

THE HERALD.

JOHN P. BARRETT & CO., Publishers. WALLACE GRUELLE, Editor. HARTFORD, OHIO COUNTY, KY. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1875.

A NEW STORY.

Next week we will begin the publication of an absorbingly interesting story from the pen of the great French novelist, ALEXANDRE DUMAS, JR., that will enchain the reader's attention from first to last, entitled,

THE BLACK TULIP.

This is no tale of lawless passion and doubtful morality, but a romance unexceptionable in its every detail. Our ambition is to make THE HERALD an unexceptionable family paper, and it will be our constant care to exclude everything of a vicious and contaminating nature from its columns.

Few people know how to be old.

There is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.

It is safer to affront some people than to oblige them.

The eagle of one house is generally the fool of another.

There is no secret in the heart which the actions will not betray.

Affectation is a greater enemy to the face than the small-pox.

If you always live with those who are lame, you will yourself learn to limp.

He alone is wise who can accommodate himself to all the contingencies of life.

Men resemble the gods in nothing so much as in doing good to their fellow-creatures.

The superiority of some men is merely local. They are great because their associations are little.

We are never rendered so ridiculous by qualities we possess, as by those we aim at, or affect to have.

Conceit is to nature what paint is to beauty; it is not only needless, but impairs what it would improve.

When men grow virtuous in their old age, they are merely making a sacrifice to God of the Devil's savings.

He that will not believe only what he can fully comprehend, must have a very long head or a very short creed.

Gen. Basil Duke was elected Commonwealth's Attorney of the Louisville District, at the special election Saturday.

The Calhoun Progress broadly intimates that its townsmen are largely composed of "Dead-beats" and "Leaf-ers."

The Radical party is fast resolving itself back into the original element whence it sprang in 1856—Know-Nothingism.

There is no being eloquent for atheism. In that exhausted receiver the mind cannot use its wings,—the clearest proof that it is out of its element.

If a man does not make new acquaintance as he advances through life, he will soon find himself alone. A man should keep his friendship in constant repair.

It is possible that a wise and good man may be prevailed on to game; but it is impossible that a professed gambler should be a wise and a good man.

Senator Morton must think the average Indiana voter a natural born fool or an overgrown, gullible child, else he would not attempt to frighten them with his raw-head-and-bloody-bones story of another Southern rebellion.

Frugality may be truly termed the daughter of prudence, the sister of temperance, and the parent of liberty.—The extravagant man will quickly become poor, and poverty will enforce dependence and invite corruption.

A sick girl of Calhoun, the other day, as she made a pun around her saucer with the cobs of seventeen roasting ears she had gnawed bare, exclaimed:—"Laws-a-me! I just feel like, when I git well enough to eat, I could live off'n corn."

Cash Goodloe, during the recent canvass, put on his war-paint up in Mason county, and swore "by the pint of his knife" that the Democratic party should never, never, NEVER come into power in this country again.—Cash won't impudently personate any great extent to avert such an event.—If the rebels had had only such as he to contend with they would have established their Confederacy with devilish small hindrances.

The only fault we have to find with Governor LESLIE'S administration, is his lavish use of the pardoning power. The laws against gambling, unlawful liquor selling, and like crimes, are inadequate for the protection of society from their baneful effects, even when enforced to the extreme penalty, and to pardon this class of offenders is to outrage public decency, and trample justice under foot. Besides, it is robbery of the people.

This fault we complain of is not peculiar to our present Executive. He but follows the example of his predecessors. But it is high time to down brakes on this thing. In the last ten days, in this county, we have had a case where in the exercise of Executive clemency will work damage to the community, in that it will give fancied immunity to other law-breakers. No Governor should permit himself to go behind and annul the verdict of a jury of the vicinage. When he does this, he robs the law of its chief virtue.

A day or two ago a petition went up to Frankfort, praying the Governor to pardon, in advance of trial, an abandoned woman who is now in our jail, indicted for fornication and keeping a bawdy house. The people of Rockport, near which she pursued her vile calling, demand to be protected from her vicious influence and vile example. The moral sentiment of the county demands equal protection. If the prayer of the petition should be granted, and this woman turned loose to again ply her vile avocation, then we suggest that the people of Rockport give her short notice to leave, and, in case she fails to comply, then let them fasten a stone about her neck and sink her in Green River. Better, a thousand times better, that she should rot in jail, or feed the fishes, than that some innocent but ignorant and foolish girl should become debauched through her procurement.

