

NOTICE.

We have been selling goods on credit the past four months, receiving but little money—nothing like enough to pay for the goods bought during that time. Two lines of future action are open to us: To keep an open store without goods, or a FULL STOCK to sell for CASH. We choose the latter, and shall, therefore, ON and AFTER JULY 22d, 1882, SELL FOR CASH DOWN, and to such of our patrons as can and will pay promptly upon terms agreed upon. HITCHENS BROS.

MORE delightful rains this week.

BUTTER scarce and at fabulous figures.

THE physicians report but little sickness in this section.

A LONG stick and a little piece of pasteboard is what the ladies use for a fan nowadays.

The roller-skating club holds a skating carnival every Saturday afternoon. The reporters are not admitted.

FESTIVAL.—The congregation of the Brownsville M. E. Church, (colored) have been holding a festival in their church this week.

FINE CATCH.—A gentleman visitor to this town went down to the Potomac last Monday on a fishing trip and caught twenty large bass and he says "it wasn't a good day for big bites either."

BIG WORK.—Our fellow townsman, Mr. Frederick Johnson, has the job of tinning the roofs of the several new buildings being erected for the Consolidation coal company at Ocean mines. We are informed that a large quantity of tin will be used, as the space to be covered is considerable. The work will be quickly done and at the same time in an artistic manner, as Mr. Johnson's work of the past in different parts of the county will attest.

PRETTY VIEWS.—Mr. A. A. Rogers, our photographic artist, has recently made a number of beautiful scenic views in and around Frostburg as follows:

Georges Creek Valley from McCulloh's hill
Jennings " " Eckhart
Clarysville " " " "

Frostburg from " " " "

Frostburg " " " "

Borden Mines from knoll below Mr. J. B. Thomas' residence.

Camp Mayer, 3 views.

These pictures are of good size for framing and will make fine parlour ornaments. Go and buy a copy of each,

REGISTRATION.—The officers of registration finished their "first summer sitting" Saturday evening, having been in session five days. The registry in the east end of the county was very slow and not over one-half of the voters took the trouble to have their names entered as qualified suffragists. The reports from the Creek districts are much better. In district No. 12 (East Frostburg) 292 names were put upon the books, not a colored man registering. In district No. 11 (Frostburg) the list is 490 whites and 33 colored, making a total of 523—or for both districts 815. In district No. 7 (Rawlings) 86 were registered.

The following lists include the names of all the persons registered in Districts No's 11 and 12:

ANOTHER KILN.—A large kiln, 45 by 22 feet, with a capacity for burning about 75,000 bricks, is being built at the Savage Mountain fire brick works, of this place. It will be built entirely from the fire clay bricks manufactured at the above establishment and is the invention of the popular superintendent, Mr. Arthur Baker, being a vast improvement on the old style of kilns. A cursory examination revealed the fact that twenty-four fire chambers will be placed in it, with one entrance to the building; it will be fifteen feet high with chimneys on the top for the upward current to play through. Adjoining it will be an air stack, 100 feet high, to catch the smoke and heat and allow it to pass up, yet at the same time sufficient heat will be retained for burning the bricks. With this stack both an up and down draught can be secured, as running lengthwise of the building and parallel with each other are two flues in the foundation about 24 feet deep. Through these the air will be forced by the up draught and from the building up through the stack, the flues being connected with the shaft by two underground draft tunnels, running diagonally toward the shaft. The new kiln will be used mostly for the finer grade of brick and fancy pieces of fire clay work. Mr. Gorsuch, the proprietor of these works, is ever on the alert in getting improvements for the manufacture of his wares and in this he has not felt behind but rather advanced on the invention of a Frostburg. The execution of the work has been given to Mr. James Fuller who is carrying it out with skill and energy.

Two fires in Lonaconing during the past ten days. One of them was the paragon of the Presbyterian Church and the other one at the Catholic Church. Both were extinguished without entailing much damage.

THE circus posted its bills over every available place in town. One man got $5 for the use of the wall of his dwelling for the purpose.

A SMALL STORY.—A small boy killed a small snake with a small stick on the small pavement adjoining a small gutter on one of our small streets during the early small hours of Sunday evening. A small crowd gathered around and a small excitement created, which ended by the small boy home with a small switch applied to his small back accompanied with a small tune whistled upon the small lips of our officer. A small paper in Cumberland, the small city of Maryland, should have gotten this small item for its small number of readers to peruse.

LABOR SPEECH.—A Large Gathering.

Mr. Frederick Bepier, of this place, delivered a very interesting, temperate and logical address on the subject, "The Struggle between Capital and Labor" from Schaub's balcony last Saturday evening, to a crowd of 1,000 persons. A large American flag hung from the west side of the balcony and previous to the speech a number of spirited airs were played by the German Arion Band. The following gentlemen were the officers of the evening:

President—M. J. Carney.
Vice Presidents—George Boettner, sr., Peter Scally and John Pfeiffer.
Secretary—James Doan.

