From a private letter received from Liverpool, England, it appears that the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company is doing vigorous work beyond the Atlantic to induce emigration to Kansas. Not content with establishing agents all over Europe, and distributing prints and pamphlets by the million, lectures are being delivered in England to crowded houses, usually presided over by local dignitaries. One of these lectures, on "Organized Emigration and Resources of Kansas," was delivered Jan. 24, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association in the lecture hall of the public library at Sunderland, county Durham. The speaker was the Hon. Chas. H. Branscombe, late United States Consul at Manchester. The Mayor of Sunderland presided, and many prominent gentlemen, among them Col. Gourley, M. P., were on the platform. The audience consisted of men and women of all shades of society, who by frequent applause manifested their interest in the subject. After the lecture, many questions were asked by the audience in reference to Kansas, and promptly answered by Mr. C. B. Schmidt, the General European Agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company. Mr. Branscombe is "booked" for a number of the prominent towns in Northern England.

The stock men in Convention at Austin on Friday unanimously adopted the following: Owing to the fact that St. Louis, Chicago and Kansas City are the great markets for our beef and mutton, we recommend that our arrangements be made with the various railroads to the above points for through rates on live stock, and, in case satisfactory rates are not made, grass is cheap, water plenty, the trail broad, and we will drive. A resolution recommending that the Rangers be kept in the field, that compensation of Sheriffs be not increased, and a resolution condemning the lease or sale of public lands to speculators and brokers, and recommending the Legislature to pass a law allowing the stockmen now occupying the lands to purchase them on long time, were adopted. The Convention adjourned to meet in Austin the first Tuesday in February, 1883.

At the stock convention at Caldwell on the first of March, it is more than probable that a resolution will be passed prohibiting the cowboys from carrying revolvers while on duty. There is not a particle of use of men carrying "guns" strapped to them upon any and all occasions. While they are in the Indian's country, it is well enough, but let them be laid aside while in a civilized community.

Representative Anderson's apportionment bill was passed by a vote of 162 yeas to 104 nays. The Democrats generally wanted the number fixed at 319, which would give them a decided political advantage. Many Republicans wanted the number fixed at 323, which would be of political advantage to their party. At 325, neither party can claim that the apportionment is partisan.

The statement is again made that absolute suffering exists among the people of Wayne, Franklin, Gallatin, Saline and White counties, in Southern and South-eastern Illinois. Small farmers have been obliged to sell their stock and teams to procure food. The worst reports are from Saline county, where last season nothing was raised, not even grass.

Hundreds of boys sent out west by Whitlaw Reid and the New York Children's Aid Society have been adopted by the citizens of Kansas, and in the main so trouble whatever has been experienced with them.

In Northwestern Kansas, scores of farmers who left that section to go back to their "wivv' folks" for awhile are returning.

A man near Larned has a dog which has killed over four hundred sheep. That dog will soon be without an owner if this thing is kept up.

The compositor who substituted an "m" for a "w" in speaking of a lady troubled with "swelling of the feet," accomplished the worst typographical feat on record.

Down at Sedan, Chautauque county, so many of the people were made sick by being vaccinated that it is a debate there as to which can be the worse—the preventative or the disease itself.

The largest cow on the record of Nebraska bovine history was slaughtered Saturday in Lincoln. She was 7 feet high, weighed 2,450 pounds alive, and netted 1,400 pounds of beef. Her hide weighed 160 pounds.

Le Duc was denounced for his expensive management of the bureau of agriculture while he was commissioner but now comes his successor and asks for an increase of $185,000 more than Le Duc had—which is almost double.

The railroad company has been making parties who have been using old ties for fire wood, in Pawnee and Edwards counties, pay up. We learn that one gentleman was forced to put up forty five dollars for ties he had used for fuel. Coal would have been cheaper, but then he could not buy that on credit.

Judge Edmunds' polygamy bill has passed the Senate without a dissenting vote. Thus two polygamy bills, originating in the House and Senate respectively, pass each other on the way from one branch of Congress to the other. The Senate measure is the more sweeping in its provisions, as it disfranchises polygamists as well as prohibits their holding office.

Sedgewick county has a man who is a genius. He had a mule which was old and crippled, and was about to shoot it when he thought it would be a good idea to sell it publicly. He hired an auctioneer, the crowd gathered, bidding began and soon grew lively, the outcome being that the mule was finally knocked down to a neighbor for $71.

To prevent stock from being injured by wire fence has been practically demonstrated by Wilson Keys, of Sterling, Kansas. He plows a furrow next the fence on both sides, and, by placing the upturned sod beneath the fence, one wire can be saved. The first time horses are put in the field, he takes them around by the fence and gets them accustomed to it before turning them loose. The furrow is sufficient to deter other stock from getting injured. Mr. Keys has had considerable experience with the wire fence, and says he has never had any stock injured.

An exchange inquires: "Why is it that a man 'stands off' the bill of a newspaper longer than he does any other debt he owes, and more frequently beats a publisher than anybody else?" We answer this conundrum by saying that the answer depends upon the character of the man. An honest, decent man will pay a bill he owes a newspaper just as quickly as he does his grocer or butcher. But a constitutional shyster and beast, whose alleged mind is not capable of assimilating intellectual nourishment, naturally thinks that he receives no benefit from a newspaper, and consequently has no compunctions of conscience about "standing off" a newspaper bill, or beating a publisher out of his dues. His stomach assimilates the food that goes into it, and he knows it. His alleged brain being incapable of any assimilating process, he regards a newspaper bill as lacking what the lawyers call quid pro quo.—Champton.
