On to Atlanta.
YORKVILLE, S. C., November 1, 1895.
COMRADES OF THE CONFEDERATE ARMY—For some weeks past I have been endeavoring to arrange with the railroads for a liberal round-trip rate to the Atlanta Exposition for our local camp of United Confederate Veterans of Yorkville. As a result, an exceedingly liberal rate was extended to us by the Seaboard Air Line; lower even than that extended to purely military organizations. I am glad to say that the same company has agreed to extend this low rate privilege to all Confederate veterans who may wish to avail themselves of this occasion: as also to their families.

The time selected has been arranged to include South Carolina Day at the Exposition. Trains will leave Catawba Junction and Chester on the G. C. & N. R. R. on Monday night, November 25th, and reach Atlanta early next morning. Passengers on this trip may return anytime during the week up to Saturday. Those who find it convenient, may take the C. & L. evening passenger train to Chester, while those along the line of the O. R. & C. may take afternoon train on that road to Catawba Junction. The rate arranged will cover fares on the C. & L. from Yorkville and will be announced in due time.

The General Passenger Agent of the S. A. L. wishes to know in advance the number of persons who may wish to avail themselves of this liberal rate. All persons who desire to go should send their names to me by November 23rd, so that the requisite number of coaches will be provided.

The rate from Yorkville, Rock Hill, Lancaster and Chester will not exceed $4.50 for the round trip.
This special trip is an exceptionally opportune time for us to have a great reunion on wheels and an opportunity to visit the greatest Exposition that was ever held in the Southern States.

JAS. F. HART.
Commander Micah Jenkins Camp,
Confederate Veterans.

THE TALKING TYPES.

What They Say.
The manufacturers of the Banner Oil Heater say that it will heat a room from 15 to 20 square feet perfectly in the most severe weather. The patent double drum gives twice the radiation of any oil heater made. This Heater does not use a glass chimney, the drum being constructed to take its place. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Will ship it to any address, freight paid, on the receipt of $5. No odor, no smoke.

What We Say.
We have used one of the Banner Heaters for a year, and can testify that it does all its manufacturers claim, and more. You can boil a kettle quickly, make tea or coffee, fry a beefsteak, or anything in that line. Cheaper than coal or wood for heating bath or bedrooms. Price $6.00.

Gentlemen of the Jury.

The gentlemen of the jury and others in attendance at the late term of court found frequent use for Anti-Ferment on account of the change of water and diet and the consequent derangement of the digestive organs and bowels. It cured all who took it, and bottle after bottle was carried away. One gentleman remarked that Anti-Ferment was the "greatest medicine he ever saw."