The petition incorrectly states that she is confined in a cell with a negro man. All of our citizens who know anything at all about the matter, are aware that ever since she was placed in his charge the jailer has kept her down stairs in his family rooms, except when her conduct required him to lock her up; and never but once has she been placed in the same cell with the other prisoners, and then it was her own wish, and she was not permitted to stay longer than an hour and a half. True enough, she ought not to have been in there at all. The jailer ought not to have given her any choice in the matter. We are confident that he will not again offend in like manner.

In the meantime, we assure the Governor that his clemency would be misplaced in this instance. The case is not one that admits of sympathy, but to the contrary. The law, as it stands, provides a penalty totally inadequate to the enormity and foulness of the offense with which this woman is charged, and of which there can be no doubt of her guilt.

The appointment of Col. STRODDARD JOHNSON as Secretary of State, vice Judge CRADDOCK, resigned, is a most judicious one. Although wholly devoted to late years to editorial pursuits, Col. JOHNSON is a lawyer of eminence in the profession. A better selection could not have been made. We congratulate the Colonel on his appointment, and sincerely trust it may prove the first step to greater preferments and loftier positions.

One may live as a conqueror, a ruler, or a magistrate, but he must die as a man. The bed of death brings every man to his pure individuality; to the intense contemplation of that deepest and most solemn of all relations—the relation between the creature and the Creator. Here it is that fame and renown cannot assist us; that all external things must fail to aid us; that even friends, affection, and human love and devotedness cannot succor us.

All the counties have been heard from, and the official returns at Frankfort foot up a majority of 36,169 for McCABRY, which is 984 less than that of LESLIE. The average Democratic majority nearly reaches 46,000. The House stands 90 Democrats to 10 Radicals.

Doesn't Illinois want to borrow our Governor for a few days, that he may rid them of the banditti that infest the southern corner of their cabbage-patch of a State? Their Executive appears to be too weak a beverage for the Williamson county complaint.

Mrs. Millie Dodd, of Warren county, is sprightly, healthy, and clerical, and 115 years old. A bald eagle tried to carry off a child near Columbia last Monday. Great desolation prevails along the Ohio river bottoms in Daviess county, where the crops were totally destroyed by the high water.

The dogs are rapidly depopulating Warren county of sheep, and now the thing most talked of is a war of extermination against the dogs.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

LOGANSPORT, KY., Aug. 14. Death visited our community, and took from our midst one of our most beloved members, Sister Mattie Howard, wife of our worthy Master, J. W. Howard.

Sister Howard was loved and admired by all who knew her. She possessed and constantly exhibited those traits of character which endeared her to a large circle of friends. Naturally kind, generous, and unselfish, she had but few enemies, if any. She was modest and unassuming, always pleasant and agreeable. She was a kind-hearted neighbor, an affectionate companion, and a devoted mother. She was afflicted for several months before her death with that most fatal disease, consumption.

She bore it all with Christian fortitude. She often expressed a desire to live with her husband and little daughter, and entertained a hope that she would recover, until a few days before her death, she said she had been praying all day, and that God had answered her prayers; that she now had no fears of death; that she had given herself up to her Creator, and that it would not be long before she would meet her friends in Heaven.

In the death of sister Howard, our Grange has lost a worthy member, and one of its most efficient lady officers, the community a respected friend, her family a devoted wife and kind mother.

We, of Logansport Grange, No. 934, tender our most heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family of the deceased, and will sacredly cherish her memory, and try and imitate her many virtues. Let us all try to live up to our christian duties, so that when we are done on earth the evening of our life may be as bright as hers, and may we be called up higher to enjoy an endless eternity with our friends who have gone before.

Dearest sister, thou hast left us, Here thy loss we deeply feel, But 'tis God that hath bereft us, He can all our sorrows heal. W. F. LEE, T. D. HERBULE, Com. Bowling-Green Democrat please copy.

LETTER FROM ROSINE.

ROSINE, OHIO COUNTY KY., Aug. 10. EDITOR HERALD:—Our little town is keeping up pretty well, considering the scarcity of money and unfavorable appearance of crops in this vicinity. Our population consists of about seven or eight families, of various occupations. We have three dry goods stores, one drug store, a confectionary, one hotel, one mechanic, one teacher, one physician, and a section box. There are two or three men whom we cannot place. They are not farmers, mechanics, merchants, lawyers or doctors, but are usually seen sitting or lounging around the door on empty barrels or boxes, and I dare say, that some poor woman pays the penalty as she busily pines her needle round the extensive circles on the retrospective part of their pants.

