Gas in Your Stomach Can Not Exist

With Bandmann's Gas-Tablets. This is the most valuable prescription ever put into a bottle. We have never seen or heard of a case of Gas in the Stomach or Bowels which Bandmann's Gas-Tablets have ever failed to effect a cure. We know that this sounds absurd, ridiculous and preposterous. Yet it is simply a pity and a shame to allow any human being to suffer with Gas in the Stomach and Bowels in any form when you can get such valuable Remedy as Bandmann's Gas-Tablets for 50c at Drug Stores.

These peculiar tablets are sold for 50c a bottle by nearly every druggist. If not in stock, tell him to get them for you from his wholesaler, or send five in silver, stamps or money order to J. Bandmann Co., 538 Butler St., San Francisco.

NEW MEXICO MAY SECURE NATIONAL PARK AND GAME PRESERVE

United State Department of Agriculture Decides to Recommend Its Establishment to Congress.

BIOLOGICAL SURVEY CHIEF VISITS CITY

Dr. Theodore S. Palmer Stops Off in Albuquerque to Impart Good News to Local Forestry Officials.

The United States department of agriculture is going to recommend the establishment of a national park and game preserve. It is erected out of the Pecos National Forest, and use for the stocking of nearly all the western states with game. The national park will contain more than 500 square miles and will be fenced. In it will be kept enough elk, deer, mountain sheep and antelope to stock all New Mexico, making it a paradise for hunters, and some more besides.

This in the good news brought to Albuquerque yesterday by Dr. Theodore S. Palmer of Washington, chief of the biological survey at the department of agriculture. Dr. Palmer is the man in charge of the game survey in the Pecos National Forest, and he is here to report on the progress of his work. He is also here to impart good news to the local forestry officials.

Dr. Palmer conferred with C. Roland Ellis of the local office of the bureau of animal industry, Chief Forester A. C. Ringland of the Third Forest district, and Deputy Game Warden R. P. Stamm, with regard to conditions in game circles in New Mexico. Dr. Palmer appeared to be wonderfully well-informed on New Mexico conditions, and told the local gentlemen that there are in New Mexico more antelope than in any state in the union, and that New Mexico is destined to be the hunter's paradise.

The biological survey expects to cooperate with the state game authorities to protect game which is supposed to be protected by the local laws, and to that end in many states the survey has recommended to the agricultural department that an additional reward of from $50 to $100 be given for the first five convictions in cases of violation of certain sections of the game laws. He asked the opinion of Messrs. Ringland, Ellis and Stamm as to what would be serviceable to New Mexico and suggested that when he returns to Washington he will recommend to the department that an additional reward be given.

The establishment in the Pecos National forest of a national park and game preserve will mean that the scenic highway will be completed from Las Vegas to Santa Fe through the park, and that accommodations will be also established for tourists similar to those afforded in the Yellowstone national park.

Dr. Palmer is en route to the Pacific coast on business of the department, and stopped over to confer with the local forestry officials. He is enthusiastic over the game prospects in New Mexico and highly interested with the report of Mr. Cooper. Dr. Palmer believes that the establishment of the national park will be of immense benefit to hunters, tourists and residents of the new state. A movement is now on foot to obtain the support of the two New Mexico senators for the measure, as in order to establish a national park an act of congress is necessary. This work, however, will have to be done by the State officials, and he hopes to-day cannot altogether be accomplished.

WRECKERS FOUGHT OVER EXPLOSIVE; BLOWN TO ATOMS

Peculiar Accident Snuffs Out Lives of Six Men Engaged in Salvaging Stranded Steamer's Cargo.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]—Cleveland, Nov. 26.—Six Florida wreckers were blown to atoms while attempting to secure a floating box of explosives, part of the cargo of the steamer San Joachim, which went ashore November 22 on the rocks off Atwood Cay.

This information was conveyed in a message from the Prinz Joachim which was picked up by one of the wireless stations here tonight. While the cargo of the Prinz Joachim was being jettisoned, a swarm of wreckers lay about waiting an opportunity to salvage any part of the cargo. A chance came when three boats almost simultaneously spied a floating box. They made for it with all haste.

When the three boats, each containing two men, reached the box there was a sharp struggle to see which should get it first. Watchers aboard the Prinz Joachim then saw the water thrown high in the air by an explosion. Thereafter nothing of the boats save splintered wreckage was to be seen, nor was there any trace of the men.

For a time other wreckers and those aboard the steamer did not know what had happened. Their surmise was that a revenue cutter had thrown a shell at the wreckers. The steamer's message from the Prinz Joachim was addressed New York.

