The position taken by Judge Douglas his Freeport speech, that the people of a Territory could exclude slavery therefrom, notwithstanding such an act has been dscided by the Supreme Court to be unconstitutional, is being denounced and ridiculed in every section of the country. In the free State the doctrine advanced at Freeport, when taken in connection with his Chicago, Ottawa, and other speeches, creates disgust ed upon and trested as abolition sm of the darkest hue. It is indeed a most extraordinary and unaccountable position for a man of Judge Douglas' ability as a statesman, to

This is of course not original with the Press, for the same thing has substantially appeared over and over in every Republican and Danite paper in the State since the publication of the Freeport Debate. It is seized upon as something entirely new-as a back down on the part of Judge Douglas from the carlier position he had assumed on the Dred Scott decision. Now if these editors were honest, or if honest, then not hopelessly and inexcusably ignorant, they would not withhold from their readers the fact that, so far by him in his celebrated speech at Springfield in June, 1857, in exactly the same is what he said in 1857:

"While the right (the right of the master to his slave in the territory) continues in full force under the guarantees of the constitution, and cannot be divested or alienated by an act of Congress, it necessarily remains a harren and a worthless right unless sustained, protected, and enforced by approprition. These regulations and remedies must necessarily depend entirely upon the will

Hence, the great principle of popular sovereignty and self-government is sustained and firmly established by the authority of

Now, I ask the gentlemen, what is the practical importance to them. BY TELEGRAPH.

Atlantic Telegraph All Right. TRINITY BAY, N. F., Sept. 23. We can at last announce the gratifying intelligence that the Atlantic telegraph is again in complete working order. Good electrical currents have been passing through the line for the last three days, and though we are not informed of the transmission of any specific messages, it can be stated with accuracy, that the signals from Valentia are distinct as ever. It is hoped the cable will be ready for business in a few weeks.

Arrival of the Niagara. The royal mail steamer Niagara, from Liverpool on Saturday the 11th, arrived at 5 clock this forenoon. Nothing further in relation to the cable had been given to the public. The directors of the company were to hold a meeting the day the Niagara sailed, to discuss further actions. In the meantime the shipment of the large shere ends from Plymouth to Valentia had been suspended. The reported cesssion of the port of Zilla in the Mediteranean, to Russia is confirmed. The Bank of France had gained 33,000,-000 francs in specie during the month of August.

Later news from Iudia and China, had been received but not important. The bearer of the English treaty with China, accompanies the mail. The treaty confirms the announcement in relation to it brought out by the North Briton and Northern Light.
