

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to consume and was so much relieved...

A BIG STRIKE.

Six Thousand Weavers at Fall River, Mass.

Refuse to Go to Work Until an Advance in Wages is Granted.

Manufacturers Attended at the Lent of the Strike—Fifty Mills Shut Down on Account of the Trouble.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 12.—The weavers' strike for an advance in wages which occurred yesterday is one of the most general in the history of labor troubles here. The weaving departments of fifty mills are practically shut down and about 6,000 weavers are idle. Those who refused to strike do not gather more than half enough to keep the mills going. The extent of the strike is quite a surprise to the manufacturers, who expected that only a few mills in the outskirts would be involved. They thought the help would be so much divided as to the wisdom of a strike at the present time that this circumstance would disorganize the movement in a few days. The operations are very much placed at the unanimous sentiment of resistance displayed in their ranks and predicted early yesterday. They claim that they can afford to maintain the strike for seven weeks. It is the prevailing impression that the manufacturers can give an advance at present prices for cloth and still afford to curtail production for a few short periods. The board of trade says, however, that no advance will be given and a bitter struggle is anticipated.

Three thousand weavers met in mass meeting in the park yesterday morning. Reports to the executive committee of the union showed that the weavers in every print cloth mill in the city had quit work and that the strike was general. Weavers on wide goods at a few mills had gone to work, but were expected to come out. Addresses were made by members of the executive committee congratulating the weavers on the success of the strike, as shown by the large number of weavers out and urging all to stand together. A New York newspaper man who is a member of the Central Labor Union of that city also addressed the crowd, urging united action and the importance of organization. It was announced at the meeting that the agent of the Pocasset mill had offered a compromise and wanted to meet a committee of weavers to listen to a proposition which he had to make. Another meeting will be held at the park at ten o'clock this morning.

Some of the mills advertised that the wages of strikers were ready on application. The strikers were warned by their friends that this was a trick, and did not apply. Had they done the work they would have forfeited what is due them for weaving the cloth now on the looms.

Abandoned Oil Field Again Producing. FRANKLIN, Pa., March 12.—The completion of an oil well at the Rynd farm, on Oil Creek, Saturday, which started off at the rate of forty barrels per day with no signs of decreasing, has caused a revival of interest in an old field thought to have been thoroughly exhausted two decades ago, and there is a rush for leases. This week a number of new wells will be in progress of drilling, and operations will be lively in the vicinity of the new well. In view of the large wells recently struck in the territory supposed to be exhausted at Pleasantville, Shamberg, Pithole, Walnut Bend and at points in Rockland and Cranberry townships, many are of the belief that Venango County is still a good oil field. The Standard Oil Company seems to consider this the case, and its agents are taking up leases in several localities and oil operations are again booming.

A connecting link will be run from the Valley road here to strike the Cleveland, Youngstown & Pittsburgh at Paris, eleven miles east of here.

NOT YET SETTLED.

The Fate of the Steamer Nipsic Causes Some Anxiety

Among Naval Officers at Washington, Who Fear That the Worst Reports May be True.

And That the Reported Battle With a German Gunboat Will be Confined by Official Accounts.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—State and Navy Department officers generally place no credence whatever in the reported battle between the German corvette Olga and the United States war vessel Nipsic, in Samoa waters. At the State Department no information concerning the reported battle has yet been received. The department has taken no steps to ascertain whether the published accounts are true or not.

Commander Walker, the chief of the Bureau of Navigation, does not feel in the least worried about the alarming rumors. He thinks the department would have received information of the battle had it occurred, and he does not care to cable to the naval officer stationed at Auckland for any information. "There's not a word of truth in any of these rumors," said the commander yesterday, "and I do not pay the slightest attention to them."

Meanwhile naval officers and officials of the State Department are waiting anxiously for a confirmation or a denial of the story. While most of the naval officers are disposed to place little credence in the accounts, there are still a few who believe that an engagement has taken place.

Speaking about Samoan affairs, an officer of the State Department said yesterday: "It would be very satisfactory to keep back news from Samoa for a short time. All the news from Samoa to Auckland are carried on German vessels, and if the office of that government is not cut off all sources of information they could prevent any news whatever from reaching the islands. The rumor that the Nipsic has been destroyed is hardly to be believed, though Bismarck may have, while trying to escape, negotiations, given some orders to the officers of the steamer to bring matters to a crisis, and if this is the case we may have been fighting between the two naval forces and Germany may be keeping back the news."

Four United States steamships Trenton and Valparaiso were due at Samoa before the end of February, though their arrival has not yet been reported. It is expected, however, that word will be received from one or both of them within the next few days. The Valparaiso was expected to arrive first, as she had the advantage over the Trenton of being able to call at Honolulu on her way out. These vessels would both report their arrival as soon as possible by the first vessel leaving for Auckland after their arrival at Samoa. If Admiral Kimery found any serious change in the state of affairs at the islands, he would not likely wait for a trading vessel, but would send one of his own vessels to Auckland with dispatches, unless the situation was so serious that he could not spare one of the vessels of his small fleet.

Inventor Ericsson's Funeral. NEW YORK, March 12.—The funeral of the late Captain John Ericsson, the world-renowned engineer and inventor, took place from Trinity Church yesterday. The sacred edifice was crowded with friends and admirers of the deceased. Two officers from each ship at the navy yard and one officer from each department were present. Near the altar a rail stood a cross about three feet high, composed of ivy, lilies of the valley and pansies. It was a tribute from the son of the deceased, Baron J. J. Ericsson, now in Sweden. There were a number of other floral tributes. Rev. Morgan D. J. assisted by Rev. Mr. Hill, conducted the services. The plate on the casket bore the following inscription: "John Ericsson; died March 8, 1889; aged eighty-five years, seven months and seven days." After the services the body was taken to the cemetery on Second street where it was placed temporarily in a receiving vault. Its final resting place will be the native land of the deceased.

