SERIOUS TROUBLE FOR STEVENS

Knocked Down and Walked on by Four Koreans who Thought he Insulted Their Country

San Francisco, Cal., March 24.—D. W. Stevens, the diplomatic adviser of the Korean council of state, who arrived here Friday from Korea, was attacked and knocked down by a committee of four Koreans last night in the lobby of his hotel.

The prompt arrival of some of the guests of the hotel undoubtedly saved Stevens' life, as the attackers said they intended killing the man. As it was he was severely bruised.

As far as can be learned the cause of the attack is due to remarks made by Stevens on his arrival from Korea to the effect that "Korea has been greatly benefited by Japanese protection." This statement made the local Koreans angry and they appointed a committee to mete out vengeance with the above result.

IT DOES THE BUSINESS

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business. I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." Twenty-five cents at all druggists.

A pound of paper and two packs of envelopes to match (all of the very best quality) 50c. at the Postoffice Drugstore.

Forefather Corn Whiskey

Long years before the "manufacture" and sale of whiskey became so commercialized that unprincipled concerns resorted to brazen and harmful adulterations, we began distilling our Forefather Corn Whiskey by the plain, open-fire process, known as "Primitive Method." Year in and year out we have adhered to this same old honest process.

Many of the most renowned physicians, after exhaustive analyses, have determined that Corn Whiskey, properly distilled and thoroughly matured, possesses greater nutritive value than any other. It is mildly stimulating, creates appetite, and materially assists the digestive organs to a better assimilation of food, thereby giving nourishment and strength to the entire body, and acts as a soothing builder of nerve tissue.

The perfect corn whiskey is Rose's Forefather Corn Whiskey, rich in the natural nutrition of the grain, delicious in flavor, and delicate in aroma, it is particularly acceptable to weak or delicate stomachs.

BRIDGES-FORD

Beautiful Spring Wedding in Lynchburg, Va.

One of the prettiest spring weddings which has been seen here for many a day was that which took place last evening at the home of Mr. James L. Ford, 1105 Jackson street, when Miss S. Madeline Ford became the bride of Mr. Allen Wheelus Bridges, of Ocala, Florida.

Promptly at 7 o'clock to the inspiring strains of Mendelssohn's march, skillfully rendered by Mrs. Randolph Wheeler, the bridal party descended the stairs and proceeded to a beautiful improvised altar of ferns and palms in the parlor, around which they formed a half circle.

First came the little ribbon girls, four in number, Charlotte McMurray, Susie McCutcheon, Mildred Hudson and Julia Howard, all beautifully dressed in white lingerie over silk.

Next in order came the groomsmen, Mr. Joseph A. Ford and Mr. Colcombe A. Payne, in full dress and wearing natural orange blossom boutonnieres, obtained from Florida. After them came the matrons of honor, Mrs. Sue D. Feaster, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Kiah Thornton Ford, sister of the bride, both gowned in chiffon over satin, with lace and pearl trimmings, wearing wreaths of natural orange blossoms, and carrying maidenhair ferns, the two presenting a picture of queenly grace and beauty.

Fourth in order was the winsome maid of honor, Miss Lucy Hugood Ford, in a costume of white messaline, with duchess lace and chiffon trimmings, and carrying white carnations; she, too, wearing a wreath of natural orange blossoms.

Following her came the little ringbearer, Bonnet Mosley Venable, in a costume of white serge and bearing upon a silver tray the ring, mystic symbol of the union of heart and hand and life.

The little ringbearer was the fore-runner of the bride, who appeared leading upon the arm of her brother, Mr. K. T. Ford, looking the embodiment of maidenly loveliness, gowned in a lace robe over ivory satin, having her veil caught with natural orange blossoms, and carrying bride's roses.

They were met at the altar by the groom, Mr. Allen Wheelus Bridges, attended by his best man, Mr. L. N. Green, of Ocala, Fla.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. McMurray, pastor of the Floyd street Presbyterian church, and the solemn words were pronounced, which made them man and wife.

After the ceremony a delightful reception was held, thus affording the large gathering of relatives and friends an opportunity of showering their congratulations.

The whole lower floor presented a very attractive appearance, with the elaborate decorations of ferns, palms, narcissus and jonquills—the color scheme of green and white prevailing in the parlor, and yellow and white in the dining room and hall, and over it all a mellow glow was shed by numerous candelabra. Delicious refreshments were served, and punch was ladled in the hall by Mrs. Edward Murrell and Mrs. Wilcox Brightwell.

Mrs. J. W. Jenks presided over the bride's book, which was a parting gift to the bride from the infant Sunday school class, which she had taught so faithfully for several years.

Miss Bessie Allen was custodian of the bride's cake, and the cutting of it afforded much merriment; Miss Carrie Allen capturing the ring, Miss Bessie Allen the dime and Miss Rangley the darning needle.

The bride has ever been a favorite amongst a large circle of adoring friends in this city, where she is well known. Of a loving and social nature, she acquired friends easily, and she will be sadly missed in the church circle, being a member of the choir, and always foremost in every good work in the church society, the "Earnest Workers," of which she was treasurer.

The groom is prominent in church and business relations in his native town of Ocala, Fla., and has many friends everywhere throughout the state.

The presents were unusually numerous and handsome, thus attesting the popularity of both bride and groom. Conspicuous among these presents were two chests of silver and a silver service.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Maggie L. Ford and Miss Annie L. Ford, of Martinsville, Va.; Mrs. W. N. Ford, of Axton, Va.; Miss Lizzie Chambers, of the "Red House"; Mr. L. N. Green, of Ocala, Fla., and Mrs. Sue D. Feaster, of Micahoy, Fla.

An interesting feature connected with the wedding entertainment was an informal, but most enjoyable meeting of the Social Square Club, held in honor of the bride on the evening of March 13th, at the home of Mrs. Walter H. Jones, 1112 Jackson street. The bride was a popular member of this club, and at this meeting she was presented with a very handsome silver pitcher, as a token of their love and esteem.

Many toasts were drunk to her health, and many good wishes expressed that will follow her to her distant home in the Sunny South.—Lynchburg, (Va.) News.

WORMOLOGY

Should be studied by every parent. If your child is nervous, fretful, starts in its sleep, is pasty faced, has rings under its eyes, always seems hungry, is not gaining weight, you can be sure the trouble is worms. White's Cream Vermifuge is an absolute cure for worms. Is its own purgative. Sold by Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.
