

COLUMBIA, S. C.

Friday Morning, September 2, 1870.

The Sumter Demonstration.

We learn that the mass meeting at Sumter Court House, on the 31st ult., was a great success. The crowd was immense, and Messrs. Carpenter, Butler and Kershaw spoke with marked effect.

Dull Platitude.

Judge Platt advises Governor Scott not to engage in the canvass—for he might be shot down! As, for instance, at some public meeting in Edgefield! The best thing that Governor Scott could do for Reform would be to "speak in public on the stage."

We should advocate the hanging of any man, or boy, or woman who should undertake to close his utterances. Oh! that "mine adversary would make a speech!"

The War in Europe.

Our readers will find interesting news in our telegraphic columns from the seat of war. It seems that heavy reverses have again befallen the arms of France. As we suggested, McMahon, marching to the relief of Bazaine, came across that Prussian wedge that had forced itself up to the Belgian frontier and presented a sharp edge on the one side to Bazaine at Metz, and on the other to the advancing French under McMahon. It appears that the fight took place near Montmedy, and the French are said to have been thrown back upon Sedan and perhaps beyond.

Again the desperate valour of the French army has been unavailing against the superior numbers and the equal valor of the German army.

It is reported that Bazaine had a fight also, but it seems that he and McMahon failed to act in unison. We think it evident that the German army is numerous enough to hold Bazaine at Metz, and at the same time to outnumber McMahon. The victory is with the strong battalions.

The Manufacturer by the Side of the Farmer.

It was Gen. Jackson, says the Atlanta Intelligencer, who said that "to plant the manufacturer by the side of the farmer is the true and sure way to increase the recompense of the husbandman's toil; even though his metals, his implements, his wares, and his fabrics, should cost him more money under a protective policy than under free trade, he would nevertheless pay for them with less of produce or labor, and in the operation gain the large benefit of greater diversity of interests in the community."

And it will not be long before the manufacturer will be planted by the side of the farmer of the South—the manufacturer of cotton by the grower of that great Southern staple. And then what will become of the Lowells of the North and East? In competition with the Southern manufacturer they must signally fail. We may not live to see it, but the time will surely come when the manufacturer "planted" by the side of the cotton grower, will reap a harvest which New England may well envy. She will then sorrow for the policy which she has pursued toward the South, and which will wrest from her the prosperity which she has enjoyed at the expense of the South.

The Richmond Dispatch says:

We refused to publish the Abingdon Virginian correspondent's story about the 3,000 Confederate prisoners on the Dry Tortugas, because we knew it must be a lie. "A Lieutenant" writes to the New York Herald that the island is occupied by four companies of the Third United States Artillery and about forty prisoners. These are its sole inhabitants, if we except the lighthouse keeper and family. He says the story printed the other day from the Abingdon Virginian is hardly worth refutation.

DEATH OF A STRANGER IN THE WOODS.

The Macon Telegraph reports that an unknown white man was found in a dying condition on Sunday last, in the Rutland district of Bibb County. The negro who found the dying man hurried for medical aid, but before assistance arrived, he died, as decided by a jury of inquest, of congestive chill. On inquiry, it was ascertained that a gentleman residing in the neighborhood had written a letter for deceased a few days before, and that he gave his name as John J. McInnis, and that the letter was addressed to a Mr. McInnis, in South Carolina, and was an appeal for help on the part of deceased.

FROM COLLEGE TO CAMP.—All the colleges, universities and schools in Germany, have been closed by the war. The 2,000 students of Berlin, 1,500 of Heidelberg and 1,000 of Bonn, having had the "young idea" taught "how to shoot," have all gone off to practice with the needle-gun. Universities have been metamorphosed into hospitals, and their professors find their occupation gone completely. The cannon's mouth is the only one prepared to make appropriate utterances in that quarter at present. It would puzzle that month, however, Deutsch zu sprechen.

Paul's Epistle.

