DICK HOGAN BUYS RACKET STORE AT NEWTON.

R. L. Hogan, or Dick as every one knows him, has purchased a Racket store at Newton and has left to take charge of his new business. The following from the Newton Republican tells of the sale:

A deal has been closed whereby S. A. Davis has transferred the proprietorship of his novelty store to J. S. Brenner of Gorham, Kansas, and R. L. Hogan, a traveling man, who has been representing the George Cook China company. Mr. Brenner is a prominent merchant of Gorham, and will not come to Newton. Mr. Hogan will come to Newton and take charge of the store. He has a family and will find a welcome among Newton citizens. The new firm expects to put in a complete line of chinaware and otherwise increase the stock. Mr. Hogan will be here to take active charge in two weeks or such a matter. The business has as a matter of fact been turned over, and Mr. Davis states that he is merely staying in the store until the new proprietor arrives. Miss Ethel Sallee carries the keys to the store, and is representing the new firm. She has been with this store ever since it was first started several years ago by George Hawley.

Mike Hogan, a brother of Dick's, will take the old position of traveling salesman and will have to hustle to keep up with the reputation made by Dick in the territory covered.

MRS. ROBERTS IS IMPROVING.

Has Borne Up Bravely Under Injuries of Auto Accident.

"A phone message from Muskogee, Oklahoma, today says that Mrs. A. B. Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Case, is improving and will soon be able to be out again after a serious accident in which she was pinned under an auto near Muskogee last week. A clipping from a Muskogee paper says:

Suffering from a double fracture of the hip, severe bruises and internal injuries which are not considered of a serious nature, Mrs. A. B. Roberts, who was injured when the automobile in which she and her husband were riding turned turtle near Yahola Thursday night is, according to the statement of Dr. J. Hutchings White, her physician, resting "as comfortably as can be expected." Mrs. Roberts is bearing the pain with great fortitude and not an expression of complaint has passed her lips since the accident.

When the more detailed story of the accident was told yesterday admiration for Mrs. Roberts for the bravery and courage she displayed, grew. Her friends yesterday told how she compelled her husband to crawl from beneath the car, although the machine would then rest all its weight upon her, and how she cheered and consoled him as she lay suffering beneath the machine.

When the car turned turtle both were caught underneath but the car held Mrs. Roberts fast while her husband was able to move slightly. Mrs. Roberts' first words were to ask her husband if he was hurt. Soon gasoline began to drip upon them and the fear came to them that should some of the wires have become disconnected causing a spark to ignite they would be killed. Mrs. Roberts asked her husband to crawl from beneath the car if he could and take the jack from the place where she had put it. At first he refused believing that it would cause the weight of the car to fall upon her alone. But her arguments and the dripping gasoline finally won him and he wriggled his way out. He secured the jack but could not raise the car from her. A negro in the fields nearby came to his aid but still the car could not be raised. From beneath the car Mrs. Roberts continued to assure her husband that she was not badly hurt. It was not until the car was lifted that he knew the truth and that she had been seriously hurt.

Your Soil Is Alive

Of all intents and purposes, soil is alive. It breathes, works, rests; it drinks, and, most important of all, it feeds. It responds to good or bad treatment. It pays its debts with interest many times compounded. Being alive, to work it must be fed. During the non-growing seasons certain chemical changes take place which make the fertility in the soil available for next season's crop. But this process adds no plant food to the soil. Unless plant food is added to soil on which crops are grown, in time it starves. There is one best way to feed your soil. Stable manure, which contains all the essentials of plant life, should be spread evenly and in the proper quantity with an

I H C Manure Spreader

I H C manure spreaders are made in all styles and sizes. There are low machines which are not too low, but can be used in mud and deep snow, or in sloppy barnyards. They are made with either endless or reverse aprons. Frames are made of steel, braced and trussed like a steel bridge. Sizes run from small, narrow machines to machines of large capacity. The rear axle is placed well under the box, where it carries over 70 per cent of the load, insuring plenty of tractive power. Beaters are of large diameter to prevent winding. The teeth are square and chisel-pointed. The apron drive controls the load, insuring even spreading whether the machine is working up or down hill, or on the level. I H C spreaders have a rear axle differential, enabling them to spread evenly when turning corners.

I H C local dealers handling these machines will show you all their good points. Get literature and full information from them, or write
