

The Matter of Immigration—The Coming Agricultural and Mechanical Society.
With an eye single to the best interests of South Carolina, we desire to call attention to the important and solid matters connected with the subjects that compose the heading of this article. No political heat, however essential to good government in this State, should turn the attention of our people from the lines of material activity. Political success cannot originate—cannot make power. This must come from numbers and productions and manufactures. From our soil, from our ores, from our work-shops, from increased intelligent, skillful and efficient labor, most flow the healthy streams of strength in South Carolina. In these fields, the body politic must get its bone and sinews, its flesh and blood. Let us hear, then, from Charleston, the headquarters of the scheme of immigration, born of the late Industrial Convention. There were many men in that body, who went into that convention because they were thoroughly in earnest. They meant business. We would be pleased to learn how far the orders of the convention have been carried out. We want the schemes set on foot put into execution. Industrially, let us move steadily on, and not grow weary in well-doing. The Charleston Industrial Convention planned well. Let it not be made a reproach, that it planned far better than it executed. Nor let our people forget the Agricultural and Mechanical Fair, to be held next November, in Columbia. This should be made a great success. Let our countrymen and countrywomen, let our city, town and village folk, let our farmers and mechanics, let all trades and every business prepare to be represented in this grand industrial gathering. Let the next fair show that our State appreciates the spirit of the century. This century spells work with a capital W, and magnifies material activity and scientific progress. We, therefore, repeat the suggestion: Let us not forget the importance of immigration, of our fair, our factories, our farms, our railroads. We have two hands, and we must use both. With one, let our people uplift the flag of a reformatory movement. With the other, let us keep flying the banner of our material and solid activities.

There seems to be some trouble in the "Republican" camp in Charleston. The Republican organ cracks its party lash over the heads of Messrs. DeLarge and Delaney. It tells them the cry of "black man's Government" is as bad as that of white man's Government. The organ, we presume, would rather have it, "This is the Government of Messrs. Scott & Co." The "ring worms" are in danger. DeLarge, "a brown man," as the Republican calls him, said:

"We joined this party because it professed equal right and privileges to all, and as long as they do as they profess, I stay with them. We joined this party, and we are thankful because they gave us our freedom. We thought, on the ground of expediency, we must do nothing to offend them, but some impudent scoundrels in the party now say: 'You want too much; you want everything!' We placed them in position; we elected them, and by our votes we made them our masters. We now propose to change this thing a little, and let them vote for us. It is no more than reasonable they should do so. When a colored man is capable of filling an office, I say give it to him; and I shall fight this over the entire State. This movement has not been made without consultation. You will find no intelligent colored man who is not with me. Some parties thought they had worked their own schemes, but we worked too. There is not a prominent colored man in this State who is not pledged to stand by the doctrine which I pronounce, and we shall succeed not only in the city, but also in the County and State."

Colonel Delaney, a colored man, said: "We lay the basis for the new campaign, and this basis must be clearly defined. We are not equal to our white friends in many qualities, and we require, therefore, a principle to depend upon. We must be valued for something. We are not equal to the white race in general intelligence, and we must therefore have an offset to be equal, and let that offset be 'honesty' and 'justice.' I don't believe in social equality; there is no such thing. If we want to associate with a man, we'll do it, and without laws. But let us demand, as a black race, (when I say 'black' I take in the lightest as well as the blackest hue), let us demand justice. I take the ground that no people have become a great people who had not their own leaders. Take the world over and all nations are represented by their own people, and black men must have black leaders. We must be directors of our own people, and let it be known that neither Major W. Loughby, Mr. Fox, Gov. Scott, or any one else, can lead black men."

Gen. Robert Anderson, of Fort Sumter fame, is dangerously ill, in France. He lost everything by the war, and the small pittance allowed him by Congress is insufficient for his support.

Democratic Address.

