BY HUGH CONWAY. Author of "Called Back." CHAPTER III.

No books: no idle, listless hours or me to-day. Plenty to do, plenty to think Farewell to my moody, sullen life. Farewell to my aimless, selfish existence. Henceforward I should have something worth livforward I should have something worth liv-ing for—worth dying for, if needs be! Phil-took me nearly half an hour getting there. ippa was coming to me to-day; coming in grief, it is true; coming as a sister comes to a brother. Ah! after all the weary, weary waiting, I shall see her to-day-to-morrow, worship and respect can in her own eyes bloom come back to her cheek, the bright smile play once more round her mouth, the dark eves again eloquent with happy thoughts. And then—and then! what should I care for the world or its sneers? To cause me to blame my haste. I must have whom, save myself, should I be answerable! missed her no doubt passed her on the road. after unbuttoning his coat, laid my hand on tainty. Then I might whisper in her ear: "Sweet, No; such a thing was impossible, The way his breast, I knew the man was dead. Be- My professional brethren who may happen which I could deck her resting place; for I remembered how passionately she loved even in the few minutes which I had spent Kii that Philippa meant to keep her promise.

I was now almost facing the wind. All at Till that moment I had been troubled by something like the doubt that after all she snow on my face. The wind moaned through might, upon calm reflection, rescind the the leafless branches on either side of the the corpse. It was in that moment I learned her agitated state, I ought to have been her coming seemed to a certainty.

another task to be done to-day. I set my night.

This fear quickened my steps. I forced from me a few minutes ago, madly, blindly night might have been left undone!

Although in many ways it adde the way in which it might be best per-formed. To-night I meant to stand face to face with that black-hearted secundrel face with that black-hearted secondrel known as Sir Mervyn Ferrand!

I consulted the time table. His letter named no particular hour; but I saw that if said, as I battled along, "she cannot have be carried out his expressed intention of being here to-night, there was but one train being here to-night, there was but one train."

I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can being here to-night, there was but one train.

I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can being here to-night, there was but one train.

I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can being here to-night, there was but one train.

I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can being here to-night, there was but one train.

I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can be indeed of an eye for an eye I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can be called a lookout—if, indeed, it can be called a lookout; for the whirling snow made everything, save what was within a save her form the coscape observation. The train was dustated at Reding at 7 o'clock. The weather was Reding at 7 o'clock. The weather was Reding at 7 o'clock. The weather was at Reding at 7 o'clock. The weather was cold; a man would naturally walk fast. Mrs. Wilson's house must be four miles round the station. Let me start from there income and shed it, not knowing what she did. Her frenzy must then have ginning, by the old code of an eye for an eye, to justify, although I regretted P pa's fearful act. Right or wrong, she was the woman I loved; and I swore I would save her from the consequences of her crime, even—fleavest help me!—if the accustion, when made, must fall upon my shoulders.

I kept a sharp lookout—if, indeed, it can be called a lookout; for the whiting snow ginning, by the old code of an eye for an eye, to justify, although I regretted P pa's fearful act. Right or wrong, she was the woman I loved; and I swore I would save her from the consequences of her crime, even—fleavest help me!—if the accustation, when made, must fall upon my shoulders.

Yet it was not the beginning. Yet sne nad shed it, not knowing that a lookout; for the white and shed it, not knowing that a lookout; for the white here as the indication. Her frenzy must then have been at its height. The idea of his coming what she did. Her frenzy must then have it he had it, not knowing that a lookout; for the white here with the she in order to justify, although I regretted P pa's fearful act. Right or wrong, she was the woman I loved; and I swore I would save her from the consequences of her crime, even—fleavest help me!—if the accustation, when made, must fall upon my shoulders.

Yet it was not the believe for an eye for an eye for an extent in she light. The idea of his coming that he had in her from the called a lookout; for the white her had code of an eye for an extent h before the train arrives, and I should probably meet him about half way on his journey. It would be dark, but I should know

