Hold their annual convention in this city beginning to-day, (Tuesday.) bout forty delegates are present. The them. order is comparatively young, but has spread rapidly, and now extends all over the country. The organization is a secret one, the leading feature being the insurance of the lives of its members. Upon the death of a member his family receive $2,000, made up by 43 sessments from the various lodges. It has also social features that render membership very pleasant. The convention will be held in Masonic Hall. We hope the delegates will enjoy their short stay in Newberry.

The following facts in connection with the Order have been kindly furnished us by President Holland, of Newberry College, who is Grand Reporter. The Enights of Honor was established in Louisville, Ky., June, 1873; the Supreme Lodge was organized January. 1874; the first South Carolina Lodge was established at Walhalla, May, 1876; the Grand Lodge of South Carolina was instituted at Greenville, April 20, 1877. with Thos.