Our merchants seem to be doing a tolerably lively business, and if they would only spend one-fourth of their time in cleaning around their doors that they do in playing marbles and gazing on such like scenes, there might soon be something said in regard to the neat appearance of the town; but as it is, nothing can be said on the subject that would reflect any credit on the inhabitants.

There are no whiskies kept here except for medicinal purposes, yet there is a house men go into, and sometimes come out with exceedingly red noses, and a breath in perfume not unlike that which you would inhale by putting your nose to the bung-hole of a whiskey barrel. X.

COMPOSITION ON THE TOBACCO WORM.

The tobacco worm is an inhabitant of the tobacco patch. He is very green, and when you catch him he grinds his teeth and spits green tobacco juice on your fingers, and tries to stick his horn in you. His horn is on the other end to what the rest of the animals have them, and he ain't got but one, either. I don't see why his eyes wasn't put closer to it, so he could see how to hook good. It looks like it would do better for a tale than a horn, but I reckon he don't need a tale, as the flies don't bother him much. I bet he can chew more than any worm or man in this country, and not make him sick. I don't know a man that set one time they chawed all his tobacco up, and then got up on the fence and asked every feller what passed for a chaw of tobacco, and tramped down a ten acre field of corn going to the branch to drink, but I don't believe it, cause he was a big liar any how. But I know one thing, he ain't good for nuttin, and I don't like to hunt 'em, when the sun shines so hot that it fries the skin on the top of my head, and makes the grease run down in my eyes, and almost makes me wish sometimes there wasn't no tobacco worms. But Bill says if there wasn't no worms and suckers to eat on the tobacco, it would be so easy to raise that everybody would have him a patch, and soon glut the market, so it wouldn't be worth nuttin. I wish it would git glutted, cause I don't like to work in it. Yours Truly, JIMMIE JOHNSON.

FROM ROCKPORT.

ROCKPORT, KY., Aug. 13. EDITOR HERALD:—In your issue of the 11th inst., I noticed a communication signed "A Tax Payer," in which an ill-natured and unjust assault is made upon the citizens of Rockport, and the citizens of Cool Springs District are therein urged to come up with a protest against the petition for a voting place at Rockport. The people are told that the citizens of Rockport are too lazy to come to Isaac Brown's to vote. Why does "A Tax Payer," wish us to come to Isaac's? Has he a wagon load of "millions" to sell, which he is lazy to carry to a more distant market? Of the six dollars per day, for every day the Court of Claims sits, how much will fall to the lot of "Tax Payer," to pay? How often does the Court of Claims sit? "Tax Payer," you know that our expense was no part of your reason for opposing our petition. No, no. Fired with the frenzy to write—an irresistible impulse to meddle—a narrow prejudice against all citizens of towns—these were the moving causes of the communication. And look here, Tax Payer, why try to prejudice the people of Hartford against us? When, how, where, and for what expenses are you on Hartford? You want to make a fling at Hartford, why not come right out like a little man and give her blazes, without trying to make Rockport your masked battery? The facts are these: The citizens of Rockport are mostly mechanics, and cannot afford to keep horses to ride two or three times a year to Isaac Brown's to buy "ginger bread and water mill's" from "Tax Payer." There are about 100 votes in the town, and they are increasing all the time. Our place is growing rapidly. We do not ask for a new magistrate's district—only a voting place. To keep the voting place at Brown's is to disfranchise at every election from 75 to 100 votes. The question is, does the County Court propose to disfranchise that number of the loyal voters of Ohio county, just to satisfy the spleen of Tax Payer? The time will soon come when this will be a matter of the gravest consideration; and he who has the hardihood to stand in the way of this movement, may retire to the place where the woodbine twineeth. Respectfully, NIMH NEMINI.

LETTER FROM KANSAS.

