Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Wiedeman returned home Friday evening from Billings where Mr. Wiedeman transacted some business. Billings, he says, is certainly about the liveliest place in the state just now, its unmistakable boom being the result of united and determined work on the part of the business men of that town to place the advantages of the place before the people of the eastern states. Hundreds of transients are constantly on the streets and business of every description is fine.

There's vigor and strength in Ralner beer, on tap at the Midway.

Steve Drinkard, living between Straw and Garnett, drank sulphuric acid with suicidal intent last Monday. He had been drinking heavily for some time, and was despondent. The deed was performed at the barn of Hensley & Hendricks, where the victim found a one-pound bottle of the acid which was kept on hand for use in filling a chemical fire extinguisher. Mr. Drinkard will probably recover, but will always suffer with his stomach, and it will no doubt hasten his end. He expressed regret that he did not get enough. It talking of his attempt at suicide, he said that he went to the bottle twice before getting his courage up to the sticking point, but the third time he took the poison. His mouth and throat are in a horrible condition from the burning fluid. His father was on the road here and arrived just a short time after Steve had taken the fiery dose.--Inland Empire.

The Cottonwood creamery is now in operation and some of the finest butter ever made in the county is being turned out. Give the butter a trial.
