THE U. S. COURT.

Nolen's Trial Postponed Until Next Term of Court.

Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Judge Bradford presiding. The petit jury was called and answered to their names. On motion of J. H. Hoffecker a jury was empanelled to find the amount in the book account of Thomas F. Blake, more and Jacob Garretson, trading as Garretson, Blake and Co., vs. Phillip W. McDowell and Edgar McDowell, executors of Phillip McDowell, deceased, and Edward McDowell, surviving partner of Phillip McDowell, deceased. The jury rendered a verdict by consent awarding to the plaintiffs $1,037.86. The petit jury was then discharged from further attendance.

On motion of the same gentleman, counsel in the case of William D. Nolen, late Collector of Customs, and by consent of Anthony Higgins, District Attorney, the case was continued over until the November term.

On motion of Anthony Higgins, and by consent of the State Attorney, a nolle prosequi was entered in the two cases of the State of Delaware vs. John M. Dunn, J. S. Hawkins and L. C. Grubb. Also, in the case of the United States vs. J. Cloud, J. H. Bennett and J. A. Ellis. Court then adjourned until to-morrow at 9 o'clock.

Dramatic Entertainment.

The members of the Pio Nono Society, will give another dramatic and musical entertainment this evening, in St. James' Church, Lovering avenue and Dupont streets. "Teddy Roe," will be among the attractions to-night, and the play "Robert Macaire," which was presented on Tuesday evening, will again be reproduced, with the following cast of characters:

Marie, - Miss L. Jordan
Clementine, - Miss M. Dell
Nanine, - Miss Katie O'Byrne
Mr. Germeil, - Johnnie Shields
Mr. Dumont, - Jas. McVey
Charles, - H. Dunn
Sergeant Lonpy, - C. Jordan
Robert Macaire, - Jno. I. O'Byrne
Jacques Strop, - A. Lenhoff
Louis, - E. Donahue

The exercises were much enjoyed on the former occasions, and should receive the encouragement of the people to night.

Mr. Editor:—Allow me to say in defense of the writer who first announced verbum, that his reply was more correct than the one who made an effort to answer it the time previous to this. The word alumnus, he said, but should have known better, means a nurse. He should know that the word is never used in that sense, but that nutrix is the proper term, to use in the sense which he implied. The following in relation to the word, alumnus, is taken from the latest edition of Andrew's Latin Lexicon.

Alumnus: a. u. adj.: That is nourished, brought up: Subst.—a.—a nursing, pupil or scholar, &c.

B.—Alumna, fem. a foster-daughter, a pupil.
He then adds, 2., in late latin, act., nourishing; or as a substantive, a nourisher, one who brings up, or educates. From this it will be seen that alumnus does not, literally, mean, a nurse, but that the adjective does mean something which is nourished, hence the institution alluded to, had a right to use the word alumnus, in the sense which it did.

Minor Locals.

Council meets this evening.

Yesterday morning the H. & H. Co., shipped eight new cars for the Camden and Atlantic Railroad.

The Loans.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Mutual Loan Association, $1000, 5th series sold at 25 per cent. The balance was applied to the payment of matured stock, first series. Two amendments to the by-laws were also adopted, one changing the time to annual meeting from the second to the third Tuesday in February, and the other reducing fines from ten to one per cent per share.

The Brandywine Loan, sold $1100 at par and paid $118 to withdrawing shareholders.

Last Mark Down.

The proprietor of the popular clothing house, No. 207 Market street, has again marked down his Spring and Summer clothing, and announces that this will be the last. He will sell at low prices in order to get rid of the large stock of goods he has on hand.

Excursion to Franklin, Va.

An excursion from Harrington to Franklin, Va., on Friday and Saturday, June 23 and 24, will come off, on the occasion of a Masonic trip to Chincoteague Island.

