court has been in session in this city during this week, and has disposed of but two cases, as yet. One of these is that of the State vs. Jas. McGuire, for surrender his money. Robinson did so, and escaped. McGuire was found guilty, the jury being out only ten minutes. The other case is that of the State vs. John McGuire, a brother of Jas. Mc-Guire, for adultery. The charges are that he left his young wife and shared some more Hiawatha poetry. At the the bed and board of Mrs. Maloney, the "hostess" of the Farmers' Home. The evidence in the case was closed yesterday, the pleas were made this morning. and the case was then given to the jury. We have not learned what their verdict was. The court goes to Dubuque next

The compa ny, which is the largest troupe traveling, is composed exclusively of colored artists, and the best in their respective roles. The Owasso (Mich.), Press says The performance of the Georgia Minstrels last night in Gould's Hall, was in every respect excellent—the music was very fine, better than the average band accompanying a minstrel troupe, the songs were well selected, and the pictures of Southern life were remarkably true to nature. The performance was greeted with rapturous appliause. We commend it as a first class minstrel company.
