THE BIRD CAUGHT.

Rusty Rube, the Would-be Murderer, Overtaken, Captured and Brought to Jail.

Deputy Sheriff Gibbs and Frank H. Harvey came into the city this morning about 1 o'clock, in charge of Albert Rube, or "Rusty Rube," the fugitive from justice, who is now safely enclosed within the protecting walls of the county jail.

THE CAPTURE.

It seems that after committing the murderous assault upon his wife last Sunday night Rube remained in the city until the following morning when he skipped out northward on the Dearborn road in a wagon driven by two sheep shearers, who were bound that way. Deputy Sheriff Geo. Gibbs got wind of his departure and started after him on horseback at noon on Tuesday, accompanied by Quill Lawrence, made special deputy for the occasion, and Frank H. Harvey, bar keeper at the Duran ranch. Harvey had seen Rube pass the ranch at 8 o'clock in the morning and knew him. Rube had been hanging around there almost the whole of Sunday, when he drank a great deal. On that day he told several parties that "he'd fix 'em," at the same time exhibiting a revolver as "the only friend left him now." When he passed the next morning he said to Harvey, "I've done it, I've done it." Harvey then knew there was something up and coming to the city joined Gibbs in the search.

They rode hard, fast and incessantly, changing horses once or twice, and arrived at the Dearborn crossing at 4:30 yesterday morning. They traced the fugitive along of them all the way, and knew when they got to the Dearborn, that they were close upon him. At that early hour they galloped across the bridge and halted at Silverman's barn, where they saw a wagon which they supposed was the one that carried Rube. Gibbs and Harvey were alone on the trail now, Lawrence having been detained at Mitchell's, and on discovering the wagon they dismounted and approached the barn. Sure enough

THE BIRD WAS CAUGHT.

Just as Gibbs turned the corner of the barn Rube, who had been asleep inside and whose slumbers had been interrupted by the approach of the riders, came out of the door. Gibbs had his pop-gun leveled on him in a twinkling and demanded his unconditional surrender. Notwithstanding the boast that he made the day before that he would "never be taken alive," the doughty tough knuckled under and allowed the officer to place the felonious bracelets, called handcuffs, on his wrists. He was then placed astride one of the horses and the homeward march commenced, Gibbs and Harvey taking turns at "footing it" until they arrived at Rock Creek where another horse was procured. At Mitchell's yesterday they turned over their prisoner to a competent guard and employed a few hours in recuperating their exhausted energies, which had been so severely taxed by their long and hard ride. Resuming their trip later in the day they arrived here after midnight this morning, having successfully bagged their game and been in the saddle for thirty-six hours continuously.

Yesterday's Fire.

The citizens of the Sixth Ward are quite indignant over the water supply at the commencement of the planing mill fire yesterday. The supply was not sufficient to quench a fair sized bonfire when the hose was attached to the plug close to the mill. The telephone was used to order a full pressure. It took thirty minutes to secure it. This statement is on the authority of a gentleman who was handling the hose. A short time ago three fire plugs were taken up, and the HERALD questioned the act at the time. The HERALD also suggested the necessity of an engine for use in the Sixth Ward. The fire yesterday sustains the necessity of such action on the part of the City Council, and the sooner such public protection is afforded the better, as vast lumber and warehouse property are at the mercy of even sparks.

The Sixth Warders demand protection from such risks as yesterday, and promptly, through Aldermen Brown and Duignan. Had the fire yesterday reached the lumber piles, and the escape was a miracle, everything clear to the depot would have been a total loss. The Council should at once provide necessary protection before it is too late.

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver, and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely, and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Deserving of Gratitude.

A correspondent, writing from Rimini of the celebration there on the Fourth, says: "Special thanks are due to Rev. F. D. Kelsey for his able and eloquent address, to general Mr. Crouse, whose indefatigable exertions and politeness made it pleasant for all, and to A. A. LaRue, whose management of the fireworks could not be excelled."

We regret the late reception of "Graveyard" communication, from which the above is an extract, prevents its publication in full. The same subject matter appeared in the HERALD of the 6th inst.

Restful Nights, days free from Torture. Await the rheumatic sufferer who resorts to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. That this benignant and purgative is a far more reliable remedy than colic and other poisons used to expel the rheumatic virus from the blood, is a fact that experience has satisfactorily demonstrated. It also enjoys the advantage of being—unlike them—perfectly safe. With many persons a certain predisposition to rheumatism exists, which renders them liable to its attacks after exposure to wet weather, to currents of air, changes of temperature, or to cold when the body is hot. Such persons should take a wine glass or two of the Bitters as soon as possible after incurring risk from the above causes, as this superb protective effectually nullifies the harmful influence. For the functional derangements which accompany rheumatism, such as colic, spasms in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, imperfect indigestion, etc., the Bitters is also a most useful remedy. It is only necessary in obstinate cases to use it with persistency.

