

PICKENS SENTINEL.

LOCAL NEWS

-Cotton 7 @ 74.
-The usual bill to repeal the lien law was up last week, but met the usual fate--death.

-Married, December 7th, by Rev. M. L. Jones, Robert Jagwell and Miss Mattie Lawson.

-Married, December 6th, Will Hill and Mary Edens, colored, near Pampkintown, Rev. M. L. Jones officiating.

-The council is having the street which has been discarded for several years, back of W. T. Meares, put in fine condition.

-One obstinate citizen contributed $10 to the city treasury for disorderly conduct, residing an officer and for being drunk last week.

-Griffin, Holder & Bros. will challenge the State on the largest yoke of steers. They have a yoke that weighs 2,800 pounds and are not fat.

-A bill fixes the liquor at $3,000, instead of $1,000 that for reform in...

-The Second Diocesan Association will meet at the church Saturday before the fifth Sunday in this month.

-The County Commissioners will meet on the 18th of this month and pay out all the money they can. If the county owes you anything be on hand ready to receive it.

-Mrs. T. D. Harris left last Saturday for Greenville county to attend the marriage of her brother, J. D. Harris to Miss Lizzie William, which took place last Monday.

-Lieut. F. G. Mauldin went to New York this week to stand a competitor military examination. He will probably be here a few days, on his return to San Antonio, Texas.

-There was almost a serious fire at H. Wicks & Edson's gin at Pampkintown last Sunday. Fire was discovered in four boxes of cotton Sunday morning in time to avert a serious conflagration.

-Dr. J. R. Riley and family take this means of extending thanks to the good people of Pickens who remembered them on Thanksgiving Day last with contributions much appreciated by them.

-Go to Lewis & Son's for your oranges, candy, raisins, coconuts, citron, currants, prunes, etc. They are offering special bargains in every line to save cost of moving on January 1st. Don't fail to give them a call.

-Santa Claus is getting ready for his annual visit to the homes of our readers. He is just as rich and jolly as he was last Christmas, despite the hard times. He has some of his choicest gifts advertised in our columns. If you want to avoid the rush, order early. They will keep.

-The editor spent a day and night last week in Spartanburg county, at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Williams. Mr. Williams is of this county, but moved to Spartanburg about two years ago. He is well situated and well pleased with his new home. He has a church and school in two or three hundred yards of his house and is in three miles of town.

-The following were elected by the legislature last week as trustees for Clemson College: J. S. Hardin, H. M. Stackhouse, J. E. Tibbitt, D. T. Redfern, W. H. Mauldin and John R. Jeffries. Mauldin and Jeffries are new men, desiring James L. Orr and Allen Johnston, who received only twenty-seven votes each, and were the only two antis on the board and the two most active and efficient trustees.

-Many of our readers will regret to read the following, which we clip from the Greenville News last Friday: "There was a knock at seven in every heart in Greenville yesterday morning when it was known that Mrs. Annie Wells, wife of Capt. G. G. Wells, was dead. For five months she had been sick, at times improving and at times relapsing, but her patience and courage were so strong that those nearest her hardly realized that she was losing ground, and it was only in the past two or three weeks that they were forced to believe that a noble wife and mother would soon be at rest from pain and suffering."

-The Eastley correspondent of the Greenville News, under date of the 7th inst., says: "Last night the old gin house of Columbus Ellison, four miles from Eastley, was burned with a lot of peas, cotton seed, shucks, etc. During the burning, two negroes entered the house of Hugh Ellison, father of Columbus Ellison, and with drawn pistol presented at Mrs. Ellison, demanding what money they had, and the robbers got $7. The suspicion is that the robbers knew of Mr. Ellison having a lot of money to pay for a tract of land, and fortunately he had just paid out $1,500. The gin house was no doubt set on fire with a view of robbing Mr. Ellison."

-The first dispensary case in this county was tried before Judge Charles S. Dacus last Wednesday, the parties indicted being Capt. Elias Day, Elias Ellison and West Bowen, colored. They were charged with selling liquor without the dispensary stamp on it and without the authority of the Governor. One of the Governor's constables has been around Eastley for some time and with the aid of some local constable worked up what they thought to be prima facie cases, but on the trial there was not a spark of proof against Mr. Day.

-We might say, it is said the State would have a State's Attorney, and we would ask them that his examination clear it is the one who worked up the case, Tribble, and who attended the trial, became apprehensive of violence and returned to Eastley. No threats nor demonstrations were made by any one to lead a reasonable man to such a conclusion, and it is thought that a pricked conscience was the cause. It was a clear case of the wicked fleeing where no one pursued, for it is said every few yards he would look back and tell the driver to drive up. At Eastley he took the train to Greenville, where perhaps he received condolence, if not sympathy. The negro was bound over to court on the testimony of one witness, who swore that he gave Bowen 65 cents to get him a quart of liquor and that Bowen went off and got it for him--which is very funny. J. P. Carey represented the defendants.

-Conference Appointments. At the close of the night service of the Methodist Conference at Sumter last Sunday night Bishop Hargrove read the appointments of the preachers to their fields of labor for next year, and we give those for this district and those who are known to our people and who go to other fields: John O. Christmas Notes. Do not put off your Christmas shopping until the stores are crowded. There are so many pleasant possibilities will suggest themselves when it is too late for realities. While there is yet plenty of time to plan, do your work and your outlay will not be hurried and without forethought.

If you cannot get Love and Kindness in your gift and the bright hope that it will carry joy to the heart of the receiver--don't give. Gifts made because it is "expected of you" are of very little value. If you belong to the worthy poor, who by hard work and economy manage to live, or if you are in debt, don't make Christmas presents. Always keep within your means. If you have only one dollar you can spare, don't spend any more, and the gift should be appropriate to the recipient's circumstances.

It is the suitability and the motive which prompted that confers the most pleasure--it is not the expensive articles. Let your good sense discriminate between the needs of your rich and poor friends. A most valuable gift is one that is easy to one that needs it least. Don't send to some poor widow a costly vase, when the money it cost will do her so much more good. Do not send an opera cloak to your country friend. It takes more head work than money to purchase suitable Christmas gifts. Study the proper adaptation of your gift.

If you have no high-bred cars, or are a person of leisure, you can make pretty fancy articles, which will be a pleasure to you and they will carry with them much happiness; but if you are the overburdened housewife, the making of such articles will be an injustice to yourself that nothing can excuse. Books are cheap, and always safe to give them for a present. What will give greater pleasure to a student in mother than a good book or a magazine? Nothing affords greater opportunity for the exercise of common sense than Christmas giving, as the day that should be a joy has become to many a burden.

Remember. Our friends will please remember us in the distribution of their money. We do not intend to press anyone to a share, but to have money as well as anyone else to get through on. If you cannot pay all pay a part.

And if you have not the money we will take corn, fodder or wheat.