It might pass without seeing her or even attention. My doing so on the tracting her attention. The tracting her attention is the was mad now as she sat by my fire, eyeing side of the road, where I placed it under the me with morose, suspicious glances. She Oh, why had she not come as promised! low bank on which one pays to death made
There on the open lonely road Sir Mervyn
There on the open lonely road Sir Mervyn Ferrand, coming gayly, and in his worldly cynicism certain of cajoling, buying off, or in some other way silencing the woman who had not love him. And for a dreary comfort I recalled the had in an evil day tensted to his honor and love, would meet, not her, but the man who from the first had sworn that a wrong to Philippa, should be more than a wrong to Philippa, would not, dared not love him. In the very middle of the high way for the first passersby to stumble against. To-morrow he would, of course, be found. To-morrow the hue and cry you ever hate a man? No, she could not, dared not love him. We winded not love him. In the very middle of the high way for the first passersby to stumble against. To-morrow he would, of course, be found. To-morrow the hue and cry you ever hate a man? No, she could not have the potient for the war. It is a well-known peculiarity of the disease that the patient turns with hatred from those who were the nearest and dearest to her. Fits of sullen, stubboru silence, alternating with fierce outbursts of vituperation, are the most common characteristics. Philippa, would be out! To-morrow Philippa, my philippa, would be out! To-morrow Philippa, well be out? To-morrow Philippa, would be out? To-morrow Philippa Philippa, would be out? To-morrow Philippa Philipp Philippa should be more than a wrong to bimself! He would meet this man and be called to account.

Stern and sinister as were my thoughts—freely and unreservedly as I record them, as indeed I endeavor in this tale to record everything—I do not wish to be misjudged. It is true that in my present mood I was bent upon avenging Philippa with my own hard-bent upon avenging Philippa with my craving for weng and unreserved to account the time wasted at starting, I should by now have met him. Perhaps he had not come, after all. Perhaps the look of the weather had frightened him, and he had decided to stay at Roding or the night.

I heaven the thoughts—freely my craving for vengence back to my mind. Where was left of Sir Mervyn read I even tried to close his glassy eyes, and I covered his frice with his own hand-bent were than a fright my craving for a lifetime, I turned and anguish enough for a lifetime, I turned and went in search of the poor unheppy construction.

I heaven the change wrought in the sufferer, the mean and in the change wrought in the sufferer, the mean and it is to prove the change wrought in the sufferer, the malady is by no means of such an alarming nature as it seems. In fact the majority of cases are treated with perfect success.

But all this is professional talk. Again I say that the discovery of Philippa's state of mind was an immense relief to me. My case the change wrought in the sufferer, the change wrought in the suf hand; true that I meant, if possible, to take at some time or another this man's life; but at least no thought of taking any advantage into my scheme of vengeance. I designed tion to stop the man on his path; to confront known to me; that Philippa had fled to me for sid; that she was now in my custody; and that L who stood in the position of her which, by the old-fashioned code of honor, was due from the man who had ruthlessly to a wange the wrongs of the woman I loved by the good old-fashioned way of a life against a life.

Traily, as I said, I had now plenty to live for?

The bours went by, yet Philippa camanot I grew restless and unasay as the dusk began to make the road, no which I gazed almost continually, dim and indistinct. When the bong dark night had lairly begun, my restlessmest turned into faar. I walked out of my house and paced my garden to and fro. I biamed myself for karving yielded no lightly to Philippa's wish—her command, rather—that I should on no account fatch her. But then, wheneves did I resist a wish, much less a command, of hers? Oh, that I had been firm this once!

The mow-storm of the previous evening had not lasted long—not long enough to thoroughtly whilen the world. The day had been firm this once!

The mow-storm of the previous evening had not lasted long—not long enough to thoroughtly whilen the world. The day had been firm this once!

The mow-storm of the previous evening had not lasted long—not long enough to thoroughtly whilen the world. The day had been firm this once!

The snow-storm of the previous evening had not lasted long—not long enough to thoroughtly whilen the world. The day had been firm this once!

The snow-storm of the previous evening had not lasted long—not long enough to thoroughtly whilen the world own. I have some firm this once!

The mow sale world and the snow went down. I was warmen, a change which I felt surp presaged a heavy downfall of snow or rain. There was a moon, a fiftul moon; for cloud were flying account fixed. Why does are not long that the right face, which now only aboved their at fregular intervals.

The minutes were pressing away. I gree syrone and statched. Why does also account from the fallen object.

As I did so, Philippa, with a still cry, readed horself from the one hand whose numbed grass alili son the to called the man and proceed to the fallen object.

As I did so, Philippa, with a still cry, readed horself from the one hand whose fallen on the first of th mind grew unbearable. At all hazards I must prevent Ferrand from meeting Philip-Oh, why had she not come as she prom go in search of Philippa. If I do not meet ippa's wild exclamation, "The wages of sin! The wages of sin!" what detains her, and if needful bear her away by force.

