The managers of impeachment to-day made a tramendous effort, saying that, should the point go against them, they would feel compelled to retire and consult the House. When the decision was announced General Butler said that the managers desired to retire for consultation. But little evidence was taken.

During the trial General Butler volunteered to repeat the evidence of witnesses who were inaudible. To this the defence objected. The vote in private session sustaining Mr.

Chase was 31 to 19. In the Supreme Court in the case of Martin vs. Magill, a motion to advance the cause was denied. It was of an appeal from the Circuit Court of Florida in a murder case, and the court suggested a remedy in the shape of an application to the Supreme Court for a habeas corpus and writ of certiorari against the district court. THE DEMOCRACY AT WORK-CANDIDATES NOMI-NATED-COTTON PROSPECTS-THE COLUMBIA AND AUGUSTA BAILBOAD-THE COURT OF IN-QUIRY IN MAJOR T. B. LEE'S CASE-NEW MA-SONIC HALL IN COLUMBIA-NATIONAL BANK-MANUFACTORIES, &C.

COLUMBIA, March 29, 1868 .- The political affairs of the State are like cotton—somewhat excited. At the eleventh hour, while the most important changes in the State are about to be made, the sentinels on the watch-towers are beginning to discover that something ought to e done to save the people from the consequences of negro domination. Those who counselled apathy, now loudly cry out, work! work! work! Those who predicted a failure of the Radical party in the State, now recognize in it an antagonist that calls for the exercise of every muscle. And so, as if animated by one mighty spasm, Democracy has become suddenly rampant, clubs have sprung into life in every portion of the State, the people are organizing, nominations have been made, and, although the time is short, it is evident that a persistent effort will be made to secure the election of Carolinians and white men to fill the legislative, Congressional and executive of-

Unfortunately for the success of the movement, there is thus far no evidence of concerted action, and the tendency of things done has been to draw boundary lines so broad and distinct as to forbid even the possibility of success, that is, if as we must all believe success depends upon substracting any considerable number from the black majority of 25,000 votes. There are thousands upon thousands of the people, intelligent and slive to the best interests of the State, who, while as true to the South as steel is to the magnet, nevertheless believe that personal prejudice must for the moment yield to policy, and that to ensure strength in the legislature, strength in Congress, and consolidation of the masses, moderate and conservative men must be nominated for office. The reverse, however, appears to be the policy of Ex-Gov. Perry and all of his followers. For instance he has publicly nominated for Governor, Gen. Wade Hampton; for Lieut. Governor, Gen. James Connor; for Secretary of State, Gen. Elison Capers; for Adjutant and Inspector General, General M. C. Butler, for Comptroller General, At a nominating convention held in Darling- | Capt. J. L. Leapheart, and for Treasurer, Major ton on Friday last by delegates from the dif- W. Hood. There have also been nominated by ferent Union Leagues in the district, the fol-Kershaw, of Kershaw, and General Samuel McGowan, of Abbeville. For "war times" this array of military gentlemen would have been most pertiment. Even now the heart of every true Southern man leaps at the thought that he may one day be able to reward the men who bore the battle-flag of the Confederacy through the brunt of the late contest; but what sane, sensible person believes it possible to elect either of these distinguished chieftains to the office named? What use would there be in going to the polls, in troublous times like these, to deposit a merely complimentary vote, when the choice of less objectionable candidates unknown to fame would divide the colored vote and secure the presence of an element in the legislature which would protect the interests of the State, and prevent the anarchical tendencies of pure pegro legislation. Experiments seem to demonstrate that the members of the League, and, with the excep- old political leaders have lost the confidence of the masses who used to follow their nod and beck. Younger men have come upon the stage. The mercantile community, the working classes and the farmers are claiming the right to think and act for themselves, and while yielding not one jot or tittle of principle, refuse to sacrifice their personal interests and political xistence by planting themselves in direct auagonism to the colored race and ignoring their

