H. A. Waterman, the popular haberdasher, is giving away to his customers a very serviceable dust pan, with handle attached. These pans are handy for housekeepers to have, as they relieve sweeping of one of its disagreeable features—stooping down to take up the dust. If you haven't secured one of these pans you should lose no time in calling at Mr. Waterman's place of business.

Explaining the Saucepan. Many people have been puzzled as to why the pictures of Japanese heroes should represent men carrying small shields. It is now explained that the articles carried are not shields, but saucepan lids, which are used as weapons, and contests between saucepan lids and swords are enlightening the spectators at the Royal Horticultural hall in London. It seems the legend runs that about 200 years ago, a famous Japanese fencer was busy stirring something in a saucepan, when he was attacked by a man with a sword. He had nothing to defend himself with, so snatched up a saucepan lid and succeeded in parrying the attacks of his enemy.

Mrs. Burba has been a frequent visitor to Ocala and her passing will be sincerely regretted.

The "Seven Seas." The seven seas were spoken of as long ago as the beginning of the Christian era, and the phrase may have been introduced centuries before that. The number seven has long been regarded as symbolical of perfection or completeness, and from time immemorial it has been a favorite among the Hebrews and other people of eastern lands. The phrase is frequently used by modern poets, prose writers, etc., referring somewhat figuratively to the total water area of the globe. According to the geographers, there are only five oceans—the Atlantic, the Pacific, the Arctic, the Antarctic and the Indian. The "seven seas" means these five, with the Atlantic divided into North and South Atlantic and the Pacific divided into North and South Pacific.

"Cats" and "Dogs" in Poker. "Cats" and "Dogs" are extra "hands" or combinations of cards that are played in some games that are not conducted strictly according to Hoyle. A "little dog" is a deuce to a seven, without a pair, and a "big dog" is a nine to an ace, without a pair; a "little cat" is a trey to an eight, without a pair, and a "big cat" is an eight to a king, without a pair. A "little dog" beats a straight, and a "big dog" beats a "little dog" and a "little cat" beats either kind of "dog." Accordingly, "dog" and "cat" flushes beat straight flushes, and in a game where they are played the highest hand that can be held is a "big cat" flush, consisting of a king, queen, jack, ten and eight.

A WORD TO THE COLORED FARMERS

Editor Star: As the time is fast approaching for our next county fair, I wish to urge every colored farmer in Marion county to bestir themselves in order that we can make a splendid exhibit. County fairs are the time-keepers of progress and many benefits are derived through friendly competition and comparison of products. Therefore we should manifest an interest in them, not alone for financial gain, but to show the progress that we are making as a race along scientific lines as well as in other pursuits of life, and also as an encouragement and inspiration to higher attainments. I appeal to every colored farmer in Marion county to use their best efforts and let us strive to make a creditable showing in our next annual county fair. A. D. Baldwin.

GOOD TASTE IN A MONUMENT is as much a requisite as artistic design and execution. It is found in every memorial stone we erect. Whether the stone chosen be of the simplest or the most ornate description it will always be within the bounds of good taste if ordered here. Book of designs shown any time anywhere.

Was Very Weak

"After the birth of my baby I had a back-set," writes Mrs. Mattie Crosswhite, of Glade Spring, Va. "I was very ill; thought I was going to die. I was so weak I couldn't raise my head to get a drink of water. I took . . . medicine, yet I didn't get any better. I was constipated and very weak, getting worse and worse. I sent for Cardui."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

"I found after one bottle of Cardui I was improving," adds Mrs. Crosswhite. "Six bottles of Cardui and . . . I was cured, yes, I can say they were a God-send to me. I believe I would have died, had it not been for Cardui." Cardui has been found beneficial in many thousands of other cases of womanly troubles. If you feel the need of a good, strengthening tonic, why not try Cardui? It may be just what you need.

Vagaries of Youth. There's an attractiveness in youth that is irresistible. Rosy cheeks and the sparkling eyes alone do not cause this. There is something in the elastic step, the swelling muscles and the mental alertness that commands attention. There's an inspiration in the hopeful eyes that turn toward the future with the confidence with which everything is approached. In fact, the whole being is charged with so much of assurance that we sometimes wonder whether there is any limit to youth's possibilities. It's the greatest period of life and when properly encouraged lays foundations that make permanent the successes of the future. God bless hoping, confident youth.