By this time my steps had brought me back to my own house. I called William, and told him I was going to walk up the road and meet my expected guest. If by any chance I should miss her he was to welcom her on my behalf, and tell her the reason for "Best take a lantern, sir," said William "moon'il be hidden, and them roads is precieus rough."

"I can't be bothered with that great horn affair," I said, rather testily. "Take the little one-the bull's eve-that's better than nothing," said William. To humor him I put it into my pocket.

I ran at the top of my speed to the house I rang the bell impetuously. opened by a maid servant. I inquired for Mrs. Farmer, knowing that Philippa had passed under this name to all except her torship and respect can in her own eves worship and respect can in her own eyes einstate my queen, I shall some day see the sloom come back to her cheek the bright morning been sent for. The first effect of this intelligence was to out as it happened I had bought the house must have taken the path to Roding. There wronged.

bumble garniture of the chamber into sur | needful, strike him to the ground. roundings meet for my queenly Philippa.

As I turned from the house I became from me the pistol she had let fall—the ware that a great and sudden change had very weapon which had done the dreadful

I raged at the thought! If only I knew that girl. Philippa was safely housed, nothing, in my present frame of mind, would have suite lonely road, in the midst of this wild storm, se men on his path; to confront him that his villainy was that Philippe had fiel to me that I had passed her on the road, was corwondering what had become of me. Should I go further or turn back! But what would be my feelings if I did the latter and found when I arrived home that she had not made the stern half. Shall I, indeed, do either? The train must now be close to Roding. In an hour everything may be lost. The man will see her before she leaves the house. He will persuade her. She will listen to his words; for did he not once love her? He must have loved her? After all, he broke the laws for the sake of possessing her, and—cursed thought!—she loved him then; and she is but a woman?

I must retrace my steps. I must see! I must see! I must see! I must know! Philippa is flying through the caided in the arrest. For ti at I seemed to care nothing; except that it might hinder it off flercely, and then star fed to her feet.

"You ask me to speak to you," she said; "You who have treated me like this! Oh.—cursed thought!—she loved him then; and she is but a woman!

I must retrace my steps. I must see! I must see! I must know! Philippa is flying through the caided in the arrest. For ti at I seemed to care nothing; except that it might hinder it off flercely, and then star fed to her feet.

"You ask me to speak to you," she said; "You who have treated me like this! Oh.—it is shameful! I come through storm and snew—come to you, who were to girl must be kept in seclusion and quiet for the caided in the arrest. For ti at I seemed to care nothing; except that it might hinder me from belping my poopegirl.

"You ask me to speak to you," she said; "You who have treated me like this! Oh.—it is shameful! I come through storm and snew—come to you, who were to girl must be kept in seclusion and quiet for I must retrace my steps. I must see! I aside.

with his life! Dead! Before I knewled beside! him and.

velcome guest fair accommodation for the going, to meet Ferrand. She may have sight.

I summoned my solid man. I told him last moment a desire to see the man once last moment a desire to see the man once of the sudden, without one moment's grace for strain myself, and on technical points be as before we sight.

names; simply to say that he had come for the luggage, and to ask if the lady had any message to send.

Then I sat down in the room which my that he was dead, and find herself once the luggage. Then I sat down in the room which my that is a sacred thing. Dead! Sir Mervyn Ferrand dead, and slain by Philippa!

The will plead for mercy; be kill one another, but now that he was dead that is a sacred thing. Dead! Sir Mervyn Ferrand dead, and slain by Philippa!

The will plead for mercy; be kill one another, but now that he was dead that is a sacred thing. Dead! Sir Mervyn Ferrand dead, and slain by Philippa!

The will plead for mercy; be kill one another, but now that he was dead the beautiful that the will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the basic show it that that the wall plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the basic show it that the wall plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the basic show it that the wall plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that the wall plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that he will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that the will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that the will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that the will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that he will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the country that the will plead for mercy; be kill one another. But now that he was dead the will be a shown in the state of the degradation of the shown in the country that the will be a shown in the country that the will plead for mercy; be a shown in the shown in the country that the Then I sat down in the room which my love would occupy and mused upon the strange but unhappy chance which was bringing her beneath my roof. I wished the first we mat. Let me haste on over. bringing her beneath my roof. I wished that I had an enchanter's wand to turn the take, pass her; meet her betrayer, and, if you ever hate a man!" I gave a low cry of Such being the might, upon caim renedien, rescald the resolution formed in her excitement. Now her coming seemed to a certainty.