To illustrate: a meeting was held here on Wednesday last, purporting to be for the purpose of organizing a Democratic club. It was called chiefly by the working men, and was intended to be conservative in sentiment and and action. The lawyers had concocted a preamble and resolutions, which were read and lmost unanimously adopted. A few thoughtful men like Col. J. P. Thomas, however, saw mischief in the enthusiastic action of the meeting, and after a "sober, second thought," a committee called upon the editor of the Phœnix and requested that the preamble and resolutions should be suppressed, lest their excessive utterances as to the duties of the hour should result in barm. The talk now is as to the propriety of calling another meeting, in which not the opinions of individuals, but the policy of the community shall be promulgated. The convention casled for the 2d of April, promises to be a success. The railroads have agreed to receive half fare. Speaking of railroads, President Hammett a correspondent in Horry that the people of of the Greenville Railroad informs me that the excitement in the up country with reference to cotton is equal to that in Charleston. One man was brought to the Lunatic Asylum on Friday last, who has gone "clean daft" over his recent speculations. He had made forty thousand dollars by the rise, and his sudden good fortune turned the poor tellow's brain. Twenty thousand bales were brought down the road during the month of February, and there are probably from five to ten thousand bales yet The following delegates have been appointed remaining. Large shipments of manufactured goods are also coming down every week. The mills are in a prosperous condition, and money vention:

While on railroad matters, I may add, as an item of news, that the directors of the North Carolina Central and Raleigh and Gaston Road have agreed to take $150,000 of the bonds of the Columbia and Hamburg Railroad at par, and to advance the money, which will enable the directors of the latter company to complete the road with dispatch. They hope to have it running through to Graniteville by the first of August. The court of inquiry in the case of Major T. B. Lee, superintendent of the penitentiary, is still in session. All the evidence thus far entirely exonerates Major Lee from the charges of cruelty made against him. Every member of the convention, every officer of the penitentiary, all persons, in fact, who are supposed to know anything about the institution, have been summoned to testify, but not one instance has yet been adduced which proves that excessive or undeserved punishment has ever been imposed. The truth is, that the two or three modes of punishment resorted to in the penitentiary are the same as are authorized in the United States army, and by no means so severe. To-day a corporal named Henderson is to have his head shaved, to be drummed out of the service, and then to be taken to Fort Macon, N. YORK. IST A YOUNG LADY RETURNING TO ner country home, after a sojourn of a few month in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby con plexion of almost marble smooth ness, and instead twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the CIECADSIAN BALM, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentlemen can improve their personal appearance an hundredfold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsur passed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be-clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Price $1, sent by Mail or Express, on receipt of an order,

CHARLESTON, S. C., WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 1, 1868. The Great Canal Bank Robbery in in Janney's Hall, Columbia, last evening, and | ville, Greenville, or Newberry, and there is a Impeachment Proceedings. BY TELEGRAPH. Washington, March 31.—In the Court of was to be addressed by speakers from abroad. sufficiency of provisions

The New Orleans Picayune of Friday last gives the following account of the great robbery at the Canal Bank in that city of which

It seems that a package of fifty $1000 U. S. currency notes had been inclosed in an envelope to be sent north by express. The sealed envelope containing the money was in the hands of the exchange clerk, Mr. P. L. Duquesnay, who, placing it on a book before him, turned around for a moment to do something which claimed his attention. On turning again, to pick up the package, it was gone. him, turned around for a moment to do something which claimed his attention. On turning again, to pick up the package, it was gone. He could scarcely believe his senses. There but a moment before lay the envelope, no one had approached the spot from within, and the unusually high railing, protected by wire gause, surrounding the desk, would seem to preclude the possibility of any one having taking it from without; and yet, in spite of all the money had been abstracted. The affair seems to be completely wrapped in mystery, and the police have not as yet obtained the slightest clue which would enable them to trace the daring thief. The most singular part of the whole circumstance is that though all the clerks were present in the bank at the time, not one of them noticed any one enter or leave the building, and the exchange clerk himself avers that he heard no footstep upon the marble floor. It was proved, however, by actual experiment that it was possible for a tall man, by placing his foot upon a jutting portion of the lower railing, to reach over and pick up an envelope. None but a very tall man, therefore, and a nost expert rogue, could have accomplished the theft so quickly and noiselessly. Not a paper was disturbed, and even a branch of the gree bracket, which must necessarily have been displaced, in order to even a branch of the ges bracket, which must necessarily have been displaced, in order to permit an arm to be thrust between it and the railing, was observed to be in the usual posi-tion. Taking for granted, therefore, the hon-esty of the employees of the bank—and there does not seem to exist the shadow of a suspidoes not seem to exist the shadow of a suspi-cion against them—the police need only trouble themselves looking up the tall experts of the genus thief. Fortunately the bills were all registered and numbered, and this little circumstance may yet lead to the detection of the robber. The parkage consisted of fifty $1000 notes—greenbacks—all of the date of March 10th, 1862, and was numbered as fol-