SECRET OF FAMOUS JAMESON RAID REVEALED

John Hays Hammond Breaks Silence, Made Under Oath to Save His Life, and Tells "Inside" of Events.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]—Boston, Nov. 26.—Release by time from an oath not to talk on South African affairs or reveal any of the "inside" of events leading up to the Boer war for a period of years, John Hays Hammond, who was conspicuous in that war, broke his silence for the first time last night at a dinner of the Clover club.

Mr. Hammond said the Jameson raid was the result of the activities of a reform association formed at Johannesburg and consisting largely of Americans. "I want especially," said Mr. Hammond, "to correct a misunderstanding. It has been said that we were acting under the British flag. That is false.

"Much sympathy has been wasted on Oom Paul Kruger. He was opposed to progress, believed that the world was flat and that the devil had a tail. His impositions were such as no man of the Anglo-Saxon race would have tolerated.

"The reform movement against Kruger was not an English movement. Jameson came into the light against our wishes and against the wishes of the British high commissioner. I sent him word to come back and when he persisted the only thing to do was to bluff Kruger into believing that we had more arms than we really had. We did so, and Kruger sent over an olive branch to Johannesburg. They agreed to all but two things and that was that no contract should be accepted with a Catholic or Jew. This we flatly refused.

"Kruger played false with the reform committee after the Jameson raid, broke all his promises and after he had secured the arms in Johannesburg through Sir Hercules Robinson, he arrested the entire committee. He gave the men to understand that if they pleaded guilty they would be let off with a fine. Instead they were sentenced to be hanged within two or four hours.

"Jameson came into the light from Secretary Chamberlain and after an all-night session the council voted to commute the sentences to life imprisonment."

ITALIANS SEEK TO DRIVE TURKS OUT OF THE OASIS

Sixth Brigade Opens Attack on Fort Meari, Which is Captured; Enemy Desperately Fighting Advances.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]—Tripoli, Nov. 26.—1:15 p. m.—An important movement now in progress with the object of driving the Arabs out of the oasis and of extending the Italian front. It began at daybreak. The action opened with an attack on Fort Meari, by the sixth brigade from Boumelal, on the west front.

After several hours' fighting the Italians succeeded in dislodging the Arabs and General Frangone, commander of the Italian forces, ordered the Third division on the east front to advance toward Honi. Part of the Sixth brigade joined the men of the Third, taking up a position so as to protect the division from attack from the direction of Atzara and to prevent a junction of the Arabs and Turks.

At the time of filing this message, the Italian extreme right was hotly engaged against the Turkish regulars. The new front, if the movement is successful, will extend from Meari to Honi. As soon as the Italians are established, reinforcements will be rushed up to positions strongly entrenched by the engineers.

ITALIANS AND TURKS FIGHT ALL DAY

Deans, Tripoli, Nov. 26.—An Italian reconnaissance on the plateau outside the city yesterday resulted in an encounter with the Turks in force. The fighting lasted all day, both sides retaining their positions. The Italian casualty list numbered twelve killed, twenty wounded.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENTS ON AEGEAN SEA

Paris, Nov. 26.—Notwithstanding the strictest censorship in Italy over war news, a dispatch has come through from the Secolo di Milan, stating reports are current in Rome that an action has commenced in the Aegean sea, and that a bombardment is actually in progress. Officials maintain silence but the fact that telegraphic communication abroad has completely stopped and that telegrams are subject to long delays is taken to indicate that the gravest events are afoot.

BRAKEMAN CUT OFF LEGS WITH KNIFE

Helena, Mont., Nov. 26.—An exhibition of iron nerve failed to save the life of E. Ekleberry, a northern Pacific brakeman, after he had been run over by his train at Big Timber today. He was adjusting the lights at the rear of the train when it was backed over him, his legs being crushed to a pulp. While waiting for workmen to procure jacks with which to lift the cars from his mangled legs, Ekleberry with his pocket knife, cut away the members. He died a few hours after.

TRAGEDY OF BAD HEALTH

One of the most tragic things in life is the failure of health. The breadwinner of the family overtakes his strength, the mother wears herself completely out with the never-ending round of home duties, or the son or daughter works too hard in school and the result is wreck of health and happiness.

ARREST DISCLOSES SUPPOSED MAN IS WOMAN

Life Story of School Teacher in Jail at Segundo, Colo., Rivals Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.]—Trinidad, Colo., Nov. 26.—The person being held in the county jail under the name of A. J. Baker, former school teacher at Segundo, who on tomorrow will answer to a statutory charge in justice court preferred by a fourteen-year-old pupil of her school, in a woman, the mother of two sweet and pretty children, and the wife of James A. Baker, for years a teacher in the public schools of Hydro, Okla. At least these are some of the statements that the state will attempt to establish, as facts at the hearing, Manquerading as a man this person, whose name is Mabel or Madeline Baker, has been going over the country with papers belonging to her husband which she is alleged to have stolen when she left Oklahoma. Letters in the possession of the district attorney are expected to show that under various assumed names, the defendant has been keeping up a correspondence with both men and women and that she has been the recipient at times of letters written by her husband—letters appealing to her to return to him and the children—letters which describe in beautiful words the love of a husband and father for a wife of brilliant attainments. The A. J. Baker who occupies a cell in the county jail is addressed as Mabel and Madeline.