Nevertheless, William brought no message; so there was nothing for me to do but lad I seen in England so fierce a snow had I seen in England so fierce a snow had late to real late corps. It was in that moment I learned her agitated state, I ought to have been warned, and have taken precautions; but I had done this thing. Over all my grief and horror this love rose paramount. At all cost I must save her from the had I seen in England so fierce a snow had been warned, and have taken precautions; but I had one this thing. Over all my grief and horror this love rose paramount. At all cost I must save her from the had I seen in England so fierce a snow had been warned, and have taken precautions; but I had one this thing. Over all my grief and horror this love rose paramount. At all cost I must save her from the had a stributed those fitful changes, the had one this thing. sage; so there was nothing for me to do but wait patiently until she chose to cross my threshold.

And like myself, Philippa was abroad, and all this myself, Philippa was abroad, and exposed to its full fury. Heavens! she might lose her way, and wander about all another task to be done to-day. I set my weather in this lonely part of the country.

so he killed it! All, all, all—even you— you, whom I truste!—leagued against me!" She was trembling with excitement. Her words ran one into the other. It was as travagant and frivolous nature, on my head. At last she was silent, and reseated has come under his notice. But I am not and furniture complete, so could offer my was no other. She had gone, even as I was A sneering smile yet lingered on his set writing these pages for the benefit of science; that my sister was coming on a visit to me; that my sister was coming on a visit to me; that she would sleep here to-night, but that heaping repreaches on his head—had masured out to him. At one moment he stood in short, then, Philippa had fallen a victorial method out to him. At one moment he stood in short, then, Philippa had fallen a victorial method out to him. He set to work in his imperturbable, methodical, but handy way to get Philippa's their eyes meet! Never again shall the room in trim. As soon as this was done, touch of even his finger contaminate her! of revenge left me. It was for the time pity, made core and Let me follow, and stand between her and sheer nity. I felt for the man, cut off in the Quently produced by a severe mental shock. warm-looking, I told him to borrow a horse the scoundrel. If they meet he will wound prime of his life. While I knew he was alive especially when that shock is accompanied and cart somewhere, and fetch the luggage her to the heart. Her pride will rise; she I could look forward to and picture the min-from Mrs. Wilson's. He was to mention no will threaten. Then the coward will try ute when we should stand coolly seeking to tistics show us that unarried women who

Such being the case, it is small wonder anguish as I remembered how I had hurled from me the pistol she had let fall—the to receive the intelligence that her marriage food. I ate, for I knew that I should want deed.

Killed by Philippa! Not in a sudden bursa should have been thrown into a state extremely susceptible to the attack of the dismowers. Alas! I had not seen a flower for months.

Then I drew cut Sir Mervyn Ferrand's letter, read it again and again, and cursed the writer in my heart.

William was away about two hours; then heaves designed to made his appearance with some boxes. I was delighted to see these tangible signs that Phillippa meant to keep her provided to the attack of the disconsidering what to do, the heavy clouds had banked and massed together. It was all but pitch-dark; so dark that I paused, and drawing from my pocket the lantern with which William's foresight had provided me, managed after several trials to light to the attack of the disconsidering what to do, the heavy clouds had banked and massed together. It was all but pitch-dark; so dark that I paused, and drawing from my pocket the lantern with which William's foresight had provided me, managed after several trials to light to the attack of the disconsidering what to do, the heavy clouds had banked and massed together. It was all but pitch-dark; so dark that I paused, and drawing from my pocket the lantern with which William's foresight had provided me, managed after several trials to light to the attack of the disconsidering what to do, the heavy clouds had banked and massed together. It was all but pitch-dark; so dark that I paused, and drawing from my pocket the lantern with which William's foresight had provided wrought must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then, the heart; must have seen him fall. Then, only then the heart; must have seen him fight against the white tempest, might be crouching under one of the banks, and if so Yet it was not the beginning of any she was mad when she drew the trigger; was pressing upon it. 1 felt braced up to use every effort, and thoroughly justified in following whatever course I thought best. Who knew whither her horror may have driven her! It needs but to find Philippa and myself. For in one short night! I clinched my teeth let me feel her pulse. As I expected, I found I had the road all the road to myself. No one was abroad in such weather. Indeed,

This did not alarm me much, as in the course of my practice I had seen several of these with a find the probability discovered in the second of the probability of the control of the probability of the p

Mr. Wilson's on my way to Roding. Yet now I dered not leave my own house. Any moment might bring Philippa. What would she think if I was not there to receive and welcome her?