MR. EDITOR: PAUL SIMS, from the hallowed precincts of Gadsden, in "A Card to the Republicans of Richland County," in yesterday's Phoenix, withdraws his name from a ticket for County officers, on which he says it was placed unauthorizedly. "Having voted," says Paul, "for the candidates upon the regular ticket, every consideration of good faith leads me (Paul) to give my earnest support to their election." Not content with this withdrawal, however, he volunteers the advice to "Republicans to beware of men, who, under the guise of independent Republicans, are doing all in their power to defeat the Republican party."

Explanatory of this it may be remarked that a few days since a number of Republicans, designated by "Paul" and his brethren as "bolters," disgusted with the arrogance and trickery of the office-holding oligarchy of this County, nominated an independent ticket, composed of names, which for honesty, intelligence and true Republican principles, will compare most favorably with that which Paul calls the regular ticket. This, in my further commentaries on his epistle, I intend to show is a regular political fraud upon Republicans, without a shadow of authority or countenance from the regularly constituted authorities of the Republican party, but concocted and consummated in, despite of their instructions, and engineered and manipulated mainly by those whose own names were placed on the ticket.

BEN BOLT.

JUDGE ORR AND THE ANDERSON INTELLIGENCER.—We find the following paragraph in the Daily Republican of last Saturday:

"Ex-Governor Orr being absent in New York, the Anderson Intelligencer feels it safe to pounce upon his letter pretty sharply. But suppose Governor Orr should return suddenly and speak the name of a certain railroad in the ears of the startled editor! What then?"

We have only a brief reply to make at this time to the Republican, as Judge Orr has not yet returned from New York, so far as we are informed, and a full and explicit response might concern him personally.

1. As to the absence of Judge Orr when the comments upon his letter appeared in our columns, we desire to say that it will afford us pleasure, if Judge Orr wishes to read our estimate of his political course upon his return home, to furnish him a copy, gratis.

2. If the Charleston Daily Republican, Judge Orr, or any one else, wishes to discuss railroad matters, we are ready for them. It would gratify us to show how we were misled and deceived into a support of the proposition to transfer the Greenville and Columbia Railroad stock from its original owners into the hands of a certain Ring. Judge Orr's connection with that transaction has not been fully ventilated, and if it is desirable on his part, or that of his new political bed-fellows, to attack the editor of this paper for any supposed complicity in the scheme to obtain control of that stock, we wish it distinctly understood that they are entirely welcome to begin the fray.

"Lay on Macduff; And damn'd be he who first cries, 'Hold, enough!'"

FIRST TRAIN OVER THE CHARLOTTE, COLUMBIA AND AUGUSTA RAILROAD BRIDGE. Yesterday, at 4 o'clock p. m., the first train passed over the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta Railroad bridge. A large number of citizens boarded the train at the intersection of Broad street. As soon as the train was well on the bridge, a young lady on board broke a bottle of Heidsieck wine, scattering the contents on the bridge, as a christening. Champagne flowed freely, and all the excursionists returned highly pleased. The members of the City Council then took passage, and crossed the bridge by special invitation, and partook freely of the refreshments provided for the occasion.—Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA INSTITUTE FAIR. The arrangements for the tenth annual fair of the South Carolina Institute are rapidly progressing, and it promises to be a grand event in the history of Charleston. It is intended that it shall not be surpassed, either in the variety of articles exhibited, the character of the entertainments, or in the number of visitors. The directors of the Institute are determined that the world shall see that Charleston is neither dead nor sleeping, but can, does, and always will, take part in the progress of the age.

Ex-PRESIDENT JOHNSON.—A correspondent of the Nashville Union and American says: "I was in Greenville, on election day, and saw Ex-President Johnson vote the Conservative ticket. It is a mistake to suppose his health is bad. He is in fine health and spirits. He stopped on the streets and talked with his friends in a quiet, farmer like manner, and seems to be very popular with all classes of people. He is pressed to allow his name to be used for Congress, but he has refused up to this time. It is believed he could be easily elected."

Miss Helen Taylor, who is impractically described by a Cincinnati paper as "a daughter-in-law of John Stuart Mill," writes against fox hunting from a society-for-the-prevention-of-cruelty-to-animals point of view.

