CHANNING POLLOCK

When an accomplished second-story worker breaks into a Long Island home just to get out of the rain, finds a gentleman's dry clothes that fit him, and then has to go right on wearing that gentleman's clothes—and shoes—because he's in love, there's a story for you! Never in years has there been a yarn with half the adventure, half the laughs or half the punch of "SYNTHETIC GENTLEMAN" by Channing Pollock.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HEARS REPORT

to be known as the C. to C. C. highway. He reported a growing interest over the state in this new project and said that a meeting is planned at Lewistown in the near future to form a state association of backers for the proposed route.

He also reported that money for completing the plant mix work on sections C and A of the new Red Lodge-Cooke City highway had been assured, and that efforts were now being made to secure money for placing stock piles on sections B and D of the highway. The appropriation of the department of interior, recently passed by the house, would have to be increased in the senate, before this is possible, he said.

An outstanding feature which won much applause at Tuesday night's meeting was the report given by Margery Chamberlain, recent winner of a speaking contest at the Roosevelt school, who told of the activities and purposes of the recently-formed Roosevelt Junior Commercial club organization. The organization is under the direction of Miss Martha Kimball and is made up of four clubs. The speaker told her audience that the club's purposes was for character building and a study of safety measures. Campaigns are being sponsored to keep Red Lodge streets clean, fines being assessed club members detecting tossing trash into the streets or jaywalking. The organization plans to raise enough money to purchase a trash disposal container for Broadway avenue.

H. C. Olcott, chairman of the club's fish and game committee and president of the Red Lodge Rod and Gun club, made an appeal for assistance to secure 500 members for the latter club and for funds to feed birds and ducks, among which heavy losses are reported due to severe weather conditions.

J. J. Gerondale, chairman of the rodeo committee, said that the annual meeting of the Red Lodge Rodeo association would be held prior to the next commercial club meeting and that the rodeo committee planned to have a report in readiness by that time.

M. B. Pay, chairman of the program committee, said that his committee was finding it difficult to make satisfactory arrangements for club dinner meetings and other affairs due to the habit of some club members to ask ticket sellers to call on them a second time. He stated that the committee's work could be made easier if club members would take the tickets at the first call.

As a matter of new business at the meeting, Mr. Shelley asked that the club cooperate in promoting the new W. P. A. project for free musical instruction and the opportunity afforded for forming a boy's band here. He also asked that the club promote a plan to secure an earlier daily train schedule for Red Lodge, advocating that it be arranged to have the train arrive earlier and with a longer stopover.

Four members of the newly-formed Joliet Commercial club were guests at Tuesday's meeting. They were headed by Elmer Tallmage, president of the Joliet club, who commended the local club on its organization, its plans and purposes. Fifty-six persons attended Tuesday night's meeting.

INQUEST HELD IN ZENEGAS SLAYING

the victim of a mysterious stabbing attack about 20 years ago, which the slain man kept a secret as to its cause and the assailants. The officers said they learned that Zenegas was found badly cut in a cabin near Edgar during World war times by George Mushbach, then of Red Lodge, and Frank Miller of Bridger, but that the Mexican never revealed any details of the affray.

So far as is known, the stabbing episode was the only trouble in which Zenegas was ever implicated. He was well-liked by both American and Mexican residents of the Bridger vicinity, of good disposition but inclined to keep to himself a good deal. He had no enemies as far as the officers could learn.

PLAN FISH SURVEY

There are eastern brook trout, silver salmon, rainbow and natives ready to meet the coming of any sportsmen.

Last year the fish and game commission commenced initial plans to stock the virgin waters in that great natural park of Montana. California golden trout and albino trout were packed into the hidden recesses of that alluring, yet unpenetrable area. As a result hitherto unidentified lakes now have names. They are Golden and Albino lakes.

The state fish and game commission's publication states that following the survey to be conducted this spring by Superintendent Phillips, a plan will be mapped out whereby the entire region will be stocked according to the most modern and scientific methods known to fishdom.

OFFER PRIZE TO

Farm record keeping, the county agent said, should be encouraged in every way, some parents even offering one to two per cent of the income to the boy or girl who will keep an accurate record of the home ranch. He believes that there should be at least 10 older boys and girls within the county interested in the record contest.

Any kind of record may be used which provides space for the following: a complete beginning and closing inventory of all farm possessions, a record of all money received and paid during the year and what these receipts and expenditures were for, and a balance sheet showing how much money the farm made or lost during the year.

The A. A. A. record book will suffice, but a larger book can be secured if needed.

All entrants should notify the extension office of their intent to enter this contest. Any boy or girl expecting to enroll in club work may start the records now.

The mistress of the house heard the bell ring and saw standing at the open door a Chinese hawk. Quickly retreating, she called out to the maid:

"There's a Chinaman at the door. You go, Ella."

This was too much for the Chinese, who stuck his head into the hall and shouted indignantly: "You go 'ella yourself!"

"STOP-and-GO"
 ...4 out of every 5 miles you drive

"Stop-and-go" driving wastes your money —unless your gasoline is made for it!

JUST as your car needs 3 shifts of gears, your gasoline needs 3 kinds of power! One power for quick starts ... one for fast pickup and hill climbing ... one for steady running!

Super-Shell combines these 3 different kinds of power in one fuel—the first truly balanced gasoline!