Five more precious moments gone! I stamped in my rage. After all, I can only do one-half of my trask; the sweet, but not the stern half. Shall I, indeed, do either!

I must retrace my steps. I must see! I

But she kept a stony silence—kept her eyes still turned from mine. At last I called her by her name, and, bunding down, looked into her face.

Its expression was one of sullen anger, and moreover, anger which seemed to deepen as she heard my voice. She made a kind of contemptuous gesture as if waving me saide.

But she kept a stony silence—kept her eyes still turned from mine. At last I called her by her name, and, bunding down, looked into her face.

Its expression was one of sullen anger, and moreover, anger which seemed to deepen as she heard my voice. She made a kind of contemptuous gesture as if waving me saide.

but the frame of a woman. She must soon grow exhausted, perhaps sink senseless on the road. Nevertheless, the dreadful fears which are growing in my mind must be set all cost I must know what has happened!

Once more I turned and faced the storm. Heavens! anything might happen on such a night as this! I went on and on, flashing my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judgel that Philippa had seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past the seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past the seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road. I went some distance past the seemed by my lantern as I went on the centre and each side of the road and faced the storm. The series to see the set to see the set to see the set to pa. Oh, why had she not come as she promised? Could it be she was detained against her will? In spite of her uninterested manner I distrusted the woman I had seen last night. It is now past seven o'clock. Philippa's house, from which I had reckoned my time, was nearly three miles away. I must give up my scheme of vengeance. I must give up my scheme of vengeance. I must give up my scheme of vengeance. I must give up my scheme of Philippa. If I do not meet in the middle of the road. I went some distance past that spot where I judged that Philippa had swept by me. Then suddenly with a cry of the middle of the highway, illumined by the disk of light cast by my lantern, lay a whitened mass, and as my eye fell upon it I knew only too welf the meaning of Philippa. If I do not meet in the dead is known—the moment with meeting the death she would be insane. Yet, what help was there for it? The moment with meeting the meaning of Philippa's house, from which I had reckoned my time, was nearly three miles away. I must give up my scheme of vengeance. I must give up my passing under the name of Mrs. Farmer, will be sought and found. And then—and then! Even if she did not die at once-even if much as I could do to follow them; yet the above is but a brief condensation of what she said. With unchecked volubility she have represented and accusawhether convicted or acquitted, the deed was done by her. To know that all Engand is talking of her wrongs and her venge-ance. Horrible! Horrible! It shall never head. At last she was silent, and reseated herself in her former attitude; and the sullen, discontented, ill-used look again settled on her face.

And yet, although I, who loved her above all the world, was the object of her fierce reproaches, no words I had yet listened to came more sweetly to my ear than these. A great joy swept through me; a tide of relief bore me to comparative happiness. Why, for her sake, did I not hide the dead man where none would find him? Why did I not rife his pockets, so that suspicion should have pointed to a vulgar murderer—some one who had killed that night accomplished size was morally irnocent. Philippa was not accountable

Then I might whisper in her ear: "Sweet, let the past vanish from our lives as a dream. Let happiness date from to-day."

Although Philippa would grace my poor cottage for one night only, I had a thousand preparations to make for her comfort. Fortunately I had a spare room, and, moreover, a furnished one. Not that I should have troubled, when I went into my seclusion, about such a superfairly as a guest-chamber; about such a superfairly as a guest-chamber; but as it have need I had bought the house but as it have need I had bought the house.

No; such a thing was impossible. The way happen was dead. Be first dismal day I saw from the man was dead. Be for I turned the lantern on his white face I have practiced as a doctor, I am sorely tempted, as I needed little professional skill to determine the stage of my story, to give in detail the part consequences of her delirious act. But for her something must be done. How aver the consequence of her delirious as the wall grow was a narrow one. The moon still gave some light. If I had neet Philippa I must have seen me, and had paid for his sin with his life! It needed little professional skill to determine the consequence of her delirious act. But for her something must be done. How aver the consequence of her delirious act the would state of mind found myself may not in reach this stage of my story, to give in detail the particulars which is long since I have practiced as a doctor, I am sorely tempted, as I may aver the consequence of her delirious act but the grewsom alternative, I could do not in some variety of the story in prediction.

Way refessional brethren who may happen would grace my poor and ternative, I could do not in sever the consequence of her delirious act they are and deeper and d tions to go to the Antipodes with imperturbability. He merely expressed a doubt as out with fatigue; yet I dared not sleep. o whether any one would be able to get to the mania returned, what might happen

London to-morrow on account of the snow.

