. Lanham.

During the past twelve months the Ropers community has been sorely stricken. Several homes have been visited by the death angel. The last to have a dark shadow cast across its threshold was that of Mr. D. E. Lanham. His beloved wife breathed her last Saturday, October 18, and her form was tenderly laid to rest on the following day at Republican church, the funeral being conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. T. Littlejohn. Mrs. Lanham had been in feeble health for a long while but she bore up bravely under the affliction.

This sorrow weighs heavily upon her loved ones, but the home over which this good woman held queenly sway for so many years was a Christian home and the members of the family circle who are left are resigned to His will and have the assurance that she has received the reward prepared for those who are faithful during their earthly probation. While the slender form of Mrs. Lanham will be seen no more as when she moved in and out of the home and community, yet she will live on and on in the lives of her seven exemplary children who are an honor to their parents. She was not only a blessing to her home and community but to her church also. Her influence was always inspiring, ennobling, uplifting. Just why so devoted a wife and mother, so active and unselfish a Christian worker should be taken before her life reached its fullest fruition the finite mind can not understand. But we shall know at that day.

Mrs. Lanham is survived by her husband, four daughters, Misses Emmie, Lila, Minnie and Grace Lanham, and three sons, Joseph, Benjie and Fred Lanham.

The Advertiser Popular With the People.

Young ladies should not hesitate to enter The Advertiser's subscription contest. The paper was never more popular with the people than it is now, and for that reason it will be comparatively an easy matter to collect for it or solicit new subscriptions. The people feel that The Advertiser is giving them their money's worth as a weekly paper. Enter the contest and you will soon see how cordially the people will receive you in your efforts to secure votes.

Returned From their Wedding Journey.

Our young friends, Mr. Roper Day and Miss Addie Stevens, were married and were speeding away on their wedding journey before the writer knew anything of the happy event. However in this issue we publish a very interesting account of their marriage which was taken from the Augusta Herald. The writer has an affectionate and abiding interest in the welfare of these two widely beloved young people and we most heartily join the host of friends in extending sincerest congratulations to young Mr. and Mrs. Day who have just returned from their wedding journey which included Washington, New York and other northern points.

The girlish bride possesses true womanly charms that will shine more and more brightly as the years pass, making of their home an abiding place for true joy and happiness. The groom towers far above the average of the young men of this day and generation. Sober, industrious, ambitious, endowed with splendid native ability. Mr. Day is a sterling citizen of whom not only Trenton but the county is very proud. Would that every community had more young men of the Roper Day type.

Mr. and Mrs. Day are now at home to their friends at their elegant country home near Trenton.

Great Parade in Preparation.

The ladies of Edgefield who are engineering the parade for the fair this year have brought in most encouraging reports of the wonderful successes they are meeting with. In some cases they have found obstacles, but they do not know how to be defeated, in even so great an undertaking as this, and they predict that the parade this year will be the most beautiful and striking ever held in Edgefield and that is saying a great deal.

There will be two days in which the parades will be a special feature of the fair. On Thursday there will be the automobile exhibit, of which Mrs. A. E. Padgett is chairman. Mrs. Padgett and her committee have had great success in securing the automobiles from Edgefield, Johnston, Trenton and other places, and they are assured of at least a dozen handsomely decorated cars. Prizes are offered separately for out-of-town cars that they may not be at a disadvantage in entering. Mrs. Padgett gave cheering reports from the first and will doubtless be greatly applauded for her success in this undertaking.

The rig committee with Mrs. Lovick Mims as chairman has been doing some splendid work and a number of beautiful rigs have been promised. The rig parade is usually one of the most attractive features of the fair, and Mrs. Mims and her committee have realized this and are putting forth great effort to make it very beautiful. Be ready to assist them and make it easy for these public spirited ladies by consenting to their request.

Mrs. W. P. Calhoun and her committee who have in charge the child's rig, have put forth great effort and manifested exceeding energy in their undertaking, and while this is probably the most difficult class to enlist on account of the small number of such vehicles, Mrs. Calhoun has succeeded in securing a proportionate number of child's rigs.

The float committee with Mrs. J. L. Mims as chairman has met with decided success and promise a number of beautiful floats. Some of these are already in process of construction and bid fair to be exceedingly striking.

The merchants of Edgefield will not allow the trades display to be any less successful than usual. Mrs. J. D. Holstein is chairman of this committee which has already begun work and a number of promises secured. Mrs. Holstein succeeds in whatever she undertakes and will therefore furnish a full quota of trades displays for the parade.

And the school wagons! With Mrs. Walton Fuller as chairman of this most important committee, it is anticipated that the school demonstrations which were magnificent last year will be a parade of themselves. This feature of the parade is a splendid one, and a great opportunity for inculcating public spirit and advertising the enterprise of the patrons and teachers of our schools.

Paint Or Not.

Is a horse worth more or less after feed?

Hay and oats are high to-day; shall I wait to-day and feed him tomorrow?

That's how men do about painting their houses and barns and fences. Paint has been high for several years; and so they have waited. Paint is high yet; they are still waiting; thousands of 'em are waiting for paint to fall.

Their poverty drops a trifle a year and the next job of paint creeps up creeps up creeps up; it'll take more paint by a gallon a year; they don't save a cent, and the property goes on suffering.

Women Who Get Dizzy

Every woman who is troubled with fainting and dizzy spells, backache, headache, weakness, debility, constipation or kidney troubles should use Electric Bitters. They give relief when nothing else will improve the health, adding strength and vigor from the first dose. Mrs. Laura Gaines, of Avoca, La., says: "Four doctors had given me up and my children and all my friends were looking for me to die, when my son insisted that I use Electric Bitters. I did so, and they have done me a world of good." Just try them. 50c. and $1.00 at all druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co. Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicine.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's cough remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's cough remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.