M. Offenbach.

There is perhaps no country in the world cosmopolitan enough in the nature of its people to have given such a reception as that recorded to M. Offenbach, in Philadelphia, on Monday evening. The author of the "Grand Duchesse," Genevieve, &c., was indeed preceded at the Boston Jubilee, of a few years ago, by very great attractions, such as military bands representing the governments of England, France and Germany, and the celebrated Strauss, the strains of whose waltzes have made the blood tingle in so many veins and incited thousands to forget their dignity so far as to join in the dance, but never until this year did the American people cast their grateful eyes upon the man from whose brain emanated the baroque martial music of the Grand Duchesse, and the almost affecting strains of the dithyramb. He is better known to the world than any of the others, and especially to America, which has been favored with more French opera by French performers, than any other country, even England. It was a thorough satisfaction of the curiosity so long felt, to see the composer at one time sitting in a retired nook of the garden smoking a cigar and sipping lemonade, in an out an out America fashion through a straw, and then in receipt of a most hearty reception, so he made his appearance on the conductor's stand. In appearance, he is lanky and scrawny, and even sickly looking, and wears clothes that by no means fit him, but leads with all the vigor and grace of a Frenchman, though really not one by birth. At the conclusion of his pieces, classical musicians differing so much in their style from his, did not hesitate to applaud loudly.

THE BAYARD CLUB.

Its Reorganization Last Night.

Last evening quite a large number of Democrats assembled at Seventh and Walnut streets for the purpose of reorganizing the old Bayard club.

The following officers were chosen: President, James Davis; Vice President, John Barnes; Secretary, Daniel Moore; Vice-Frank Sweetman, resigned; Treasurer, Wm. McMenamin. On motion, it was resolved that the club secure a permanent place of meeting, and a committee was appointed for the purpose. After some informal discussion the meeting adjourned.

Robbery.

Early yesterday morning, the office of Esquire Brady, on Fourth street, was entered through a back window by one or more thieves, who scattered the Esquire's papers and books about the floor, and took from a drawer $6 in money, and a silver watch. The watch was found in the cellar as the thieves dropped it in their hasty exit on the outside from whence it rolled, the robbery occurred sometime after one o'clock.

The New Directory.

We have had placed upon our table the Directory of the city of Wilmington, for the unexpired portion of the present year and 1877. The directory is carefully compiled, and is a valuable guide. It was gotten out by the Commercial printing company, and exhibits a decided neatness in typography.

A Good Hotel.

There are few hotels on the Peninsula which can excel the house kept by Amos R. Cole, at Milford. Mr. Cole is an obliging and attentive host, and understands how to run a popular house. The hotel is widely known to the traveling public and has always been popular and well patronized. Mr. Cole is something of a Wilmingtonian, and those visiting Milford from here or elsewhere, will be well taken care of at Cole's.

The Vienna Bakery.

The Vienna Bakery of the Centennial Grounds, erected by Gaff, Fleischman & Co., is one of the attractive places at the Exhibition. Adjoining it is an elegant Cafe (on the Vienna plan) where the products of the bakery will be served, together with the best Vienna coffee, chocolate, tea, and ices of all kinds, at moderate prices.

Was it Jesus?

"Sister Susan," said an earnest brother at a colored revival meeting last evening, "don't you feel Jesus workin' in your soul?" "Yes," she said, "brodder, sometimes I think it am Jesus, den again I thinks it am worms!"

Justice's Court.

A Good Day for the J. P.'s—The Shrine of Bacchus.

Our Justices of the Peace yesterday were no doubt impressed with the idea that the financial crisis is nearly over, and those good old days are coming again. The following is a list of the cases heard before them yesterday:

Before Esquire Hagarty, Emory Deacon brought suit against Joshua Bacchus, on a charge of assault and threatening to shoot him. Bacchus was required to pay costs and enter in bail for $100 to keep the peace. A counter suit was had immediately after before the Mayor, when the result was reversed.

Before Esquire Frantz, Edwards Gibbons, for assaulting Simon Woolfeon. The defendant was discharged for want of evidence.

Eugene Brown, for assaulting Eliza Jane Turner. He was fined 6 cents and costs.

Eliza Jane was then required to answer to the charge of threatening to cut the head of Julia W. Brown, with a razor. She was held in $100 to keep the peace.

Mary Jane Keen, for assaulting Mary Taggart, fined 6 cents and costs, and dismissed.

Before Esquire Brady, Sarah E. Williams for disorderly conduct, was held in the sum of $50 to keep the peace, and fined costs of prosecution.

Mary Carfrey, Mary Taggart and Margaret Cogill, were each held in $50 peace bond, and fined costs, for using abusive language toward Katherine August.

There were no hearings at the police court last evening.

The Board of Trustees of the Delaware Avenue Church will hold a meeting on Monday evening next.
