MY LIFE IS LIKE THE SHATTERED WRECK.

My life is like the shattered wreck
Cast by the waves upon the shore;
The broken mast—the riddled deck;
The shipwreck that is o'er.
Yet from the relics of the storm
The mariner his raft will form.
One more to tempt the faithless sea—
But hope rebuilds no large for me.
My life is like the blighted oak
That lifts its sore and withered form,
Scathed by the lightning's sudden stroke
Sternly to meet the coming storm.
Yet round the saplen trunk will grow
The curling tendrils of the vine,
And life and freshness there impart—
Not to the passion blighted heart.
My life is like the shattered rock
In mid-ocean lone and drear;
Worn by the wild waves careless shock
That round its base its surges rear.
Yet there the sea-moss still will cling
Sternly to meet the coming storm,
And breathe the e'en in a sweet perfume—
For me life's flowers no more will bloom!
My life is like the desert waste;
By human footsteps seldom trod;
The eye no freshness there can trace
No verdant spot on which to rest;
Yet e'en among those sands so drear
The stork will tend her young with care.
Even there the notes of joy impart—
But naught can cheer my lonely heart!

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

The maiden voyage of the first German passenger airship, the Deutschland, is announced for June 22. The course will be from Friedrichshafen to Stuttgart, Mannheim, Cologne and Duesseldorf.
The Deutschland was built after the Zeppelin model jointly for the Hamburg-American Steamship Company and the German Airship Stock Company. The speech-making aerial excursions will be carried out on a luxurious scale.
The cabin of the Deutschland is of mahogany, built after the style of a sleeping car. It is carpeted and inlaid with mother of pearl. Large windows provide an outlook on both sides. It is situated between the gondolas. A restaurant will supply cold meats, coffee, tea and wines. The dimensions of the vessel are: Length, 485 feet; width, 46 feet. Its capacity is 24,852 cubic yards of gas, and it will carry three motors, totaling 230-horsepower. The limit of the voyage is fixed at 700 miles. The lifting capacity of the craft is 44,000 pounds, of which 11,000 will cover crew, passengers and freight. The first trips are fully booked, the fares varying from $25 to $50.

SPEAKER CANNON DEFENDS THE RULES.
The old rules of the House were defended and the critics of Speaker Cannon were scored by him in a brief address late in the session of the House on Saturday. He contended that the operation of the rules as adopted by the Fifty-first Congress and as enforced by him never had interfered with the will of the majority of the House when an actual majority had been obtained on any proposition.

He scored newspaper magazine writers who had criticized him, and declared that he had proceeded from a lack of knowledge and upon false premises.
His speech was made just after the House had agreed to the conference report on the railroad bill and had accepted the Senate amendment to the act-entitled bill. He surrendered his gavel to Representative Mann, of Illinois, and, descending to the floor, he went into the midst of the republican side and asked unanimous consent to address the House for ten minutes. There was no voice of protest.
Proceeding slowly and in measured words, the Speaker declared that whoever should be Speaker of the House, whether for two or eight years, could not escape criticism. He spoke of the 50,000 bills introduced in each Congress, all with their advocates demanding consideration.

"Many members introduce bills that they do not want passed," he went on, explaining the troubles that face a speaker, and he declared that, under the rules as they had been adopted in the Fifty-first Congress, it had at any time been possible for a majority in the House to legislate.
Referring directly to Minority Leader Champ Clark, the speaker said that the gentleman from Missouri would make the best speaker that a minority could obtain. This remark was a signal for an ovation by the democrats in honor of their floor leader.
Continuing, the speaker said that not half as many bills were passed under the new "unanimous consent" rule as formerly, as he ridiculed the suggestion about his role as a "Czar." Whatever the clamor might be, he declared that he preferred to maintain his fidelity to the majority of the House, referring to newspaper and magazine writers, he said he would rather keep his own self-respect than "lend to demagogues and the self-constituted righteous ones who criticize without judgment and without knowledge."

GOVERNORS IN PERIL.
Governors of four states had narrow escapes yesterday while riding from Versailles to Frankfort, Ky., in an automobile, when lightning twice struck near them. Those who were in the party included Governor Hadley of Mississippi, and his wife; Governor Sloan of Arizona, Governor Ansel of South Carolina, and Governor Wilson of Kentucky, and his wife.
The party traveled through one of the worst electrical and hail storms which ever hit central Kentucky. Twice the lightning struck within 20 feet of the machine. Once it struck the rails of the interurban railroad, just this side of Versailles, and knocked up a shower of sparks over the automobiles as it whirled past. A moment later it struck the road just ahead of the machine.
The four governors had been in Lexington and Fayette county for the day. They started home, and just outside of Versailles were struck by the storm.
Lightning was almost continuous, and it played about the automobile from the time they left Versailles until they reached Frankfort. The governors said that it was the wildest ride they had ever taken.
The High State Court at Copenhagen has acquitted former Premier Christiansen of complicity with former Minister of Justice Alberti in extensive frauds.

KILLED IN A COLLISION.

A passenger train, loaded with emigrants on route to the west, running as the second section of No. 5, the Chicago Limited, on the Ontario and Western Railway, was wrecked at Parker, a small station 16 miles southeast of Norwich, N. Y., at 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning. Three passengers were killed and 25 injured. The wreck occurred when the emigrant train crashed into a locomotive running light.
The engineer and fireman of the train escaped serious injury, as if by a miracle.
The engine was returning to Sidney from Guilford Summit, where it had been sent to assist a coal train over the heavy grade. The engineer, B. F. Kingman, had orders to wait at the summit until the second section of No. 5 had passed, but for some unexplained reason the engine was dropped back, when, at a sharp curve, he collided with the heavily loaded passenger train.
The train was made up of eight coaches and an engine and carried 317 emigrants. It was running about 30 miles an hour up the heavy grade, and the light engine, making about 25 miles, struck it head-on.
When the collision occurred, the first passenger coach, an old one, immediately behind the engine, was crushed to pieces, the tender of the engine passing nearly halfway through it. All the injured, except the fireman and engineer of the light locomotive, were in this car, as the other seven coaches of the train remained on the track.
Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will brace up the nerves, banish sick headache, prevent drowsiness and invigorate the whole system. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Store will close at 5 o'clock this evening on account of Woodward & Lothrop Employees' Relief Association Excursion to Marshall Hall.