DEAD IN THE CREEK.

The Decomposed Remains of A. McEaphran Discovered in the Prickly Pear Canyon.

Yesterday some of the men employed at Green's camp, on the Montana Central, in Prickly Pear canyon, just the other side of Mitchell's, while out at work on the creek between the two places, had their attention diverted from their task by a horrible odor that arose from the creek bottom and assailed their nostrils with its disgusting fragrance. Satisfied that the stench proceeded from the decomposition of animal matter, they commenced a search for the radiator of such noisome vapors, guiding themselves to the source by proceeding in the direction whence emanated the sickening aroma. The task was infinitely disagreeable, but they persevered through the bushes and gaining the bank of the creek were horrified at discovering in an advanced stage of decomposition lying on the margin of the stream partially covered up with driftwood. With the expedition borne of a desire to hastily accomplish such a disagreeable work they removed the obstructions and laid bare the body. It was so far decomposed that the features were totally unrecognizable, but the clothing and articles found upon it revealed the identity of the unfortunate who had perished so miserably and whose remains were so long denied a proper sepulture. A thorough examination by those who were acquainted with the deceased left no doubt that the body was the NORTHERN RELIC OF A. MCEAPHRAN, a former workman at Green's camp, who disappeared mysteriously three months ago and who had not been heard of since.

Early in April last McEaphran left camp and went up to Mitchell's, where he drank a great deal and became pretty much intoxicated. He left Mitchell's about dark the same evening for camp, but was not heard of after until yesterday's events disclosed the cause of his sudden disappearance. It is supposed that in the dark he walked over the bank of the creek, which was then a raging mountain stream, fell into the water, and in his intoxicated condition, was unable to extricate himself from a position, from which even a sober man would have experienced great difficulty in escaping.

Coroner Brown went out to the scene to-day, and after the inquest the body of the unfortunate will be interred on the spot, its condition precluding all possibility of removal.

WHO DID IT?

Briggs, Alias Jurgens, and Lilly, Alias Snell, Each Arraigned for Stealing Lehman's Horse.

The question of who assaulted the reputable Billy Patterson is lost sight of in that now before the Probate Court, involving the uncertainty as to which of two parties belongs the distinction of being the thief in the Lehman horse case. One E. J. Lilly, alias Snell, was arrested, convicted and put under bonds for the offense, the HERALD detailing the matter at the time of its occurrence. The principal points of the case were: Lilly came to town one evening, saying he had just arrived from Fort McLeod. Late that night he sold a horse and saddle to Tom Crosby, of the Eldorado saloon, alleging that it was one of a band he had brought down from the North. It transpired the following day that the horse had been stolen from Chas. Lehman's yard, and Lilly was sent up for the offense.

Lilly now declares that Chas. Briggs, better known as Chas. Jurgens, stole the animal and gave it to him to sell. Jurgens was before the Probate Court yesterday on the charge of stealing the horse. Lilly testified that Jurgens got the horse and turned it over to him to sell; he sold it and divided the money with Jurgens. Jurgens introduced testimony to prove his presence in another place at the time the theft was committed. The evidence was conflicting, and the settlement of the crime on either of the accused appears to be very difficult of accomplishment.

The Montana Company.

The affairs of the Montana Co., Limited, who own and work the celebrated Drum Lummon mine, are in a state of prosperity highly gratifying to the management and shareholders. A printed circular just received from the main office in London announces that the profits of the mine available for dividends warrant the directors in declaring an interim dividend of 2s 6d per share, payable on the 15th of the present month. This is at the rate of 25 per cent. per annum.

It has been the custom of the directors to send one of their number each year to visit the mine. Last year Mr. Stewart Pixley made this inspection and this year Mr. John Baylies, the father of the General Manager, will perform the task. Mr. John Darlington, the consulting engineer of the board, will accompany Mr. Baylies. The important subject of treating the tailings will take a prominent place in their deliberations. These gentlemen left London yesterday for New York. They are expected here before the end of this month.

Pond's Extract. In all bronchial and pulmonary complaints it is found to give immediate relief, followed by permanent cure. Sold only in bottles.

Died this Morning.

Edward Riley, of Philadelphia, departed this life at St. Peter's Hospital, this city, this morning. The deceased was a miner who came to Helena for medical treatment. A few days ago he was stricken with typhoid fever, which culminated fatally to-day. His father and brother are living in Cleveland, Ohio, and the remains will be embalmed and expressed to them at once.