I walked to the window and looked out.

were I not at hand to restrain Philippa's actions? My hope that the madness had The night was still one mad whirl of snow flakes. The window-panes were half covered erly treated, to return, was a growing one,

you can get to London."
"Oh, I can get to Roding right enough!" reached Roding, they were to come to my horses to drag them there. He was also to get me a few drugs that I might want. William said no more. He nodded, to show that he understood me; and I knew if spite of the love I bore her, I believe that, had I thought such a prayer would be answered, lashes might never again be lifted.

There was little wind now; it had dropp I knew, about an hour ago. The world, so far as I could see, was clad in white: but the snow lay unevenly. The wind had blown i might be counted by inches; against my ga William now made his appears prepared some breakfast for himself, and then, having done justice to it, started for Roding. It occurred to me that he might be the first to find the object which lay on Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Green & Bentley. cause him to miss the train, this mattered little. I was now calmly awaiting the incovery. However, as I wanted the nurses,

The preliminary treatment was siming must stop you," He touched his hat in a "Flave I bern ill long, Bash?" she asked.

"Not very long. You are going to get better soon," "Yes; and here I mean to keep you. Do "Very weak. Basil, I have dreamed such

She was, indeed, as weak as a child; but for the time, at least, she v s perfectly same. I could have cried for joy as I heard her faint but collected words. I ventured scribed, but had not as yet met with-wher the patient awakes from a long, artificially produced sleep perfectly free from all maniacal symptoms. If this were so with permanent, I knew that a few weeks' care quite restore her to health. Even as this comforting thought came to me, I remem-bered the peril in which she stood. To I dreaded might happen, and sweep away She was now fully awake, and perfectl seeing she was bring in peaceful silence, thought it better to leave her. As I quitte her room I draw down the blind, fearing that the whirling snow might bring recollections which it was my one wish to keep from invading her mind. The long, dreary day wore away. The light faded, and another night began. Philippa still lay caim, silent, and almost apa-thetic. I did nothing to rouse her. I went really left my patient, not, if she were prop-

open," I said. "If you can get to Roding, London nursing institutions were within my and entirely harmless. Try it; it costs walls.

The train had, of course, been late, very and $1.00. For sale by Green & to take a letter to one of the Nursing Institu-tions, and bring back two nurses with him. And iron had conquered, and at last it did thirteen States, yet the largest city of the Roding. There William, knowing within its borders has only 20,000 popmy dire necessity, offered such a magnificen carriage proprietor who was willing to make the attempt to force two horses and a car riage over six miles of road between Rodin and my house. The attempt was successful although the rate of progression was slow; and William triumphantly ushered his After giving them time for rest and refreshment, I explained the nature of the powers, By calling on Green & Bentley case, set out the treatment I wished to be druggists, you can obtain a sample box adopted, and then led them to Philippa. I free of charge, which wileft the poor girl in their charge for the of its curative qualities. night, then went to take the sleep of which I stood so much in need. But before going to bed I saw William.

dreaded to hear him say what gruesome our wives .- D'Harleville. sight he had seen that morning; yet I was bound to learn if the deed had yet been "Did you manage to get to Roding all "I managed all right, sir," said William,

"Snow deep on the read?" can be permanently cured by the use "Not so deep as I fancied 'twould be. all of this great remedy. Price 50 cents. been feet deep this morning. What must it Green & Bentley. be now, I wonder? Something like the Arctic regions, I should think, sir?"
For the first time for hours and hours ray of hope flashed across me. William had walked that lonely road this morning, and noticed nothing except the drifted snow! mbered bow I piaced the dead man in th little hollow at the bottom of the bank Could it be that the kindly, merciful snow which I have already described as beginning to form in a winding-sheet, had hidden and buried him! That a pure white, shape less heap, which told no tales, concealed for a while the dark deed from the world? Oh that Philippa were well enough to leave this place to-morrow! We might fly and less no trace behind us. She might never kno fearful secret would be mine alone. A but den it would be, but one which I might easily find strength enough to bear. Bear it! I could bear it, and be happ; for some thing told me that, could I but save her fro the peril which menaced her, Philippa and the only conqueror of such love as mir Once more I looked out into the night Still the snow-flakes whirled down. Oh brave, kind snow! Fail, fall, fall! Pile t masses on the dead wretch. Hide him deep forever! Save my love and me! [To be Continued.] Bucklen's Arnica Salve. THE BEST SALVE in the world for uts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheun Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns and all Skin Eruppay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded in your bosom. Fall for weeks, for month

An asp would render its sting more venomous by dipping it into the hear wheel and screw engines, the aggregate horse power of which is 13,000. No other vessel has as powerful engines.

