

It would be narrow vision indeed to rejoice in the movement of freight as great trains go back and forth across the country carrying grain, livestock, poultry and farm products to seaboard markets—and in return bringing manufactured goods to inland consumers. Such activity means prosperity to the nation; more business better markets; peace and plenty.

Unless this community takes all necessary steps to be part of that activity, however, the day cannot be evaded when Red Lodge will be nothing more than a whistling post.

Marketing the things you have to sell and buy your necessities, luxuries and pleasures right here in Red Lodge is the method whereby we can evade the whistling post identity and insure increased values in our farm and town property; more jobs; better pay and a more prosperous people.

For every case of freight which comes to Red Lodge this year; or every car shipment sent out, there should be two next year. If we establish that goal and work toward it then town growth is assured. We have every natural asset needed right here in Red Lodge. So it is purely a matter of resolve and a pulling together to that end.
