THE FOOL AND HIS MONEY.

Some Schemes of Wildcat Promoters For Parting the Two.

The fact that one of the firms of pseudo-bankers infesting lower Broadway has been taking the fools' money for five years is an indication of its success.

Now half a dozen mushroom "banking" houses with elaborately furnished quarters in New York, and branch offices in all the larger towns of this country and Canada and even abroad, are using this ingenious scheme to sell spurious mining, oil and manufacturing stocks.

A writer in Success declares that the house most successful at the game has forty branch offices here and abroad, besides agents in many smaller towns. It brings out a new company every little while and sells the stock usually by the mail order and agency system.

Years of experience have given these parasite promoters an invaluable "sucker list"—little investors all over the country whose financial credulity has not been shaken by repeated losses. These "investors"—wage earners, country merchants, clergymen, teachers and other professional men—are reached through circulars and letters.

The first stocks sold by this house paid cash dividends for a while, and the "investors" who were doubling and tripling their savings bank incomes spread the glad tidings among their friends. The cash dividends were followed by scrip dividends—in some cases by no dividends at all. The stockholders who complained too loudly were offered in exchange for their unsatisfactory stocks other stocks in new companies brought out by the house.

A "trust fund" established for the protection of investors is made up, supposedly, of sound mining stocks, and when an investor gets tired of one spurious stock he can send it in and exchange it for something else. This, of course, is just as spurious, but it keeps the victim quiet for a while.

He is advised to hold the stock until the mine strikes the expected bonanza ore, when the stock will rapidly increase in value. In this manner the house manages to keep its dupes quiet for many months and to sell them more stock besides.

No Lawyers By and By.

Col. James Hamilton Lewis, corporation counsel of Chicago, politician, former congressman, wit and after-dinner speaker, says: "In eight hundred years—yes, before that period has elapsed—the lawyer will be without a profession."

"The law is in the midst of great changes," he said to a Chicago Post writer. "I believe that in 50 years the evolution will have progressed so far that we will have a tribunal something like those of ancient Greece, where any man whether he be lawyer or not can go and present his case."

"The lawyer, except as an advocate, is disappearing from the world. The necessity for him is waning. Men are learning to get together and settle their business matters or their troubles without him."

"There was a time when the law offered a man preferment, honors, social esteem, and everything to be desired. Not so today. The lawyer is looked upon as a parasite, feeding on the body politic. On every hand we see lawyers turning away from the practice of their profession and getting into channels of life offering them better returns for their abilities."

"I say without hesitation that the lawyer is the lowest-paid worker in any class of endeavor to be cited, considering what he puts into his work. Take the corporation lawyer getting perhaps $2,500 or $3,000 a year. He makes it possible for his employers to accumulate millions. Take the lawyer who defends the corporation damage suit. What does he get for the lifeblood he puts into his fight?"

"Take the criminal lawyer. He gives his very flesh to the cause. He saves life and liberty, and in return what does he get but a paltry sum?"

"I repeat that the world is learning to get along without lawyers. You ask me if it is not true that the colleges are turning out more lawyers today than ever before and that the number of lawyers in proportion to the population is increasing. I am not prepared to say that such is the fact. My opinion has been deserted by the law school graduates who are turning out lawyers to starve."

"We do not have to go far back to see what an evolution already has taken place in the legal calling. Now it is not learning that takes a man to the front. It is not depth of wisdom, years of study or conscientious work. What is it? Paper cap explosions! Noise!"

"No longer is it necessary for a man to be a lawyer to go to congress. Business men go there. The places once considered as belonging only to the lawyer are going to men of other walks of life. The lawyer on every hand is being crowded out. The people are becoming intelligent enough to get along without him as an intermediary."

LIST TO THE ACTOR'S WOODING.—"Darling, your make-up has put a S. R. O. sign on the box office of my heart, and I want to take it with you until the curtain rings down on our little comedy. We may not be able even to rattle around in a $1.50 house, but we can put an act on in one that will make the 'legit' look like a pastebord that the manager turned down. Let's put our names together on a three-sheet and send it to our friends announcing that we'll open to a solid booking for life, with a first-night reception in the wings. We don't need an angel to float this show, for you're one now; and if you'll play Juliet to my Romeo, I've got the props to start the show. Come, now give me the cue."—Judge.

HIS BARGAIN.—"My dear," said the thoughtful husband, entering the house with a huge package in his arms, "you remember last week when you secured such a wonderful bargain in shirts at 48 cents and neckties at three for a quarter for me?"

"Yes, love," said the fond wife.

"Well, don't think I didn't appreciate your thoughtfulness. See, I have bought something for you. I noticed some beautiful green and yellow plaid goods in a show window on my way home, and brought you eighty yards of it at 4 cents a yard. The clerk said it was a great bargain, and it will make enough dresses to last you two years. Why, she has fainted!"
