Olive Logan on Woman Suffrege. Mrs. Olive Logan Wirt Sikes writes to

A paragraph is current to the effect that both my husband and myself "stand in the front line of the ultraprogressionists of the age in regard to marriage, and the religious ceremony performed by Dr. Collyer they regard as a concession to the prejudices of the unenlightened majority." This state "woman suffrage question" (as it is called,) I wish to deny it through your columns. It I had not been in some measure associated, for the past two or three years, with that small band of women who have pleaded for the extension of the franchise to our sex, this statement would never have been made. Because nowhere in my published writings, my lectures, or in my private conwarrant such a statement. On the contrary, I have steadily defended the holy institution of marriage in all my utterances touching the subject. I have earnestly contended that it is the basis this life, and I have even gone so far, under the pressure of popular clamor, as to say that if woman suffrage means free love, I am opposed henceforth to woman suffrage. My marriage to Wirt Sikes was the last, most emphatic protest I could make against the free love notions of which we hear so much in the present day; it was no "concesit was an expression of opinion which I hoped no one could misunderstand. It was simply practicing what I preach.

The subject of woman's enfranchisement has become so loaded with obnoxious features that what once seemed a fair protest against the tyranny of taxation without representation (the principle for which our forefathers fought and died) is now becoming a nuisance to audiences. It is also becoming a nuisance to me, and I have resolved to confine myself in future to a line of remark which has done more toward winning me such fame and fortune as I possess than anything I have said about suffrage. Only let me do my work in my own way, let me use my maiden name as a nom de plume, and don't let people call me "an ultra-progressionist with regard to marriage."

Yours truly, OLIVE LOGAN.

Mr. Lumin had transferre'l his property to a friend to keep it out of his wife's hands, and this will annoy the administrator some. A suit has been brought against the town of East Haven by Mr. Morris for $30,000. Another suit will be instituted to decide who will pay for the horse, the State or the town. The most complex question arises as to who will be Mr. Lumm's he r. If it is proven that he died first, the property would have gone to the daughter and then back to the mother. If the daughter was drowned first, then the property goes to a half sister of Mr. Lumm's, who lives somewhere in the West, but just where is not known. Altogether, it will be a most interesting legal contest, and should the sui against the town of East Haven be suc cessful, there will be considerable prop erty for the heirs.

Albumen from Fish Eggs.

The great demand for albumen for manufacturing purposes has led to the attempt to obtain it from every imaginable source, hens' eggs being of course ficient to afford a supply. An experiment has recently been made by Dr. Grune to utilize fish roes for this purpose, these being obtainable from many kinds of fish in immense quantities, and which are usually thrown away. When entirely ripe, these roes are capable of furnishing a large amount of albumen, and in this condition are to be stripped from the investing membrane, and made free from adhesion as much as possible. They are then placed in a sieve, rubbed with a stiff brush so as to break up their contents and allow the albumen to pass through. This is to be washed with water, to which one part of ammonia in three hundred is to be added, so that the albumen adhering to the sieve shall be carried through. The solution thus obtained is then to be placed in high vessels and allowed to stand for some days, and when it becomes clear the albumen can be poured off into flat dishes, and evaporated in well ventilated rooms. The cleansing is said to be facilitated by passing through coarse sand or powdered glas-. The best roe for this purpose is that of fresh water fishes, such as pikes, but the albumen can be obtained from any species. If the roes have been kept too long, of course there is a tendency to decomposition, accompanied by an unpleasant smell, but this is not at all appreciable if the labor be prosecuted at the proper time.

Loss of a Valuable Horse.

Mr. Chas. Cameron, of Collingwood, Canada, recently lost a valuable horse, said to have been a pure Clyde, in transitu from Glasgow, Scotland, to Montreal. The weather during the vovage was very rough, and in the height of a violent gale the horse broke loose from his slings and got on deck. The sailors were unable to secure him, and to save themselves from injury from the struggling animal the side hatch was removed and the horse run overboard. Mount Vernor, III., April 29, 1871.

Messers. J. N. Harris & Co., Cascanasti. Odio:

Gentlemen.—I heard one of my cestomers speak in such high terms of Allee's Lung Babom to-day that I thought I would write you the substance of his statements. He says his mother, who is now sirty years of age, has suffered with consumption for sevelal years, and has been under the care of all on best physicians, but never received any permanent benefit; then she resorted to every kind of Cough and Lung Balsam that could be procured for her, but all to no arail. She still grew worse, until she was confined to her bed; and when she was seized with a paroxysm of coughing she would lose the power of repiration, and they were compelled to resort to various means to restore breathing; and while she couched so hard she could not expectorate anything, and the family and friends had given up all hopes of her recovery. Her son noticed the advertisement of Allee's Lung Balsam in the Christian Advecate, and they thought they would procure and try it. They commenced giving her the Balsam at a o'clock P. M., as directed, a dose every hour until midnight; then she took another spell of coughing, and expectorated a mouthful of dark, yellow matter, which was something she had not been able to do for some time. They continued to give her the Balsam notil morning, and then she becam to expectorate freely, and within three hours she expectorate freely, and within three hours she expectorate freely, and within three hours she expectorate freely, and within three hours and continued to improve. She now sits up all say, and can walk about the house and take considerable out-door exercise. Her son bought more of the Balsam to-day, and he is recommending it very highly to every one. Yours respectually.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs,

such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PROTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs Langs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affectiens of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicable to the publicable when you can be suffered by the proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, Cherry Pectoral is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitts, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toll is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable or producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.