The following is the sensible address made by the Democratic Senators and members of Congress. We deem it good advice, and the case is strongly put:
To our Fellow-Citizens of the United States—Friends of Constitutional, Economical and Honest Government.
The undersigned beg leave to call your attention to the peculiar importance of the elections which take place this year, and respectfully to submit some suggestions for your consideration. By State Legislatures to be elected, nearly one-third of the United States Senate will be chosen—nearly all the members of the next House of Representatives are to be elected next fall. Upon the coming elections, then, depends the question whether the Democratic and conservative element in the Senate shall be increased, and whether that element shall have a majority in the House of Representatives, and, as a consequence, whether we shall have constitutional, economical and honest government, or a continuance of revolutionary, extravagant and wasteful partisan rule; whether we shall have general, uniform, just and constitutional legislation, with reasonable taxation and frugal expenditure, or unconstitutional, partial, unjust class legislation, with oppressive and unequal taxation and wasteful expenditure. That we have strong reasons to hope for a favorable result is plainly apparent. Elections already held clearly show that the tide of reform has set in with a power that cannot be resisted, if no blunders be committed by the friends of reform. If they do their duty and act wisely—if they throw off all apathy and act with vigor and steadfastness—there is every reason to hope that their efforts will be rewarded by success. Let there be no dissensions about minor matters, no time lost in the discussion of dead issues, no manifestation of narrow or proscriptive feeling, no sacrifice of the cause to gratify personal ambition or resentment, and let the best men be chosen for candidates, and we may hope to see our country redeemed from misrule. And in this connection, we beg leave to say a word to our fellow-citizens of the Southern States: Do not risk the loss of Senators or Representatives by electing men who cannot take the test-oath, or who are under the disability imposed by the fifteenth amendment. Whatever may be said of the validity of that amendment, or of the test-oath Act, you may rest assured that Senators elected by the votes of members of Legislatures who are held by the radicals to be thus disqualified, will not be permitted to take their seats, and that members of the House of Representatives thus disqualified, will also be excluded. It is the plainest dictate of practical wisdom not to incur any such risks. We hope soon to see the day when all disabilities will be removed, but in the meantime, do not, we entreat you, lose the opportunity to strengthen the Democratic and conservative force in Congress, and the possibility, nay, probability, of obtaining a majority in the next House of Representatives, by putting it in the power of our adversaries to overthrow or disregard your elections.

The National Democracy has thus put itself on the ground of Constitutional, Economical and Honest Government.

The Lancaster Ledger, Horry News and Orangeburg News endorse the Reform movement. The Marlboro Journal says:
Great harmony prevailed throughout, and the proceedings of the Convention show that our people mean business. And although Marlboro was not represented, we believe that the candidates nominated will be supported by her citizens. The ball has now opened in earnest, and we hope our people will vote for honest and competent men to take the place of the corrupt men now in power.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION OF NITRO-GLYCERINE.—An explosion of nitro-glycerine took place in Worcester, on the 23d, killing Timothy Cronam and injuring thirty other persons, none of them dangerously, however. Twelve houses were demolished, and many others badly shattered. The shock was felt all over the city. Bells were rung and crockery and furniture broken a half mile distant. The nitro-glycerine had been smuggled into a car, and was intended for the Hoosac Tunnel. The scene of the disaster has been visited by over 50,000 people. It is most astonishing that but one life was lost and so few seriously injured. The man killed was walking on the track at the time of the explosion. The nitro-glycerine was in the last car of a freight train. Three cars were demolished. The railroad officers here and also in Boston and Springfield, have visited the scene, and are anxious that everything possible shall be done for the sufferers. Heavy bars of iron were thrown nearly a quarter of a mile, and the shock was distinctly felt at points twenty miles distant. The damage is estimated at $150,000.

Some unfortunate fellow who was accoped in by an animated and fascinating collection of false teeth, chignon, bustles, pads, and high-heeled boots, wants Congress to pass the English Act of 1700, which denominates these women witches, and punishes accordingly. Please Congress, don't, for this would be a sorry world with nothing but men in it.

OLD MAIDS.—Dr. Bond says that to affect to pity old maids is a mere waste of calf-power. "Old maid" is felt to be an epithet of reproach, when in most instances it is a title of honor. It is accepted as a designation of inferior, when in truth it commonly marks the higher grade of women.

St. John's Day.

Mr. Editor: At an early hour on Friday morning, the streets of our city were enlivened by carriages and vehicles of every description, filled with "ladies fair and bright," on their way to the Charlotte Depot—the Masonic fraternity having decided to hold a picnic at Ridge Spring, Edgefield County, on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, to celebrate the festival of St. John, the Baptist. They were received at the depot by a committee, consisting of members of the R. A. C. and the four Lodges of the city, under the presidency of John McKenzie, Esq., and at 7 o'clock a. m., all necessary arrangements having been made, the picnic party, to the number of 600, left by special train, accompanied (through the courtesy of Gen. Bomford) by the 8th United States Infantry Band. On arriving at Ridge Spring, after a pleasant journey on the cars, they found a train from Augusta, already arrived, containing the Lodge from Graniteville, and members of the fraternity from Augusta, Hamburg, and other places on the other end of the railroad. An elegant platform, for dancing, had been erected by a member of the Committee of Arrangements, who left Columbia for that purpose on Wednesday evening, nicely shaded by branches of trees, with a convenient stand for the band attached. The votaries of the "light fantastic toe" were soon busily engaged, and all went "merry as a marriage bell." A second dance party was also established in the depot, and comfortable seats were provided in the shade of the grove, for those who wished to enjoy the dolce far niente.

