Arms Exports to Continue, Austria Told

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain. The reply states that the United States government has not concurred in the suggestion that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain. The reply states that the United States government has not concurred in the suggestion that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

WORLD NECESSITY CONSTANT VIGIL.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

AMERICAN SAFETY AT STAKE.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

DEMANDS UNJUST TO NEUTRALS.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 16—The state department today made public the reply of the United States rejecting views at the American legation at Vienna that the United States is ready to sell arms to Austria-Hungary for use in the war with Great Britain.

tʃransmit 200 words