THE SHIVERING SEASON.—The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague, has been estimated at upwards of two millions of dollars per annum. Whole settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease, and it is regarded in some localities, as one of those visitations of providence which cannot be avoided. This is a mistake. As clearly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, in advance of the season, at which this malady prevails. Prevention, it is needless to say, is the wisest policy; but it is coming to know that where time has not been taken by the forelock, and the paroxysms have actually commenced, a complete cure may, in all cases, be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic. The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation and nervous debility, has in some measure thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments, but all who have ever taken it, either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specifics, including quinine, usually prescribed for these maladies, while it is at the same time entirely harmless and deliciously palatable.

PHOENIXIANA.—Our readers will not forget the barbecue and mass meeting at the Ridge on Saturday next. Extra train will leave at 7 A. M. See notice of Superintendent.

The London Punch says: "We have skeleton regiments which we must immediately convert into flesh and blood. The French and Germans possess flesh and blood regiments which are reducing each other to skeletons."

Forney says you can tell a Democratic member of Congress, when you meet him, by his having his hands in his pocket. We presume a Radical may be known by his having his hands in somebody else's pocket, or up to the elbow in the national coffers.

A young lady being asked where was her native place, answered: "I have none. I am the daughter of a Methodist minister."

The little vexations and minor miseries of life can only be met with patience and philosophy. They can't be "put down" like an insurrection, nor expelled like a bad church member. The best that can be done with them is to pay as little attention to them as possible, and not to double their power by fretting over them. As the immortal Shakespeare says (we don't remember exactly where): "For every evil under the sun There is a remedy, or there's none; If there is a remedy try and find it; If there isn't—never mind it."

The National Guard who mounted guard lately at the door of the Legislative body at Paris tried to present arms to Marshal Baraguay d'Hilliers, but did not know how to do it.

"Ah," said the Marshal, approaching him, and speaking in the most amicable tone of voice, "you have not done much drill yet." At the same time he taught the sentry the salute, and when the latter was in position, presenting arms, Baraguay d'Hilliers drew back a step and acknowledged it by taking off his hat. Then drawing nearer, he asked the man how long he had been at drill.

"Ma foi! Marshal," he replied, "that is the first lesson I have received."

The Marshal went away smiling, whilst the others congratulated their comrade, who had had a Marshal of France for his first instructor.

The Tribune, of Thursday, says its despatch giving an account of the battle of Gravelotte, fought on the 18th instant, cost $2,280 in gold, for the mere transmission from London to New York; besides the cost of a special courier from the battle field through Alsace, Rhenish Prussia and Belgium to London, and the pay of the correspondent himself.

The Queen of Prussia had sent the following telegram to Gen. Herwarth de Bittenfeld: In the joyful and grateful emotion I feel at the victories of our armies, I send you to-day two gold medals, one for the author and one for the composer of the song, "Die Wacht am Rhein," in which the passionate patriotism of our citizens and soldiers has so admirably found expression, and which has become a real national song of Germany." On the face of the medals is the bust of the King, and on the reverse the figures 1870, surrounded by a laurel.

A French paper says that it is intended to supply several vessels of the fleet with an apparatus intended to light up the line of horizon in dull weather, or any point of the sea coast at which it may be expedient to disembark at night. This apparatus, placed in the fore part of the ship, is composed of an electric light and a powerful reflector. The light is produced by the combustion of two cones of coal, in communication with a magneto-electric machine. This is itself put in motion by a small steam engine connected with the ship's engines. The reflector on Fresnel's system is analogous to that employed in light-houses. This apparatus possesses such great illuminating powers that, when directed upon a point of any coast, it is clearly visible at a distance of about two miles, without its being possible for the enemy on the coast to distinguish the ship bearing the light.

Some days ago, says the London Echo, Marshal Bazaine had gathered together at his dinner table at Metz the members of his family, of whom several are in the army. They were waited upon by a servant of remarkably good appearance and manner; so good, indeed, that the Marshal's wife was struck with it, and expressed her astonishment on leaving the table. The Marshal at first laughed at his wife's remarks, assuring her that the servant was not a grand seigneur in disguise, but a vale de chambre. Nevertheless, the Marshal's wife insisted so strongly, that the handsome looking servant was arrested. He turned out to be a Prussian officer.