In the meantime, vigorous preparations were being made by the committee to provide for the good cheer of the party. The Masonic fraternity at Ridge Spring had contributed a handsome barbecue, and Chairman McKenzie came well supplied with everything that people wish for at a picnic. A tent was pitched to contain the provisions, and a long table set in the grove, which was filled at 1 o'clock, with a substantial collation for the ladies.

The Graniteville and Augusta party left for home about half-past 4 o'clock, and the Columbia party at 5, who, after another pleasant but somewhat protracted journey, arrived in this city about 10 o'clock p. m.

During the stoppage at Batesville, to await the passing of the regular train, the post band enlivened the party and delighted the inhabitants with some excellent music.

AFFAIRS IN LEXINGTON.—A friend

writes as follows, under date of Lexington, June 27:

EDITOR PHOENIX: During the past week we have had the usual dull monotony of this village very pleasantly varied. On Thursday last, Mr. Edward Dreher had a public examination of his pupils, which was a decided success. His school numbers about thirty-five or forty, and embraced children of both sexes, from about seven to sixteen. His course of instruction included the usual English branches; a few Latin scholars and one Greek. He examined them in the presence of parents and friends. They acquitted themselves creditably to themselves and their teacher. The examination was succeeded by speaking and dialogues. Mr. Dreher, at the close, delivered an address to the citizens, parents and pupils; an address full of sound views of our present condition, and replete with excellent advice to parent and child. The cause of education has, in Mr. Dreher, an earnest and successful worker. The whole was enlivened by the delightful strains of Jim Mayrant's string band. After the conclusion, visitors, parents and pupils adjourned to the shady grove in the rear of the Court House, where the ladies had prepared a picnic dinner, consisting of substantial and "goodies." This repast had everything calculated to excite and appease the palate of the most fastidious. After this, under the auspices of Jim Mayrant and his band, the young people "tripped the light fantastic toe" during the remainder of the afternoon.

The next day, Friday, we attended the Masonic celebration, at Saint John's Church, in this County, Boylston Lodge of Free Masons. An address was delivered, appropriate to the occasion, by Past Master J. B. Kyzer. Here were assembled not less than 500 citizens, and about fifty Masons. After the exercises, came another dinner, bountiful and tasteful. The ladies of Lexington seem to understand these things to perfection. In the afternoon, the young people at Mrs. Dreher's, who lives near the Church, had a pleasant dance. From what we saw and enjoyed on both these occasions, we hope these picnics may be often repeated. We have here some very pretty young ladies. Your correspondent, being a bachelor, found his heart constantly fluttering and palpitating beneath their bewitching smiles and glances. They are certainly calculated to disturb the equanimity of the most obdurate bachelor.

Weather at present hot and dry, favorable at this time to the crops. The late rains injured, to some extent, the wheat crop; still there is an abundant yield. Cotton and corn doing well. With favorable seasons, a large cotton crop will be made.

HAL.

The largest refracting telescope ever constructed has, it is asserted, just been finished by a firm of astronomical instrument makers in New York. The telescope is thirty-two feet long, ten feet six inches in circumference, with an object glass twenty-five inches in diameter. It is to be set up in an observatory at the Island of Madeira.

The weather was so intolerably hot in New York, last week, that several lines of street cars were forced to stop running—the heat completely using up the horses.

WHAT THE REJECTION OF WHITTEMORE MEANS.—The decision to exclude Whittemore, after his constituents had condoned his offense by a re-election, is a signal declaration of contempt for his constituency. The heavy majority of 8,000 negro votes by which this broker of cadetships was re-elected as their representative, demonstrates the utter unfitness of the Southern negroes for the political functions thrust upon them by the reconstruction acts. By their fruits shall ye know them. The re-election of this disgraced felon and thief is an instructive commentary on the wisdom of negro reconstruction. It is no longer President Johnson's vetoes or Democratic denunciations that bear witness against that insane experiment, but a solemn, deliberate, and almost unanimous vote of the radical Congress itself. It is a Republican House of Representatives that has impugned the character of a negro constituency, and declared its unfitness for political duties. It is not Whittemore alone that is condemned, but the black voters who sent him back to represent them in Congress.

The Columbus Enquirer asks: Don't Massachusetts need "reconstructing" more than any other State, when a company of Chinese, carried to North Adams to operate in a shoe manufactory, are booted and pelted through the streets, and have to be guarded at night to protect them from greater violence; and all on account of "race or color"? How soon the military would have possession of any place in the South in which such a state of things might exist?