The speaker of the evening was received with applause, upon being introduced by the president, and at once proceeded with his remarks. "Should I fail to come up to the standard of your expectation I hope I will be excused. I have always made it a point to stand by the right and oppose that which is unjust. To-day capital stands arrayed against labor. Capital knows that if men organize to protect their own interests the organization does not protect one but all. When labor is united it is difficult to break it down. The capitalists, if they succeed, will always in the future keep the laborer in poverty. With the light of nineteen centuries dawning upon us the men cannot be blinded by those who come and say we cannot afford to pay you good wages. In this fight the laboring men will be men indeed—they will never give up; theirs is a battle for right and justice, and if they succeed capitalists will respect them for it. Labor has always been compelled to work under the dark banner of persecution. It seems when the laboring men organize they are termed conspirators, but when capitalists combine the world smiles upon them and say they are right. I know the conflict is a bitter one yet we have the consolation of knowing also that the harder the fight the brighter the victory. When capital invests it must indisputably employ labor to make it a successful investment; without labor it would be a failure." The speaker continued in the same strain for some time hitting hard knocks at the oppressors of labor, when he took up the local trouble, giving a fair and impartial account of our present difficulty and suggesting various remedies therefore. Among other things he said: "The miners have advanced the interests of the county in every way. Their interests are here and they propose to protect them. The price paid for mining was 65 cents per ton which netted to the miners about $47 per month. The operators said they would bring new men and they did, but they were duped by wrong statements and are now in a pen guarded by the coal and iron police who are backed by our dear old governor. What has been the effect of all this? I will tell you—The men are more solid and more determined than they were on the 15th of March. Victory will yet perch on their banners. Colored men are working in Eckhart depriving the men who fought to free them of their honest dough. Is this right? Is it honorable? Is it just? No!"

During the delivery of the speech Mr. Bepier was repeatedly cheered by the large concourse present. This was the maiden effort of the speaker.

HAD A LIMB BROKE.—As Mrs. Jessie Gracie, of Eckhart, was attempting to jump from a wagon near that place Monday evening the horse plunged forward and threw her out on the road with great force, breaking one of her lower limbs. Surgical attendance was summoned and the injured limb promptly set.

ATTENTION.—The baby carriage parade will start promptly at 5 o'clock on the sidewalks of the principal streets and just about the time everybody goes to the postoffice. The rear of the procession will be brought up by the tricyclists and roller-skaters. During the procession a lot of tobacco-chewing urchins will enliven the lower section of the town and pedestrians are respectfully requested by them to keep off Main street while they are playing and breaking windows.

DAN'S ROCK EXCURSIONS.—Last Monday the beaux and belles of Lonaconing excursionized to Dan's Rock in large wagons and spent a day of pleasure on its lofty summit. The day was an unusually fine one and the atmosphere as "clear as crystal", making distant objects very perceptible to the naked eye. The picnickers left the Rock about 4 1/2 p. m. and drove round by Frostburg, passing through our principal streets waving flags and shouting at friends and acquaintances. The strike for the nonce was allowed to sleep with them and they gave themselves up to the abandon of a day's fun.

Tuesday a number of the German and English Lutheran congregations, of this place, took in the Rock and the beautiful scenery surrounding it. They report having a fine time.

MILES ORTON'S CIRCUS.—Charles W. Pegg, Esq., the able editor of the Batavia (O.) Courier, after seeing the Orton show entire, is led to strongly endorse the great show in a recent editorial in his paper, as follows:

Miles Orton's Circus was greeted by two large audiences, who were enthusiastic in praise of its excellence, many pronouncing it the best performance ever held in Batavia. We found the agents genial, clever gentlemen, exactly on the dot in the fulfillment of contracts; and pleasant in the transaction of business. All who see Orton's show will be satisfied with it, and bestow upon it just measure of praise.

The show has been greatly enlarged and improved since last season and the manager now is very complete, containing many rare and valuable features. The usual street parade will be given in the forenoon, and all those who would not miss a sight will be early on the ground in Frostburg, Thursday, July 27th.

PERSONAL.—Messrs. M. Sheehan and W. R. Amos, two prominent Baltimoreans, have been visiting Thos. H. Paul, Esq.

Mr. Frederick C. Gross, one of our business men, is off on a visit to friends in Jefferson, Wisconsin.

In a letter to a friend here Mr. Nicholas Carson says he arrived in Austin, Texas, Tuesday and secured a job at his trade of plastering. He complains of the intense heat but