A Crazy Nihilist in Chains. CHICAGO, March 12.—George Dienstreich, who last summer set fire to the government powder magazine at Sitka, with the acknowledged design of blowing up the town, reached here Monday en route from Alaska to the National Insane Asylum at Washington, he having been adjudged insane. He was in charge of United States secret service officers Wilkins and Arnold and was shackled to the latter, besides being ironed at the wrists, knees and ankles. The prisoner says that he is a Russian Nihilist and that he will yet free the down-trodden people of the civilized world.

A Cowardly Attempt at Murder. JACKSON, Mich., March 12.—William Cannon, a wealthy farmer residing in Sandstone village, some time ago received a threatening White Cap letter. He treated it as a joke at the time but late Sunday night as he sat alone reading, he was fired upon from the outside by a man with a shotgun. Part of the charge took effect in Cannon's leg. He ran out, revolver in hand, and pursued the would-be murderer for some distance, but being wounded had to abandon the chase. Officers are on the trail. Cannon says he knows his assailant.

Before leaving Kilrain said he did not believe Sullivan had any intention of fighting him. For this he was very sorry, as he believes that the Baltimore sun shines he could knock Sullivan out.

A CONFLICT OF AUTHORITY.

Interesting State of Affairs at the Hoosier Capital Caused by the Election of Different Police Boards, Each Claiming to be Legal—How the Trouble Originated.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 12.—Both houses of the Legislature adjourned sine die yesterday. It transpired late in the afternoon that all the bills passed over the Governor's veto by the Democratic majority are in such shape that they are bound to fail. The constitution requires the signatures of the Speaker of the House and President of the Senate to all bills and joint resolutions passed by the Legislature. When the vetoed bills were passed they were simply signed by the clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate, and in this form deposited with the Secretary of State, instead of going through the hands of the Governor, as the statute requires.

It is maintained by opponents of the legislation that these are facts and that with so many men, among which are the law creating a board of public works and officers for Indianapolis, fire and police boards for Indianapolis and Evansville, the board depriving the Governor of his appointing power, etc., are null and void. The police and fire commissioners selected by the Legislature for this city met yesterday morning and filed their bonds. They hold commissions signed by the Speaker of the House and the secretary of the Senate, the Governor having declined to commission them. A few formally resigning they selected a secretary and Captain Colbert, of the present force, as superintendent of police.

Captain Colbert appeared at police headquarters last night and demanded that Superintendent Travis surrender to him the control of the police officers, but the latter declined. Colbert then read a list of officers appointed by the new board who were instructed to appear at the court house to-day and be sworn in. The list of appointments by the new board includes a number of officers from the old force. Whether they will report as ordered by the new board is doubtful. The new commission also selected a new fire chief but for some reason failed to make a demand for possession.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Seventeen Men Injured and One Instantly Killed by the Bursting of a Boiler in the Cleveland Rolling Mills—The Building Destroyed.

CLEVELAND, O., March 12.—Monday afternoon one of the batteries of boilers in the large hammer shop of the Cleveland rolling mill at Newburg exploded. Seven men were injured, one killed and the building was wrecked. The hammer shop was located at the north end of the mill, between the C. & P. and Nypano tracks. Five boilers were in the battery and one of them exploded. The roof of the building fell in and the whole shop was badly wrecked. An immense crowd gathered in immediately, but the people were kept back by ropes. The other boilers had been shaken by the explosion and it was feared they might go up also.

John Barr, a helper, was near the boiler when it exploded. He was instantly killed and his body was fearfully burned. Aneca Bee, a Polish, was terribly hurt about the head and body. Tom Darcy, foreman, was dangerously bruised and cut about the head and breast. Peter Patton was hurt on the head and body. C. Newman received similar injuries. John Crosby and son were both injured about the head and body. These were the most seriously injured. The names of the dozen or more others who were hurt could not be learned. Officials of the mills refused admittance within the gates to all who were not connected with the mill's staff. The injured men were taken to their homes as fast as they were removed from the wreck.

Coal Operators Excited.

PITTSBURGH, March 12.—Coal and coke operators are all worked up over a bill which has been introduced in the State Legislature, entitled "An act to promote the safety of persons employed in and about the coal mines." It provides for the appointment of a commission of five persons who shall decide upon a system of mechanical apparatus for the detection of explosive gases in mines. The bill is being pushed in the interest of a corporation the owner of the only apparatus which can be used under the terms of the bill. The cost of putting in the apparatus would average $10,000 at a low estimate for each of the 800 mines in the State—a total of $8,000,000 and the cost of extra men to keep it in order would be at least $2,000 per mine, or $1,600,000 annually. Remonstrances are being circulated among all the coal and coke operators protesting against the passage of the bill.

Cigar-makers' Label is Not a Trade-Mark.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 12.—The Cigar-makers' Protective Union of this city collected a decided setback yesterday in a decision by the U. S. court reversing by a vote of three to two the order of the lower court. It is held that the device placed on boxes of cigars made by the union members indicates only that the cigars are made by some member of one of the unions, and is not a legal trade-mark. The dissenters hold that the members of a union should have the benefit of the superior reputation of its products in the market, resulting from their superior skill, and the application of a symbol by the members on the articles made by them indicates the origin of the article.

Sentence was suspended to allow an appeal to the supreme court.

Four or more cruisers will also be constructed during the present year.

Hagar was employed by him in the latter's store, and all of the property was appropriated and disposed of in this city.