Three deaths from violence occurred at Savannah, Ga., on Thursday. Joshua Keene, a ship carpenter, shot himself—cause, whiskey. A small negro boy who was standing on the platform at the Relay House, was killed by the accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of Mr. Henry Hensler, a conductor on the Savannah, Skidaway and Seaboard Railroad. And a negro working at a saw mill near the city, fell under a rolling log and was crushed to death.

Out on the frontier, in Kansas, audiences at the theatres have an original way of applauding actors and actresses. They give a regular Indian yell, patting their mouths with their hands all the time. A certain Eastern actress was so applauded, which frightened her so, she ran out the back way, hired a carriage, and rode twenty-five miles to the nearest railroad station, leaving the play in the middle. She said she was afraid they would scalp her.

Telegraphic communication between Bombay and London being complete, Lord Mayo, the British Viceroy of India, sent from Bombay a congratulatory telegram to the President of the United States. It was dated Thursday evening, and was received in Washington Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock—somewhat ahead of time.

A lad named Robert Boyd, living in Atlanta, Ga., playing with a pistol, which he had laid away unloaded, pointed the weapon at a cousin and pulled the trigger, killing his cousin, Jessie Owens, instantly. Upon inquiry, it was found that an elder brother, finding the pistol unloaded, charged it and put it down again.

FIRE IN CHARLESTON.—On Friday evening, a fire broke out in the store of Mr. J. H. Renneker, on East Bay, Charleston. It was extinguished, after having entirely destroyed the building in which it originated. By earnest and persistent efforts, a disastrous conflagration was prevented.

Hinton R. Helper, the Impending Crisis man, denies that he is a candidate for Congress from North Carolina, and says: "I certainly should not esteem it an honor to be sent to Congress or anywhere by such voters as have delighted to elect and re-elect to office individuals like Whittemore and Dewees."

In the suit of Newton Siebert and wife vs. John Leeson, for assault, tried in Baltimore on Friday, the plaintiffs obtained a verdict of $2,000. The assault consisted in Leeson's having kissed the hand of Siebert's wife, against her will, during her husband's absence from home.

Messrs. Paysinger & Franklin have received several dozen diamond-backed terrapins, from Norfolk, Va., and in a few days we may confidently expect a treat in the way of devious terrapins. One or two of these hard-shells were carried off a few nights ago, but there are enough left to furnish a good mess. There will be genuine turtle soup for lunch to-day, with fresh-laid turtle eggs.

Under the heading of "Great Inducements," in our advertising columns, this morning, will be found the advertisement of Mr. A. Smythe—our enterprising boot, shoe, hat and trunk dealer, on Main street—who has determined to reduce his stock, and proposes for the next thirty days to sell at cost. All who are in want of articles in his line, should give him a call, as we are confident they can secure bargains, and that when Mr. S. says at cost, he doubtless means it.

Gen. A. C. Garlington, of Atlanta, Ga., formerly of this State, will deliver, by invitation, the annual literary oration before the Demosthenian and Phi Kappa Societies of the University of Georgia, at the next Commencement, first Monday in August next.

An advertisement of the Cleaveland (N. C.) Springs, will be found in another column. These springs are located in a healthy section; the waters are highly commended—chalybeate, (or iron,) white and red sulphur. The fare is very good, the charges reasonable and Mr. Schaup, the driver of the team from Cherryville to the springs, will carry passengers for $1.50. Cards and circulars can be obtained at this office. John J. Blackwood, Esq., is the proprietor.

The PHOENIX office is supplied with every style of material from the small metal letter to the largest wood type, together with plain and fancy cards, paper, colored ink, bronze, etc. It is the only establishment in the interior of the State where two and three sheet posters can be printed. BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR.—We have often read in the newspapers of the grand success of medical compounds put up at the North and elsewhere. Many of these medicines have had their day, and we hear no more of them. Their proprietors have made fortunes, not so much from the curative powers and virtues of their mixtures, as from the notoriety given them by advertising, by which people were made to believe all the good that was said of them. A preparation is now before the public which is becoming very popular, and is known as Bradfield's Female Regulator, put up by L. H. Bradfield, of Atlanta, Ga., at $1.50 per bottle. Such is its curative virtues, that it has gained widespread popularity all over the country where it has been made known, and it is being introduced everywhere. We are informed that immense quantities of this medicine are being sold in all sections of the South and South-west, especially in the city of New Orleans and in Texas.

This much we say in justice to its proprietor, who is a gentleman of integrity, and who would not engage in the manufacture and sale of a humbug.—La Grange Reporter. J 26 G