Good housekeepers are fast finding out that a pure Extract made by Joseph Burnett & Co., costing a cent or two more a bottle, goes further and makes the most delicious of dishes. Avid goods only recommended by their cheapness. 2

CRIMINALITIES.

Sundry Small Robberies in Helena and Vicinity.

Officers of the law, both municipal and county, have received notices of several petty thieveries committed in the city or vicinity within a few days past. A German, whose name we were unable to learn, living near the cemetery north of the city, was robbed the day before yesterday by some thief or thieves, who entered his cabin while he was absent and departed with his rifle, a Marlin repeater, double barreled breach loading shot gun, of English manufacture, and a revolver of the "bull dog" pattern. No clue whatever to the perpetrators of the robbery has been discovered.

Yesterday E. E. James had his watch stolen from his house on lower Main street. The fellow who stole it pawned it at the New York Loan Office for $3, whence James recovered it this morning on payment of that amount.

A woman who came in from Elkhorn yesterday left her handbag on the stairs in Sanford & Evans' building while she paid a visit to the second floor. When she returned she found the bag but found also that while she was upstairs some one had opened it and abstracted her purse, which contained $20 in cash.

Archie Campbell, a woodhewer who owns a wood camp in the foot hills 12 miles north of Helena, met with quite a loss yesterday. On his return from his daily trip to the city he was surprised to note the absence of two men whom he had hired a few days previous and put to work cutting wood. As the weather was very warm he concluded the men had grown tired of their work and left for a better job. On entering his cabin, however, he found that his trunk had been broken open and rifled of $45 or $50 in money. Checks to the amount of $300, also in the trunk, were undisturbed. His suspicions turned at once towards his late employees and he came to the city and informed the Sheriff of the occurrence. The two men were Germans and one of them gave his name as Jacob Maryland.

"When Doctors Disagree."

Who shall decide when doctors disagree. And soundest casuists doubt, like you and me?

Pope's inquiry was answered last night by Judge English, who decided that a fine must be paid by two Helena doctors who disagreed. The disagreement this time, however, was not as to a diagnosis or metaphysical obscurities, but upon the estimate of each other's capabilities held by Dr. Wm. Steele and Dr. M. Rockman, of this city.

Last evening these two disciples of Esculapius had a falling out resulting in pugilistic demonstrations. It seems that Dr. Steele overheard some remarks made by Dr. Rockman that reflected somewhat on his (Steele's) professional honor. Dr. Steele resented the statements, and intimated that it would be better if Dr. Rockman would never repeat such utterances. Dr. Rockman expressed his anxiety to know what would be the result if he did, and Dr. Steele told him a slap in the mouth would be the inevitable consequence. Dr. Rockman doubted Dr. Steele's ability to inflict such chastisement, and Dr. Steele demonstrated his capabilities in this direction and illustrated his statement by bringing his right hand in violent contact with his adversary's osculatory organ. Dr. Rockman recalcitrated by using his cane on his opponent's head, and then retired across the street, indulging in vehement language to his brother in medicine and daring him to repeat the operation. Dr. Steele again approached the retreating specialist and ventured another strike from the shoulder, when the latter again resorted to his gold headed cane for defense. In the struggle Dr. Steele got possession of the ebony walking stick and broke it in two. Hostilities went no further, and the medical practitioners repaired to the police court to indemnify the law for this breach of the peace. The fracas occurred on Main street in front of Hale's drug store. Each of the disputants had to pay a fine of $15.

THE LUMBER SEIZURE.

Sparks Inclined to Enforce the Letter of the Law.

Delegate Toole, on learning of the seizure of Linde & Co.'s lumber in Gallatin county by Sparks' emissaries, thus speaks to a Washington correspondent of the apparent determination of the Land Commissioner to persist in his policy of harassment:

"I have had several talks with Mr. Sparks regarding this timber matter, and while he has expressed a willingness to do something, he seems uncertain what to do. He is not desirous of making the companies in Montana any serious trouble, yet he is inclined to give the law the strictest construction. I pointed out to him that the spirit of the law meant to prevent nothing but the cutting of timber for export and sale outside the State, and he acquiesced that that view of the law might be taken. It seems, however, from this that he is inclined to enforce the entire letter of it."

Mr. Toole seems willing but powerless to influence Sparks in his purpose to stop the saw mills and multiply the hardships and wrongs suffered by the settlers of Montana.

Advance in Wool.

Mr. Ed. Delaney is in receipt, from Fort Benton, of the following dispatch, showing the advance in wool:

FORT BENTON, July 8.—Kyle sold his clip at 21 cents about a week since. Wool is now 23 cents here.

Paralyzed?