The prisoner in masculine attire, has laugh school at Wray, Colo., at Hillrose and at Vilas. At different times she has assumed the name of Irene Pardee and much of her correspondence has been signed with that name. And these letters which she will offer at the hearing is expected to establish without a doubt that A. J. Baker is one of the unique characters of the century, a student, a dreamer and a poetess who has assumed many roles and many names in her travels since she left her husband in Oklahoma.

James A. Baker, who is thought to be her husband, is of a distinguished family. His sister is said to be a principal of a school in Missouri and his brother George Baker, is president of the Baker Manufacturing company of Harlan, Ia. The mysterious countess prisoner had been an assistant to her husband in teaching school in Oklahoma, studied medicine, the arts and sciences and from her study of medicine is believed to have experimented in what is known as plastic surgery, by which means she has been able to change the contour of her features or in a manner to have erased femininity from her person and appear more masculine. The ancients practiced this plastic surgery with astounding results.

Whether or not her husband still lives is not known. The last heard of him he was at Hydro, Okla., and the last letter received by Mabel found among her effects tells of the great love that this man bears for the wife who deserted him. It begs her to come back and it records a tragedy as well as a good home, blessed with the love of husband and prattling babes, who leaving all behind passed out into the world to become a nameless, sexless human creature to destroy womanly traits, and forego womanly appeal, to become a man among men, yet carved in the image of the great mother of the race.

And the correspondence of this woman would show that she is proud of her ability to deceive, gratified by her cleverness in wearing her face into the associations of both men and women, galled to the thought that she has been swept by the undercurrent into the underworld to cohabit with all sorts and conditions of men.

And the identity of this person will be learned and the life story may be known when the case is called in the court of Justice Stone.

MANY WOMEN RUN DOWN

Mrs. Ewton Tells Her Story, and Hopes Other Sufferers Will Do As Well.

Pine Bluff, Ark.—"For nearly nine years," says Mrs. M. E. Ewton of this city, "I had been almost down with womanly troubles, and at times, I could scarcely be about at all or do anything. I took different kinds of medicines without any benefit. I had a pain in my side that it seemed impossible to relieve. I used six bottles of Cardul, and now I feel like a different person. I am getting along fine. I can do any kind of work! Cardul was the only thing that helped me. It is the best remedy I know for run down women. I hope other sufferers will take Cardul and be benefited as I have."

The use of money in the Stephenson campaign was the result of the Wisconsin primary system it was claimed in the hearings.

ROOSEVELT IS NOT AND WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE

Philadelphia North American Publishes What It Terms An "Authoritative Statement" of His Position On Presidency.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]—Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—The North American today publishes what it terms an "authoritative statement" of Colonel Roosevelt's position with reference to the republican national campaign in 1912.

The statement reiterates Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that he will not be a candidate in 1912 neither would he lend his aid to any prospective candidate.

The North American says the statement was made no more than three days ago by Colonel Roosevelt. "Colonel Roosevelt will not support any man for the nomination in 1912, neither Mr. Taft nor any one else. He never gave Mr. Taft any pledge of offer of support, nor did Mr. Taft ever have such an impression. Colonel Roosevelt is not a candidate nor has he been at any time. He has repeatedly discouraged suggestions of this character, not only from sincere friends but from potential political leaders, who for one reason or another desire to use his name, and he has emphatically refused pledges of active support, even delivery of delegates."

MORSE MOVED FROM PRISON TO HOSPITAL

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, today exchanged his bare cell at the federal prison here for a more commodious ward in the army hospital at Fort McPherson. The change was ordered by Attorney General Wickersham, who recently made a special visit to Atlanta to investigate the condition of Mr. Morse.

The transfer was made early this morning Morse making the trip of several miles in an ambulance, accompanied by Major Baker, chief surgeon at the fort. He stood the trip well, but it was stated at the fort that his condition did not permit an examination today. The banker-convict is expected to go through this ordeal tomorrow. According to a statement yesterday by Warden Wilson, Morse is suffering from kidney trouble.

It had been reported to the department of justice that Morse's life was in danger if he were kept under the depressing influences of the prison and his removal to the army hospital was ordered to ascertain just what such a change would accomplish.
