—On Sunday two went out for a drive—a fellow and his best one, and after heading south a while they loped it off for Creston. When midway to the journey's end and both were gay and talky, the sudden stopping of the rig gave proof the horse was balky. The fellow raved and tore his hair; his words were not divine, ah; so as he couldn't go that way, he went back to Medina. (Ask the Shrimp).

Mrs. Lee Elliott, with a party of her friends, are touring the sights of some of our near by towns, which is certainly worthy of commendation. For instance, the salt works at Ritman, match works at Wadsworth and the Barber farm at Barberton and while we are thinking about it, we wonder how many of us are appreciating the beautiful sights we are surrounded with here in our own Medina county and during these autumn days with the finely tinted forests and all the songs and calls of the birds. Really it fills one full of admiration and gratitude until our hearts respond to the song of the poet who wrote:

"A mist on the far horizon,
The tender, infinite sky;
The ripe, rich tint of the corn field,
And the wild geese soaring high.
And all over upland and lowland,
The glow of the golden rod;
Some of us call it autumn,
Others call it God."

Mrs. Margaret Little, who has been sojourning in our rural district, has shipped her household goods to Columbus, where she will spend the winter.
