If the Democrats accept Tilden's denial, there is but one thing for them to do,-they must nominate him for the Presidency in 1880. ## Only One or Two Conclusions Possible.

Only One or Two Conclusions Possible. Providence Frees (Ind.). It is evident, after the work of the cipher dis-patches and the Potter Committee, either that Mr. Tilden is a shrewd trickster or that he is a fool. He has never had the reputation of being the latter, and he stoutly denice being the for-mer. But he is a decepty involved in the fraud-transactions that public ophilon will be com-pelled to place him in one of the two categories. Too Many Nianyhamers.

BURIAL CUSTOMS AMONG THE ANCIENT

BUHIAL CUSTOMS AMONG THE ANCIENT GERMANS, [Translated for JrH Fridman From Die Gartenlaube, by Hrs. C. K. Sherman. That it was customary during the Jron Age to bury as well as burn the body, is shown from the many grave-mounds, in which are found burnt bones, and also unburnt skeletous. Highly interesting in this respect are the gravos of Hallstatt, which belong to the early Iron period. Chrimati Connerctat (Ind. The facts are now all out and established. They show the dispatches will be the craft party as a party or the dispatches wholly free time officially with the dispatches reproduces, and washed its hand of all who are proven to have been entaged in any manner in the dispaceful business.

Mo Should Have Said So. Motife (Ala.) Resider (Dem.). There is one feature of this cipher business

tich mars somewhat the completeness of Mr Tilden's testimony. In his letter to the public, in answer to the cluber developments, he denied in answer to the elipher developments, he denied knowing anything about negotiations for the purchase of Electrani voles. He now admits that he knew of Veltan's negotiations, and that he indiranally reputinized them. If so, he should have said so in his letter. His testimo-uy is conclusive of his innocence, but he stands before the public in the attitude of having aup-presed valuable information which would have relieved himself and the Democratic pariy, at a time when he should have apoken the whole truth and covered the whole ground.

Facts that Are Settled.

Facts that Are Settled. Congreationalit (Richylou). It appears to be settled by the admission under oath of the conspirators that direct and criminal efforts, which failed, were made by the Democratic Committees to purchase suc-cess for Mr. Tilden in three States. It ao-pears to be settled, further, that Mr. Tilden was during all this time as ignorant as the babe unborn of all this planning and plotting, and as innocent of all, even the remotest, perticipa-tion in it. He swears he was, and he ought to know. These things being settled, one timp is settled further; and that is, that as Mr. Tilden was during informat of all this which was cong on around him in his own house, and at the hamis of his most infinate and confidential friends, it was because he had made arrange-ments to be ignorant of It. No other explana-tion is conceivable. An Unplementary Mreter.

The examination has not cleared up the cipher dispatches, and has not explained how a mass of correspondence touching brihery in one shape or another could be conducted under the nose of Mr. Thien without like knowledge, and con-ducted by its mildential ifends, admirara and acronts. Mr. Holmer, accepting a pole-like the state of the state of the state with a differential field of the state when he rebuilted his nephery. Mr. Pelton; but with he diff not know it, and how it could go on for months without his knowledge, remains a discurreeable mystery. resting oil assertion. Too, Much for Human Credulity. Painathika Telerargh (Ind. Ren.). During the progress of the campaign in which Mr. Tilden was the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, he immediately and personally superintended the operations of the party machinery to a far greater extent than any previous Presidential candidate ever did. In order that full credit shall be given to his testi-mony of Saturdar, h. is necessary to believe that when the real crisis came, and when he and his party were having seatched from them the frunt of the victory which they believed they had won, he suddenly censed to take an active part in the conduct of affairs, or to have more than a aentimental interest in the readil. It is taying readulty rather too much to believe this of Mr. Tilden, although t is credible that he did take particular pains to know just as little aspossible relative to what was going on under bis nose.