SENEGONCK CITY, KS., Aug. 10, 1875. EDITOR HERALD:—As I have time and opportunity to write you concerning this part (Harvey county) of the State of Kansas, and knowing that the people of your county would feel an interest in reading a faithful description of Southwestern Kansas, I have concluded to try to particularly delineate some of its characteristics. This beautiful expanse of country, designated the Arkansas Valley, is nearly midway between the great oceans, the fertility, healthiness, and natural advantages of which cannot be surpassed by any land between the coasts of New Jersey and California, with a soil adapted to the growth of corn, wheat, rye, oats, and all of the cereals in as great a quantity per acre as any portion of the United States. The climate and health of the Arkansas Valley are among its chief excellencies. The atmosphere is dry and pure, and singularly beneficial to persons predisposed to consumption and bronchial affections. Marshes and stagnant ponds are scarcely known, while bilious diseases, which are incident to all new countries, are almost wholly unknown here. The winters are very nearly the same as those of Kentucky, except the wind strikes us with more force. This is in consequence of the scarcity of timber. No country in the world can furnish a larger number of days in the year in which out-door work can be done. In the hottest days of summer there is usually a cooling breeze. The nights are always pleasant here in the summer season, and altogether different from the hot sultry nights of July and August of the Eastern States. It is true that timber is scarce, but when we take into consideration the old process of working for a lifetime in order to prepare a farm for a plow, and when we consider that in the short time of three years we can, with but comparative little labor, grow a complete orange hedge-fence, and can the first year raise a crop sufficient for our own use, we must conclude that we can have a better located farm here than in any timbered country in a shorter period of time. Fruit trees grow here with wonderful rapidity. A careful consideration of these facts show that nature could not have been more wise in her provision for the welfare of the settler in this section of the country.

A magnificent soil in a gently rolling valley, or upland, is always fully prepared for the plow of the farmer. If he desires it, the orange orange with little care and trouble gives him a fence, while the railroad transports to his very door coal for fuel and timber for building purposes. The climate is that of Kentucky and Virginia, and is delightfully tempered by the rapidly increasing altitude toward the mountains, which secures a healthy, bracing atmosphere, making it the healthiest country in America.

The fertility of the soil cannot be surpassed, producing bountifully of all the grains and fruits and vegetables of the temperate zone. Pure sweet water is abundant everywhere, and is found in springs and running streams, and in wells at a depth of from ten to fifty feet. Its rapid settlement is unprecedented in the history of the west, and has given this new country prosperous towns, churches, and a Common School System of instruction equal to that of any of the older States.

We have abundant mills, and all the security of an old settled community. Coal is found in abundance at various points along the line of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe R. R., which runs through the Arkansas Valley. In contemplation, let me add that we have a first-class railroad, a soil inferior to none in the country, a very healthy climate—billions of fivers and chills and fevers are unknown; a good school system; very low taxes; enormous opportunities for raising stock; and all the varied items which go to make up the welfare of a community.

In conclusion, let me say that at this time, so far as we can get an estimate, we will raise in the county an average of twenty bushels of wheat to the acre, of oats an average of at least fifty bushels per acre; and the present prospect for corn indicates that it will produce somewhere about fifty or sixty bushels per acre, while potatoes and vegetables of all kinds are as luxuriant and abundant as in any country with which the writer is acquainted.

And now let me say to those who wish to emigrate, come and see this rich and beautiful valley, and judge for yourselves whether or not I have given you a truthful description of it. Very Respectfully, G. W. BRACHMAN.

TASTELESS MEDICINES. A prominent New York physician lately recommended to DUNDAS DICK & CO., about their SANDALWOOD OIL CAPSULES, stating that a patient of his had taken them without effect. On being told that several imitations were sold he inquired and found his patient had not been taking DUNDAS DICK & CO.'S.

What happened to this physician may have happened to others, and DUNDAS DICK & CO. take this method of protecting physicians, druggists and consumers, and preventing OIL OF SANDALWOOD from coming into disrepute.

PHYSICIANS who once prescribe the Capsules will continue to do so, for they contain PURE OIL in the best and cheapest form.

DUNDAS DICK & CO. use more OIL OF SANDALWOOD than all the Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Perfumers in the United States combined, and this is the sole reason why the pure OIL is sold cheaper in their Capsules than in any other form.

OIL OF SANDALWOOD is fast superseding every other remedy, sixty Capsules only being required to insure a safe and certain cure in six to eight days. No other medicine can do this.

DUNDAS DICK & CO'S SOFT CAPSULES solve the problem, long considered by eminent physicians, of how to avoid the nausea and disagreeable after-effects which are well known to detract from, if not destroy, the good effects of many valuable remedies.

Soft Capsules are put up in tin-foil and neat boxes, thirty in each, and are the only Capsules prescribed by physicians.

TASTELESS MEDICINES.—Caster Oil and many other noxious medicines can be taken easily and safely in DUNDAS DICK & CO'S SOFT CAPSULES. NO TASTE. NO SMELL.

These were the only Capsules admitted to the last Paris Exposition. SOLD AT ALL DRUG STORES HERE.