But I was spared the responsibility. She stirred on the couch. Her turned languidly on the pillow. Her dark eyes opened, closed, and opened again. She looked at me in a dazzi manner, not at first seeming to know me, or to understand why I was near her, or where she was. A prey to the wildest anxiety, I leaned over her and waited until she apoke.

Little by little her bewilderment seemed to leave her. Her eyes rested with curious inquiry upon mina. "Pasil," she said faintly, but in a tone of surprise, "you here? Where am I?"

"Under my reof—your brother's roof," I said.

"ANAL INJECTOR free with each bottle of Shiloh's Catarrh itemedy. Price 50 cents. Sold by Green & Bentley.

"Aht I remember," she said, with a deep sigh. Then she closed her cyse, and once more assumed to steep.

What did she remember? It seemed to me too great a meray to expect that those hours of oblivious had effected a cure, but my hope was that she did not remember what had happened when she met Sir Mer you Ferrand on the road it was almost teembling with excitorant. I was longing to really know in what state her mind was. Seites, I thought she had slept as long as was great for hor. I took her hauss and established by name.

Chase more sole opened har sym. They showed to Part of a be dislike he me hauss and make the longing of the control of the control of New Mexico, for pure air to reliave Consumption, is all a mistake. Any reasonable man would use Dr. Research's Congle and Laing Syrup for Consumption in all its first appears to Part of a be dislike he me.

This medicine, combining Iron with pure vegetable tonics, quickly and completely Cures Dyspeps. Indigestion, Wealness, Impure Blood, Mainria, Chilis and Fevers, and Newalagia.

It is an unfailible remedy for Diseases of the Kidneys and Liver.

It is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It does not injure the teeth, cause headsche, or produce consipation—other Iron medicines do. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, aids the assimilation of food, relieves Heartburn and Belching, and strengthens the muscles and nerves.

For Intermittent Fevers, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, &c., it has no equal.

Ap The genuine has above trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other.

Made only by BROWN CREMICAL CO., BALFINGRE WA

Whatever dreadful deed the poor girl had that night accomplished she was morally innocent. Philippa was not accountable for her actions!

As a doctor I read the truth at once. The rapid flow of words, the changing moods, the vehement excitement, the sullen air, the groundless suspicions—one and all carried conviction, and told me what was wrong. Mrs. Wilson's words of yesterday, which warned me that Philippa's health should be inquired into, added absolute certainty.

My professional brethren who may happen to read this will understand me when I say Whatever dreadful deed the poor girl had that and willed him for mere plunder? Why did I not, at least, destroy any letters or papers which were about him? Identification might then have been rendered difficult, and perhaps been delayed for weeks. In that time I might have saved her.

Why do I not do this now! I started to my feet; then sank back into my chair. No; not even for Phillipa's sake could I go go again to that spot. If I did so, I should return as mad as shie is now.

Not being able to bring myself to adopt the grewsome alternative, I could do nothing save wait events—nothing, at least, to word a countable him for mere plunder? Why did I not, at the appearance of my faithful William and the nurses.

Would they be able to reach us in such weather? It was still snowing fiercely. For more than twenty-four hours the mad without intermission. Indeed, that storm which burst upon the world as I turned from Philippa's house on the preceding night is now historical; it was the beginning of the heaviest and longest fall which the record of fifty years can show. For two nights and a day the snow came down in what may almost be called drifting down in what may almost be called drifting made that those selling them should be careful to instruct all persons handling your goods that they are medicines, which was the made that the appearance of my faithful William and the nurses.

Would they be able to reach us in such the nurses.

Would they be able to reach us in such Rascal! That word on the lips of a

SAMPLE FREE OF CHARGE

FREE! FREE!! FREE!!! NEW DISCOVERY FOR PILES. ing. A single application will con-

CURE FOR PILES.

HOME BITTERS CO.'S MEDICINES Isaac H. Sturgeon, Revenue Collector woman, addressed to a too daring man.

We meet in society many attractive women whom we would fear to make The first symptom of Files is intense itching at night after getting warm. This unpleasant sensation is immediate sanko's Pile Remedy. Piles in all forms, Itch, Salt Rheum, and Ringworm

TO THE FRONT! ALWAYS AT THE HEAD

Never can be Undersold.

