THE MODEL MEETIN'-HOUSE.

BY WILL S. HAYS.

Howdy, Davy! light and hitch; thar's no one home but me,
Thar ain't a man 'a livin', sir, I'd sooner like ter see;
For Nance and Liddy's gone to see a sick man on the hill,
An' Hiram's gone to get his grist at Jason Turner's mill.

I was in town las' Sunday, an' my heart an' me agreed
To go to meetin'—ef you'll wait I'll tell you what I seed:
The bells were tolling lively on the balmy mornin' air,
An' folks were in a hurry, like the rushin' to a fair.

The meetin'-house was built of stone, the steeple pinted high,
The windows they were painted all the colors of the sky;
An' runnin' up the steeple was a great long lightnin' rod—
I kinder thought the members lacked a confidence in God.

The big bell sorter hushed itself an' then it rung some more,
An' people come in carriages an' got out at the door;
The wimmin fixed their dresses like they meant to make a call;
Thar faces showed they warn't thinking ov their souls at all.

Well, Davy, thar I stood and thought—'twas wicked I suppose—
Some go to church to close their eyes, an' some to eye their clothes;
I overheard old Missus Swell to Missus Stebbins say:
"My darter Becky's dress warn't done—she wont be here to-day."

I stood there hesitatin' like what sort of move to make;
I felt that I should go inside for my salvation's sake;
I started meekly in the house, I knew it wan't no harm;
With my old broad-brim hat in hand and jeans coat on my arm.

I went along 'bout half way up the velvet carpet ile,
The men an' wimmen shut thar gates, an' they begin to smile;
I see one open just a bit, went in an' pulled it to,
When Brown, the banker, riz and said, "This ere's a rented pew."

I got out of his "rented pew" an' sot down near the door,
Expectin' for some man to say, "This ere's a rented floor."
A fine dressed stranger he cum in, the members didn't wait,
But every feller jumped at him an' opened wide his gait.

The parson riz an' raised his han's with cold and haughty air,
An' everybody in the house stood up an' heard his prayer.
I don't know how it is with them—somehow I always feel
I'm doin' God injustice when I get too proud to kneel.

Then all sat down an' stared about, then at the parson's face,
While he put on his specs an' said, "Let's sing amazin grace."
An organ busted loose up stairs—the music it was gay,
It tickled them as couldn't sing and them wot had to pay.

The music quit, the parson riz—they passed the hats round next—
An' when the deekins sot them down, the parson took his text,
He preached almost two hours 'bout his faith in God to ke-p—
The wimman folks were noddin' while thar husbands wor asleep.

One gal said to another, "Hev you seen my bow to-day?"
She'd nod hor hed, an' then say back, "The party it wos gay."
One whispered loud enough behind her fan for me to hear,
"That bonnet Sola Tag's got on is one she had last year."

The parson quit and then sat down—the organ played agin;
I thought if that was servin' God, the tunes they played was thin;
I've hearn the bands at circusses play just the self same air.
The parson, when the organ quit, dismissed 'em all with prayer.

Now, Davy, if the angels seed what I did, I believe,
There warn't one among 'em all but what laffed in thar sleeve;
For God don't smile on Christians who His blessin's will abuse;
He hain't no use for organs, and He don't like rented pews.

He rings no bells to tell 'em that the Sabbath's come once more;
The Angels have no carriages to drive up to His door.
Such Christians might as well look up to God an' sweetly smile,
An' say, "I send my soul, dear Lord, I'm cumin' after a while."

Our Master up in Heaven, Davy, sees—hears everything;
He likes to see His children kneel, and loves to hear 'em sing;
For whar he lives the angels sing an' Christians get their dues—
His music costs him nothin', and He has no rented pews.

Thar ain't no use o' foolin' 'long the road down to the grave;
Thar ain't no use o' dodgin' when youv'e got your soul to save;
Fine churches, organs, carridges, clothes, rented pews an' "perl?"
Don't count that day—it lays between yer Maker and yourself.

Homicide in Seattle.

SEATTLE (W. T.), Sept. 23.—Last Tuesday afternoon an affray occurred in this city between J. W. Ervin and Alexander Bailey, which resulted in the death of the former. They had been intimate friends, and had been doing business together for several years past, A misunderstanding regarding some business transactions arising, Ervin became very much excited, and arming himself with a revolver sought Bailey, threatening to shoot him on sight. When they met, Ervin was driving a span of horses attached to a lumber wagon. He stopped his team and drew his revolver, but before he could use it Bailey caught a spoke from the wagon and dealt him a blow in the forehead, which resulted in his death in about six hours afterward. Deceased was a native of Rochester, N. Y., and for many years was a contractor and builder in Chicago. Bailey had an examination to-day, and was honorably discharged.

Everybody is wondering why the BAZAAR is selling their goods so cheap. The reason is they must clear out their Spring and Summer goods to make room for the immense stock of Fall and Winter goods which they will soon receive.

The BAZAAR is now giving 12 yards Best American Prints for $1. Also, six yards 4-4 French and American prints for $1. At the corner of Main and Requena streets, opposite the U. S. Hotel.

POETRY.

Though preachers may preach and teachers teach
Of the evil effects of drink,
'Tis music sweet to a man of wit
To hear the glasses clink.
Both Webster and Clay, who in their day
The nation's affairs did guide,
At 11 A. M. each day were seen
With bottles by their side.
Say what you will—talk with skill—
'Tis true beyond a doubt,
That sparkling wine is a gift divine
Life would be drear without.
