Sunday Night's Dispatches.

From New Orleans.

New York, Jan. 31.—The Herald's New Orleans letter of the 23d says:

Previous to Admiral Farragut's arrival in this city it was reported that he had arrived off Mobile, with the intention of commencing an attack there, and that the garrison of one of the forts at the entrance of Mobile Harbor had mutinied, and that a force was sent by the authorities to quell the disturbance, and that the mutineers opened upon them with the guns of the fort, driving them back with great slaughter.

This rumor probably arose from the fact that there is considerable difficulty among the troops garrisoning Forts Morgan and Gaines, and that many of the soldiers had deserted and joined the fleet off the entrance of the harbor.

These deserters also report that a regiment of cavalry, six hundred strong, stationed a short distance in the rear of Mobile, absolutely refused to serve any longer. From West Virginia-Reconnoissance.

HEADQ'RS DEP'T OF WEST VIRGINIA, Jan. 30.—This morning a reconncitering force, that had been sent out from Col. Campbell's command, returned, after having gone to Romney. There they divided into three columns, one going out on the Winchester road, thirty miles, the other down the Gras-sy Lick road to the vicinity of Wardens-ville, and the third on the old Morefield road. None of these columns met with serious opposition on their advance. The information which they gained proves to be of high importance, and tells of mysterious movements, proceedings and preparations within the rebel lines.

We took Captain D. T. Finder, of co. A, 47th Georgia Regiment, a prisoner. This rebel officer says that some five or six Georgia and Alabama regiments have been di-vided into small squads and stationed at different points in the valleys and mounthat his company encountered a portion of Colonel Mulligan's troops, had a fight, was whipped, and had to skedaddle. This rebel officer also reports that the enemy is actually pressing all men into the service between the ages of sixteen and 100. e ages of sixteen and fifty-five. From his story it seems that some of the North Carolina and Alabama, and a few of the Virginia regiments, are being looked upon and watched with suspicion.

The latest news from the Kanawha valley reports all quiet and safe.

Rebel News from Charleston. FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 30 .- The Richmond Enquirer of the 29th contains the following:

CHARLESTON, Jan. 28 .- Five shells were fired at the city last night. Five shots were also fired from Sumter, all of which struck. The enemy is still at work on the battery at Cumming's Point and hauling ammuni-tion to Gregg and Cumming's Point batter-ies. There was no change in the position of the fleet on the 26th inst. On the 24th several shots were fired at the city, and three monitors anchored inside between the Cumming's Point battery and Sumter.—
There was considerable activity among the fleet on the 24th. One shot per hour was fired on the city and seven on Sumter. One hundred fuse shells were fired on the city on the 21st.

The Obstructions in Charleston Harbor.

Washington, Jan 31.—From information recently received by the Navy Department it appears that very few of the obstructions at Charleston have been washed away. The night following, the men of this regiment were returning to their quarters, when they were probably surprised and taken prisoners by the enemy, as they have not been heard from since.

About three hundred feet of the obstructions floated down at one time, and all that has drifted toward the fleet were rafts built by the rebels for the purpose of crippling our vessels.

Steele, another letter was written not materially altering but so differing from the former as to approve the action of the Convention. The opinion is expressed by prominent officers here, that by allowing those who have distinguished themselves to make direct appeals to the people, the ranks of the Union frmy will be speedily filled and a large excess of volunteers obtained, and they confidently hope such plan may be adopted under a new order for a draft of half a million more men.

General Geary says recruiting is quite as brisk in Tennessee new as it was in 1861.
