FAREWELL!

Dear Friends: With this issue will end my brief service as local editor of The Hartford Herald. I have been called for military service and will leave for Camp Taylor next Monday.

'Tis with mingled sorrow and pride that I leave you, sorrow because of parting, but pride that I can be of service in crushing the foe to our civil, political and religious liberties. Although I leave a widowed mother two sisters and many, many loved ones, I feel that in so doing I will be the more worthy of their love and esteem.

I desire to sincerely thank those who have encouraged and assisted me in making my work in connection with The Herald a success, and trust you will remember me while engaged in "doing my bit for Uncle Sam".

Now to all, a long farewell, trusting that when the Hun shall have been defeated, and peace shall once more reign we may meet again and side by side take up the great work of reconstruction.

Sincerely Yours,
LYMAN G. BARRETT.

LOCAL EDITOR HERALD
GOES TO LICK HUN.

Lyman G. Barrett, who has been local editor of The Herald for the past month, has been called to the colors, and will report to the Henderson county board Monday for entrainment to Camp Zachary Taylor.

Mr. Barrett is an exceptionally fine young man, and made many friends during his short stay in Hartford.

Though The Herald regrets exceedingly to give him up, we, with his many friends, wish him luck, and here's hoping that if he gets across the "pond" he will bring back the Kaiser's eye tooth.

OHIO COUNTY AWAKE.

During the early days of our great Civil War, there were many people, of both North and South, who predicted that Americans would never fight. After the war had been in progress a short time and our soldiers had shown to the world that in all history there were none braver than these self same people not only were forced to admit their great mistake, but many went so far as to predict that Americans would never quit fighting.

In the earlier weeks of the present war, a number of persons were heard to express the opinion that because of our long period of peace, the spirit of '76, of '45 and '62 was dead. Because our government issued the more rapid process of conscription, many pessimists even said we would have a civil war. At this time, although we have just begun fighting, these false prophets are awoken to the fact that the spirit of Liberty is wide awake and that our boys are just as patriotic, just as brave just as true as were their forefathers at Bunkers Hill, at Vera Cruz or Gettysburg.

Here in Ohio County, during the early part of the war, we had several, and yet have a few who are not fully awake to their duties and opportunities, but the mass of the people of our county are really alive to the grave issues of the present and may be counted on to do everything in their power to thwart the purpose of the Hun.

President Wilson has designated next Friday April 26, as Liberty day. Let's celebrate it by purchasing a Liberty bond.

Hartford need not be afraid of a German land attack, for with the present condition of our roads and bridges it would be impossible for them to reach here.

Senator Beckham thinks the Senate should spend less time in talking, and more time in doing things. Beckham is not the only Kentuckian that has this opinion.

Kentuckians are sometimes mighty slow about getting started, but when they do all creation can't stop 'em. They have outranked every other state in the purchase of Liberty bonds.

That the German-Americans are at last realizing the seriousness of their position, is fully evidenced by the fact that German American Alliance has disbanded and given the $30,000 now in their treasury to the American Red Cross.

It is hard to conceive why Ireland, knowing the fate of Belgium, Poland, Serbia and other weaker peoples, should still persist in trying to avert conscription. The Irish people have long been noted for their bravery. Shall the world be forced to change its opinion?

Adj. Gen. Ellis is beginning the organization of several companies of State militia. This is a splendid opportunity for those under and above the draft age, to show their colors. Why not get together here in Ohio county and ask that another company be organized here?

A dispatch from France says that army men in Paris are now of the opinion that the Germans participating in the present drive are no fewer than 1,500,000 and that their casualties have amounted to 500,000. If this be true we hope they keep on driving, for at this rate, when they enter Paris they'll all be dead 'uns.

Superstition Concerning Moon.

That the moon can make people mad is still a prevalent belief, and even most of those who pride themselves on being free from all superstition would hesitate to lie where the moon can shine upon them while they sleep. For would they not run the risk of being "moon struck"? Does not Othello in the agony of his soul exclaim:

"Tis the very error of the moon,
She comes more near the earth than she was wont,
And makes men mad."

Science ridicules all of this today, pointing out that the moon can send us nothing but her light, which is only a feeble reflection of that of the sun, and the attraction of her gravity, which seems to affect the rise and fall of the tides.

Wanted Officers to Learn Dancing.

That the great Lord Nelson urged his midshipmen to learn dancing has been discovered through the publication of a letter written by the hero of Trafalgar to the earl of Cork. Captain Nelson as he then was wrote: "It is necessary that your son should be made complete in his navigation, and if the peace continues, French is absolutely necessary. Dancing is an accomplishment that probably a sea officer may require. You will see almost the necessity of it, when employed in foreign countries; indeed, the honor of the nation is so often entrusted to sea officers that there is no accomplishment which will not shine with peculiar luster in them."

Early Intoxicating Liquors.

Pliny says: "The natives who inhabit the west of Europe have a liquid with which they intoxicate themselves, made from corn and water. The manner of making this liquid differs. In Gaul and Spain and other countries it is called by different names, but its nature and properties are everywhere the same."

"The people of Spain in particular brew this liquid so well that it will keep a long time. So exquisite is the cunning of mankind in gratifying their vicious appetites that they have thus invented a method to make water itself produce intoxication."

Mary and—

Mary has a knitting bag.
It isn't very small;
Half-cousin to a carpet-sack,
Capacity, and all.
It goes wherever Mary goes,
And what it holds, I fear
I never could enumerate
Although I wrote a year.

From that huge bag, helmets and socks,
She regularly takes out,
While sweaters, wristlets, needles, yarn,
Are ever thereabout.

And every stitch that Mary drops,
She'll find, some day, I bet,
Somewhere within her knitting bag—
It isn't quite full, yet!

Four-year-old Charlotte was having trouble with her English, but she had entirely passed her difficulties on one point.

"I see how it is now, mother, she said the other day. 'Hens set and lay; and people sit and lie, don't they mother?'"

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES

SECURE RAISE.

Washington.—The Railroad Wage Commission has completed its recommendations for wage increases for railroad employees, and a report will be submitted to Director General McAdoo upon his return from a Liberty Loan speaking tour in the West.

Nothing was made known as to the amount of the increase to be given, although it has been said that employees now receiving small pay will be given the largest advances. The commission began its work January 21.

"This morning I overheard you calling me a bonehead."
"Did you?"
"And this afternoon you called me a pinhead."
"Possibly."
"I say, old chap, aren't you mixing your metaphors a bit?"

Here is an extract from a hotel prospectus in Switzerland:

"Veisbach is the favorite place of resort for those who are fond of solitude. Persons in search of it are in fact constantly flocking here from the four quarters of the globe."
