if the insect twists round and round the il war is constantly menaced. The rivalry between flax and cutton is established. Can if the insect twists round and round, the twig, that is of the size of one's finger or there be any doubt about the final issue of this competition? Must not the cotton-hand less, it dies.

Be this as it may, the small trees of the forests begin to look as though they were already nipped by the frosts of autumn, the leaves upon the small twigs drying up and turning color. This is the only damage occas, oned by the locusts as yet. PECULATIONS OF A CLERK IN THE THE WHITE SLAVE GIRL—SALOME MULLER.

A young man named Theodore F. Deaniston has been arrested in Chicago for Stealing and opening money letters.

He is between iwenty-five and thirty years of age and anmarried. His brother, Petry Demiston, was arrested for the same crime in March last and is now at liberty on bail for $3,500. The Dennistons are and restood to be nephews of Postmaster Cook, and if this is the case their opportunities to commit these depredations upon the public is due to relationship. Their father lives in New Jersey, and the sons, upon a salary of five or six hundred dollars a year, have the credit of having purchased and paid for a farm for him within the last year or two.

After arresting Denniston, the officers went to his boarding house and searched his room. The search was nearly concluded without finding any trace of his crimes, when Officer Pinkerton decided to search minutely and tock the pictures down from the walls: On removing the backs of several bank bills to the amount of $3,738 were found concealed, most of which were of large denomination. In March 1818, three ships arrived at New same ship with the Mullers, was passing throf
a street in New Orleans, and accidentally saw Salome in a wine shop, belonging to Louis Belmonte, by whom she was held as a slave. Madame Karl recognized her at once, and carried her to the house of another German woman, Mrs Shubert, who was Salome's cousin and god-mather, and no soons set eyes on her than, without having any intima-tion that the discovery had previously been made, she unhesitatingly exclaimed, "My God! here is the long lost Salome Muller."

The Law Reporter says that among the witnesses who appeared in court, was the midwife who had assisted at the birth of Sa-lome. She testified to the systems of serlome. She testified to the existence of cer-tain peculiar marks upon the body of the child, which were found, exactly as describ-There is a fouch of practical good sense about the following that will be appreciated by thousands. We find it in that excellent and sensible paper the Maryaville Tribune: I "I declare, Mr. Smith ! this is too bad.—Here you are stretched out on the sofa, mussing it up, and my nice carpet is all soiled by the tramp of your coarse boots. I shall be ashamed to bring any one into the parlor again—and I have taken so much pains to keep everything nice! I do think, Mr. Smith, you are the most thoughtless, careless man I ever did see—you don't appear to care how things look, nor how much trouble you give me. If I had no more care than you have we would soon have a nice looking house—it would not be long till our new house and furniture would be just as bad as the old," said John Smith's wife to him, as she saw him in the parlor taking a nap on the sofa.

Mr. Smith rose up slowly, and answered.
