Published July 15, 1909, ORDINANCE NO. 307.

An ordinance directing the calling of an election to vote bonds in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of purchasing or constructing a water works plant or electric light plant, or both, for the city of Dodge City.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Council of the city of Dodge City:

SECTION I. That, whereas, it is desired by the Council of the city of Dodge City, Ford county, Kansas, to procure authority for the issuance of bonds under the terms of Chapter 101 of the Session Laws of 1905:

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That it is hereby directed that an election be called to be held in said city of Dodge City on the 10th day of August, 1909, at which election the electors of said city shall vote upon the question as to whether or not said City Council shall issue the bonds of said city in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, payable in thirty years, with interest not exceeding five per cent. per annum, said bonds to be issued in denominations of five hundred and one thousand dollars, and payable at the office of the Treasurer of the State of Kansas, in the city of Topeka, State of Kansas, for the purpose of purchasing or constructing works for the purpose of supplying said city and its inhabitants with water or lights, or both.

SEC. II. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Globe-Republican.

Passed by the Council July 8, 1909.

Approved by the Mayor July 8, 1909.

Attest: PEARL TREBILCOCK, City Clerk.

LIKED THE FIGHTING APOSTLE.

Name of St. Peter Appealed to Heart of Soldier.

It is well known that Elias Howe, the inventor of the sewing machine, not only enlisted as a common soldier in the ranks of the Seventeenth Connecticut regiment, carried a musket, and did full military duty during the war, but at a certain juncture, when national finances were at a low ebb, he paid soldiers out of his own pocket. Relative to this incident, P. T. Barnum used to tell this story:

"While Mr. Howe was counting out the money referred to, a stranger, who was a clergyman, entered the tent and said he had heard of Mr. Howe's liberality and had called to ask him to contribute toward building a church for his congregation.

"Church, church," said Mr. Howe without looking up from his bills he was counting; 'building churches in war times, when so much is needed to save our country! What church is it?'

"St. Peter's church," replied the clergyman.

"Oh, St. Peter's," said Mr. Howe; 'well, St. Peter was the only fighting apostle—he cut a man's ear off. I'll go $500 on St. Peter, but I am spending most of my money on saltpeter now.'

A TREE THAT IS WORSHIPPED.

Ficus Religiosa Held Sacred by Buddhists and Hindoos.

In most of the countries of south-eastern Asia, the Indian Ficus religiosa, the sacred and consecrated fig tree, or peepul tree, is found. It is held pre-eminently sacred by the Buddhists, and is revered also by the Hindoos, the birth of Vishnu having occurred beneath its branches.

It is a handsome tree, growing frequently to a great height. It is an evergreen, which puts forth its flowers in April, and the bark yields freely upon incision an acrid milk containing a considerable proportion of india rubber. The leaves are heart-shaped, long, pointed and vibrate in the air like those of the aspen.

A branch of one of these trees, having a notable history, was sent to a city in the interior of Ceylon, where it was planted, and became known by the name of the bo-tree. For 200 years it received the highest reverence, and is still the chief object of worship to the pilgrims who every year flock to the ruins of the city.

Trim Your Nails.

There is a certain eminent physician who, wiser than the children of light, plods his way along in an unbeaten track and has no peer as a diagnostician. He is always accompanied by an expert manicurist, instead of a white or colored valet. "The human nail, like the human hair," he said to me, "is much affected by physical conditions. Barbers will tell you that in certain seasons the beard, for instance, grows nearly twice as fast as at others. It is so with the nails. At times, according to how we feel, the free edge may be a month in growing; there is some retarding agent. At other times it may grow in a week. Sometimes the nail has transverse furrows, indicating periods of illness. At other times it bears furrows running lengthwise—a sure indication of lack. My manicurist can tell by these indications when your last sickness occurred, and I can tell what the malady was."

She Got the Letter.

The post office official put on his severest manner.

"You say you mailed the letter about half an hour ago at a window in the east corridor?" he asked.

The beautiful woman dabbed a handkerchief at her soulful eyes and at the tip of her classic nose.

"Yes, yes," she said.

"To whom was it addressed?" She told him.

"And now you want to stop that letter?" he went on, still more sternly. "You want to get it back? 'Why?'"

"Because," said the woman with unpremeditated frankness, "I am afraid his wife will get it."

"Oh," said the stern official.

She got the letter.

The Psychology of the Badge.

"I've always noticed," spoke up Old Jim, "that us farmers, when we get on a billed shirt and a derby hat, feel about the same as a city feller wearin' a soft shirt and a slouch hat. We sort o' believe that it's our duty to over-indulge. In the old days I wuz one o' them kind what couldn't even pin a badge on my coat without a-feelin' that I had a license ter paint the town red."

"Yes," laughed Cal, "there hain't no sadder sight than ter see a perfectly sober man all covered with ribbins and badges."—From "Old Jim Case of South Hollow."

Resentment.

"Does you charge 30 cents fob dat little box o' strawberries?" asked Aunt Hannah, superciliously.

"Yes," answered the grocer.

"An' it 'ud take about a thousan' of dem berries to make one ten-cent watermelon! I doesn't mind de price, but I does hate sech impudence!"—Washington Star.

Dead Dog.

"What's become of your dog? I haven't seen him for a long time."

"You notice what a cold I've got?"

"Yes, but what's that—"

"Well, a lot of people told me things to do for my cold, and I was wise enough to try 'em on him first."

Paying for Experience

A severe "belly ache" is the price paid for the fun of eating green apples. Mamma told them not to do it, but it took actual experience to convince them.

We say the same thing about green lumber. It may look right, but after it is in the job a while, it will warp out of shape, and a bunch of trouble is what the experience will cost you. If you want to be sure of getting good, thoroughly seasoned lumber, don't take any chances, but come to us for it. It will cost you no more than the other kind will elsewhere.

We once saw a liniment advertised that was wonderful. The advertiser said, illustrating its power, that a man came along one day with a pen knife and cut his little dogs tail off. He said he applied a little of the liniment to the dog's tail and it grew out perfectly again to the utmost tip. Then, he said, he scraped around in the dust and found the piece that was severed and applied the liniment to it, and out grew another dog.

Now what do you think of that?

We do not have any such liniment as this, but our