George Booker, of Helena, was on the street last night perfectly paralyzed. He was paralyzed by the contemplation of the crowded streets of Butte, which contained more men than he had ever seen before at the same time.—Inter-Mountain.

We always thought George was temperate, but he must have been verily "paralyzed" if his vision was distorted to such an extent as to make him see double—the only inference that can be drawn from the above.

TOWN AND TERRITORY.

The wholesale hardware house of Camp Bros. & Co., of Billings, is reported to have assigned.

C. P. Abbott has the contract to erect the new school house at White Sulphur Springs. His bid was $12,300.

The Drum Lummon mine produced $159,800 in bullion last month. The sixty stamps were in operation only 27 days and crushed 3,065 tons of ore.

The time for the Territorial Fair is fast approaching. It opens the 23d of next month and exhibitors should bestir themselves to get their displays in proper shape by that time.

Benton Press: Mr. F. D. Cooper purchased from C. S. Gibson this afternoon about 25,000 pounds of wool at 23 cents per pound. This is the highest price yet paid in this city or Territory.

It is understood that as soon as the adjusting of losses on yesterday's fire is completed the Improvement Company will at once commence the erection of a new plant and push it to completion as soon as possible.

The Great Falls Tribune has enlarged to an eight-page forty-column paper. Further improvement is promised in a new typographical dress. The Tribune is bound to keep pace and grow up with the water power town.

In a letter to the Financial and Mining Record Judge Eddy, of this city, says: "Mr. J. W. Buskett retires from the H. M. & I. Co. to take charge of the Boulder Mining and Reduction Co., and is succeeded by Henry H. Hill, lately from Moline, Ill."

V. H. Combes started a force of men to work at the depot this morning to erect a new frame building for Silverman's sampling works. It is going up just east of the old mill site, and will be completed next week. The dimensions are 100x25 feet.

H. W. Foote & Co. held the following insurance on the property destroyed yesterday at the depot: Norwich Union, $2,000; Commercial Union, $2,000; Germania, N. Y., $1,000; Phoenix, Hartford, $1,000; Union Fire & Marine (on Silverman's), $800.

Chronicle: The following bidders were awarded contracts at Fort Ellis: Wm. Tracy, Bozeman, oats 97c and $1.02, bran 90c. Frank L. Benepe, Bozeman, hay $11.55. James L. Patterson, Bozeman, straw $4.40. Azel Kyes, Yankton, Dak., wood $439.

In the assaying department of the Assay Office the furnaces are now heated with gas. Formerly charcoal was used in a grate adapted to the purpose. Now a water motor runs a blower which supplies a blast of air that mixes with the gas and produces the heat requisite. It is a great improvement.

It is understood that, should the Montana Improvement Company decide to rebuild (and it is authoritatively stated that they will do so) they will erect a plant on a scale of extensiveness far surpassing their previous mammoth works. The adjustment of the loss by the fire is not yet complete, so many different companies having risks on the property.

Our society friend tells us that Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Crosby gave a delightful afternoon tea yesterday at the residence of Bishop Brewer, in honor of Mrs. C. G. Toland, a cultured lady and talented pianiste who is visiting here on her way home to San Francisco. A company of about twenty were present, and between conversation, music and delicious refreshments the afternoon was most enjoyably spent.

New Northwest: Hugh McQuaid and R. H. Sutherland have incorporated a Matrimonial Association, whose principal place of business shall be at White Sulphur Springs. The capital stock consists of four shares, of which they hold two, and the rest are on the market. This scheme was worked up while Hugh was over at the Springs recently, and they expect to make a "Call for Proposals" as soon as they have watered their stock.

Among the most popular resorts in the sixth ward is the "Railroad Headquarters hotel," on Helena avenue, presided over by James Noonan, a gentleman of extensive experience in the west and south. When the late rebellion broke out he was in New Orleans, but his love for the glorious flag of his adopted country decided his course. He started north, but encountered many hardships as well as narrow escapes from rebel prisons. Mr. Noonan has been a resident of Helena for three years and has prospered. All patrons of his house may feel assured of kind, generous treatment, and a first-class table. Mr. Noonan is a representative Irishman and a man of considerable political influence as well as a prominent member of the Irish-American society of this city.

House Drainage Company.

Articles of incorporation for the Durham House Drainage Co. of Montana were filed to-day in the office of the Territorial Secretary. The capital stock is $25,000, in $100 shares, and the incorporators and officers are T. C. Power, President; A. J. Seligman, Vice President; T. H. Klein-schmidt, Treasurer; M. A. Meyendorff, Secretary. The object of the company is to introduce the Durham system of house drainage, which is used with the best results in all the large cities of the East and West.
