

CHARLESTON, July 3.—Sailed—steamer Monaka, New York.

ATLANTA, July 3.—In compliance with telegraphic orders from General Grant, General Meade issues orders appointing Bullock Governor of Georgia, vice General Ruger removed, to take effect to-morrow, on the assembling of the Legislature. Also, William H. Smith, Governor of Alabama, vice Patton removed, and A. J. Applegate, Lieutenant-Governor, to take effect July 12.

The prosecution testimony, in the trial of the Columbus prisoners, is strong against the accused.

General Robert Toombs is here organizing the Democratic party.

RALEIGH, July 3.—In the Senate, to-day, Judge Osborne, Senator elect from Mecklenburg, presented his credentials, which were referred. The President of the Senate ruled that the General Assembly, having adopted the Howard amendment, it had the force of law in the State, though not yet part of the Constitution of the United States; hence, he will not admit persons banned by it. Mr. Robbins, Senator from Rowan, offered a resolution in substance, that North Carolina declares that the fundamental condition in the omnibus bill, providing for re-admission of the State, shall forever be held without legal force or effect, as to this State; and that the declaration is made not to obstruct settlement and Union, but to avoid the consequences of silent acquiescence or approval of a doctrine fraught with danger to the rights of all the States, and of constitutional government. Two negroes were elected door-keepers in the House, and one in the Senate.

RICHMOND, July 3.—The Supreme Court of Virginia has reversed the decision of the lower court, in the case of Claffin, of New York, against Steinbock & Co., and decided that the attachment against the latter for $48,000, was issued on good grounds, and must stand.

A party of seventy-five young ladies, from the seminary at Elmira, New York, arrived to-day, and visited several points of interest; and to-night attended a hop at the Spotswood Hotel, given in their honor.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Corruption Committee's report covers over twenty columns. Without positive facts or assertions, the report labors to show the probability that money was raised and used to acquit Johnson. The amount of dirt thrown is amazing. Scarcely a friend of the President, or prominent political opponent, escapes.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—In the Senate, a memorial was presented, asking $15,000 for deepening the St. John's River, in Florida. The tax bill was reported, and made the special order for Monday and until completed. A resolution to adjourn in honor of the Fourth of July, was adopted, ten radicals voting nay. The balance of the day was devoted to the consideration of the affairs of the District of Columbia. Adjourned.

In the House, the Democratic seats were empty. The House considered appropriations in Committee of the Whole, again rejecting the amendment allowing clerks extra compensation, and, after passing the bill furnishing the militia of each Congressional District with 2,000 rifles and two batteries of artillery, the House adjourned until Monday.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—The crew, and finally Captain Bridge, of the war steamer Chanticleer, were searched at Mazatlan. Captain Bridge, claiming this action of the Mazatlan authorities as a national insult, notified the authorities of his intention to bombard Mazatlan; but, under the remonstrance of the American Consul, merely blockaded Mazatlan against Mexican vessels—the vessels of other nations passing freely.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—Detective Lafayette C. Baker is dead. He leaves a quarter of a million.

NEW LONDON, July 3.—The steamers City of Boston and State of New York collided at the mouth of the Connecticut River, in a fog. Three persons were lost and many hurt. Both boats were crowded with passengers.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The papers are full of speculations, and the streets full of rumors, but there is no real change in the situation. Pendleton's friends are sanguine.

Proclamation by the President.

WASHINGTON, July 4—1 A. M.—A proclamation has been issued by the President, declaring that, whereas, in the month of July, 1861, in accepting the condition of civil war, which was brought about by insurrection and rebellion in several of the States, the two Houses of Congress did solemnly declare that the war was not waged on the Government in any spirit of opposition, nor for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, nor for any purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institutions of the States, but only to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution of the United States, and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired, and that, so soon as those objects should be accomplished, the war on the part of the Government should cease; and, whereas, the President of the United States has, heretofore, in the spirit of that declaration, and with the view of securing for its ultimate and complete effect, set forth several proclamations, offering amnesty and pardon to persons who had been or were concerned in the rebellion, which proclamations, however, were attended with prudent reservations and exceptions, then deemed necessary and proper; and, whereas, the said war has long since ceased, with an acknowledgment by all the States of the supremacy of the Federal Constitution, and there no longer exists any ground to apprehend a renewal of civil war, or any foreign interference, any unlawful resistance by any portion of the people of any of the States to the Constitution and laws of the United States; and, whereas, it is desirable to reduce the standing army and to bring to a speedy termination military occupation, martial law, military tribunals, abridgment of freedom of speech, of the press, and suspension of the privilege of habeas corpus, and the trial by jury—such encroachments upon our free institutions, in times of peace, being dangerous to public liberty, incompatible with the individual rights of the citizen, contrary to the genius of our Republic and form of Government, and exhaustive of the national resources; and, whereas, it is believed that to secure a complete and universal establishment and prevalence of municipal law and order, in conformity with the Constitution of the United States; and to remove all appearances or presumptions of a retaliatory or vindictive policy, on the part of the Government, attended by unnecessary disqualifications, pains, penalties, confiscations and disfranchisements, and on the contrary to promote and procure complete fraternal reconciliation among the whole people, with due submission to the Constitution and laws; therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, do, by virtue of the Constitution, and in the name of the people of the United States, hereby proclaim and declare unconditionally and without reservation, to all and to every person who directly or indirectly participated in the late insurrection or rebellion, excepting such person or persons as may be under presentment or indictment in any Court of the United States, having competent jurisdiction upon a charge of treason or other felony, a full pardon and amnesty for the offense of treason against the United States, or of adhering to the enemies during the late civil war, with restoration of all rights of property, except as to slaves, and except also as to any property of which any person may have been legally divested, under the laws of the United States. In testimony whereof, I have signed these presents with my hand, and have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the 4th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America ninety-third.

By the President.

ANDREW JOHNSON.