The Richland Volunteer Rifle Company meet to-night at Seegers' Hall, on Main street, near the Phoenix office.

A gentleman paid a pretty compliment to a beautiful German lady at Newport by telling her she resembled the Prussian army. "How so?" she asked. "You are winning," was the reply.

General John A. Dix owns a 3,000 acre farm in Shelby County, Iowa; William H. Steward owns a still bigger farm in Hamilton County, and Horatio Seymour has a good many forty and eighty acre spots up and along the Valley of the Des Moines.

There are now two lines of radicalism in Richland—The Nash and the Pickett line. Gov. Scott can put himself again on the "Pickett line." Will he do it?

We acknowledge the receipt of a new "specimen cut book," from the popular type foundry of James Conner's Sons, New York.

For a cough, roast a lemon very carefully, without burning it. When it is thoroughly hot, cut and squeeze it into a cup upon three ounces of sugar, finely powdered. Take a spoonful whenever your cough troubles you. It is as good as it is agreeable to the taste. Rarely has it been known to fail to give relief.

We learn that Messrs. Richards & Plumer are engaged upon a new gas machine, the merits of which we shall discuss at some future time.

The August number of the American Sunday School Worker, published at St. Louis, at $1.50 a year, contains very good original and selected articles for parents and Sunday School teachers and officers, and a popular and excellent lesson for the Sabbath School, for each Sabbath, with two pages of matter to aid the teacher on each lesson. The publisher of this magazine, J. W. McIntyre, offers to send specimen copies of the magazine and lesson paper, without charge, to any address.

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTORY.—"LAST BUT NOT LEAST."—Among the instances of local enterprise in our city, we should not omit to mention the blank book manufactory of our working townsman Mr. E. R. Stokes. This kind of manufacturing, which Mr. Stokes carries on in connection with his book bindery, is conducted on a large scale, and in the most approved style. No one should go beyond Columbia for his blank books which, good and cheap, Mr. Stokes can furnish.

NATIVE INGENUITY.—We saw, on yesterday, at Glaze's jewelry establishment, a new and improved calendar clock. This is the invention of Mr. Frank Burrows, who is associated with Mr. Glaze in business. The clock is characterized by its simple machinery, and possesses several new features creditable to the mechanical talents of Mr. Burrows. We learn that application will be made for a patent.

A NEW PAPER.—"TEMPERANCE ADVOCATE."—We have received No. 1 of the Temperance Advocate, a monthly paper devoted to the advancement of the cause of temperance, and published by Mr. John A. Elkins. The object which this journal has in view is certainly a most laudable one, and we wish it the happiest success. Price thirty cents per annum.

The attention of the reader is respectfully invited to the advertisement of Bradford & Co., in another column. They are undoubtedly selling the best remedies out for the diseases they are recommended for. BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR and DR. Unless the food, after passing into the stomach, is thoroughly digested, both body and mind suffer. The digestive organs are oppressed, the bowels constipated or irregular, the brain lethargic, the nervous system unnaturally sensitive, the animal spirit depressed and the pulse unequal, heart-burn, flatulency and sick headache are also some of the results of indigestion. Therefore, how necessary must it appear to the candid reader that the digestive organs should be kept in proper tone to perform the functions nature requires of them. For this purpose, no better or more palatable preparation is in existence than LEBMAN'S GREAT GERMAN BITTERS. A21 12

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.—It may be truthfully said that the greatest of all blessings is health; for without it, all joys vouchsafed are turned to sorrows. To all health is essential for life's enjoyment and pursuits, to the young and old, to the rich and poor. Are you in search of wealth? Health is necessary. Do you desire office and worldly honors of what avail would these be without health? The beating of the heart, the song of birds, the deep blue sky, the rustling of clouds, all have a poetic fascination which charms to the healthy in mind and body; but to the sick what are these but mockeries. The body diseased, the mind sickly o'er with the saddest of thoughts. Oh! that I may live to appreciate the blessings of health. This rich boon is within the reach of all. The remedy at hand in HEINITSH'S QUEEN'S DEW, the health panacea. Now is the time to try it. A 2