Morris L. Levi

Will say to the People of Mahaska County and his old Customers, that he is always prepared to give them the Largest Stock to select from that there is in the City of Oskaloosa, consisting of MEN'S OVERCOATS

OF ALL GRADES. Suits of Every Grade and Style,

In Men's, Youth's, Boy's and Children's, in Endless Variety; and will guarantee that if you will call on the OLD RELIABLE woman by her word soon finds he has You will always find that Goods warranted by him will be as represented, and those that are not will be made satisfactory. I also have a large stock of and large stock of all kinds of Hats and Caps.

Merchant Tailoring. have the Largest and Finest line of Imported and Domestic Worsteds, Cassimeres, Beavers, Meltons and Chinchillas, and everytning kept in a first-class Merchant Tailoring Establishment, with a good and hands to manufacture them.

FIRST-CLASS CUTTER

Southwest Corner of the Square, Oskaloosa, Iowa. drifted and blown up to one side, like. I Manufactured by the Dr. Bosanko's never seen such a thing. Drift must have Medicine Company, Piqua, O. Sold by Agent for the Oskaloosa Whang Leather Gloves.

MORRIS L. LEVI,

1885.

BOYER & BARNES

DESIRE TO MAKE A FEW ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF CUSTOMERS

And the Public Generally.

Dress Goods Department.

AND WAS SELECTED WITH GREAT CARE. THE STOCK IS VERY FULL AND COMPLETE, Of Elegant Fall Designs and Patterns.

THE LADIES ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO CALL AND EXAMINE THESE GOODS.

OF OUR STORE IS IN CHARGE OF MR. WINTER AS CUTTER WHO WILL

Fit You in the Latest Fall Fashion.

SQUARE, NO. 103, WHERE BARGAINS PREVAIL.

Boyer & Barnes.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y Being the Great Central Line, affords avelers, by reason of its unrivaled geographical position, the shortest and best route between the East, Northeast and Southeast, and the West, Northwest and Southwest. It is literally and strictly true, that its connections are all of the princ of road between the Atlantic and the Pacific. By its main line and branches it reaches Chicago, Blue Island June., Auburn June., Joliet, Seneca, Feoria, Otiawa, La Salle, Genesco, Moline and Rock Island, a Illinois; Davenport, Muscatine, Washington, Keokuk, Knoxville, Oskaloosa, Fairfield, Des Meines, West Liberty, Iowa City, Atlantic, Avoca, Andubon, Harlan, Guthrie Center and Council Bluffs, in Iowa; Gallatin, Trenton, Cameron and Kansas City, in Missouri, and Leavenworth and Atchison in Kansas, and the bundreds of cities, villages and towns intermediate. The

"GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE," As it is familiarly called, offers to travelers all the advantages and comforts incident to a smooth track, safe bridges, Union Depots at all connecting points, Fast Express Trains, composed of COMMODIOUS, WELL VENTILATED, WELL HEATED, FINELY UPHOLSTERED and ELEGANT DAY COACHES; a line of the MOST MAGNIFICENT RECLINING CEAIR CARS ever built, PULLMAN'S latest designed and handsomest PALACE SLEEPING and BUFFET CARS, and DINING CARS that are acknowledged by press and people to be the FINEST RUN UPON ANY ROAD IN THE COUNTRY, and in which superior meals are served at the low rate of SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS BACH. THREE TRAINS each way between CH. CAGO and the MISSOURI RIVER. TWO TRAINS each way between CHICAGO and MINNEAPOLIS and ST. PAUL, via the famous ALBERT LEA ROUTE. The New and Direct Line, via Seneca, Kankakee and Cincinnati, recently opened for business between the West and Newport News, Richmond, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and La Fayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Paul, Minneapolis and intermediate points, is rapidly becoming a favorite with Through Passengers. Through Cars for all Through Passengers on Fast Express Trains.

For more detailed information, see Maps and Folders, which may be obtained as well as Tickets, at all principal Ticket Offices in the United States and Canada or of

R. R. CABLE,
Pres't & Gen'l Manager,
GHICAGO. HARDWARE. Charles Huber,

E. ST. JOHN, Gen'l "h't & Pass'r Ag't,

HARDWAREI

Stoves and Tinware.

Builders' Hardware, Nails, Glass and Tools.

I AM AGENT TOR

Favorite, Climax and Acorn Stoves. SOLE AGENT FOR THE Glidden Barbed Wire.

The best in the world. The best goods at fair prices is my motio. Call and see me when in want of anything in my line.

C. Huber,