A QUEER OWL PARTY.

THE SOLEMN BIRDS RESPONDED TO THE WOODSMAN'S CALL.

An Uncanny Sort of Entertainment That Was Given on a Cloudy, Muggy Night In the Woods of West Virginia-The Whippoorwill Call.

"West Virginia seems to be a favorite region for owls," said John Lochlin of Pittsburg, "and I was a highly amused participant once in what they Frazier, a grizzly old woodsman and mountaineer. Just as it was getting dark one muggy, cloudy day, I was sitting in the cabin door smoking, and roundings and conditions with his weather eye, said:

" 'This is gointer be a fit night for an owl party. Shell I git ye up one?" "That was the first I heard of such a thing as an owl party.

" 'I don't know what you mean, Jim, said I.

"Jim assured me that I could get up an owl party or a whippoorwill party just as well as he could, but various persistent trials proved that he was wrong. It seemed to me that I imitated the cries of the owl and the whippoorwill as closely as he did, but not a response could I receive to my invitation. No sooner would Jim pipe up or hoot, though, than the answers would begin to come. It was most amazing, and from the way old Jim grinned I imagine he induced the test just to show me that you had to be born in the woods to call an owl. "-New York Sun.

The Mushroom's Life.

The mushroom's life is measured by hours, but it flourishes long enough for an insect to hang its egg on the edge of the "umbrella" and for the egg to become an insect ready to colonize the next mushroom that springs up.

A peddler the other day found himwholly by lawyers. He went up to the first flat looking for a customer, but he found all the doors locked. Then he went up to the second flat, and there he found everybody absent, and so at last he went to the top flat. Here he saw a man busy writing at his desk. The peddler began telling of his wares, but the lawyer interrupted with, "No, I don't want any." Still the peddler continued, and again the lawyer protested. "I tell you I don't want anything. Get out!" But the peddler persisted so that the lawyer, thoroughly angry, quickly arose and threw the intruder down the stairs.

FIGHT IN A CHURCH .- A longstanding feud between William Foley self in an office building occupied and Claude Stout, both prominent Baptists of Guilford county, N. C., culminated in a shooting in a crowded church recently. A largely attended camp meeting was being held by the Baptists at Macedonia. Foley espied an open door, and, looking in, attended the camp meeting, and, learning of his presence there, Stout went in search of him, and, discovering his enemy sitting in the midst of the congregation, he drew a revolver and opened fire without warning. Foley returned the fire, and eight shots were exchanged in the crowded church without any casualties. The combatants were overpowered by officers of the church and taken into custody.

BERRYVILLE, VIRGINIA.

Lies at the head of the noted Shenandoah Valley, and borders on the north on the West Va. line. The Blue Ridge mountains form its eastern boundary, dividing it from Lou donn and Fanquier counties. Warren county is on the south and Frederick on the west.

In aggregate agricultural wealth Clarke county is probably the richest county in the State. The exhaustiess fertility of her soil, the healthfulness of her climate, and the beauty of her diversified landscape are subjects that charm the tongue of all who have ever visited this county. The surface of the main part of the county, lying between the Shenandeah and the Opequon rivers, is gently undulating—just sufficiently for drainage. The soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of wheat and corn, clover and timothy. Blue process is induced as and soon forms in a mentitivated fields a soil good to the fire found.

markets, and many line horses sold to city buyers.

Good roads traverse the county in every direction, and four macademized tumpikes centre at Berry ville, the county seat, which contains a population of about 1600. There are eight churches in the town, and good private and public schools—school houses supported by county and State being located at convenient points all over the county. Taxation at a cash valuation of property is about $1 on the $100 for all purposes—State, coun-

The Norfolk and Western Railroad, a road managed with a view of building up the country through which it passes, extends through the centre of the country in its northern and southern course, affording ready means for travel or shipments of products either north or south. Besides this railroad, we are looking hopefully for the extension of the Washington Ohio and Western from Round Hill, its present terminus—distant from Berryville 16 miles—which will cross the country from east to west, giving us all the railroad facilities we could desire, and placing us by rail within 60 miles of the national capital. Clarke coursty, sooner or later, is destined to become the seat of manufacturing industries, because of her extensive and virgin deposits of brown hematite ores. Shafts sunk on one farm alone led the expert making the investigation to conclude that a million tens of iron ore could be mined at that place. These ore deposits are found in the river hills, distant from Berryville only five miles, and the surveyed roate of the Wash. O. & West R. R. runs through these rich deposits. They will eventually tempt capitalists to develop them, and their development will add to the value of the real estate of the county.

As ageneral thing the farms in this county are large. Were they cut up into small tracts like those in the Cumberland Valley, Pa., the number of farms and population of the county would more than double. There is no good reason why outside parties wishing to invest in these lands may not combine for their purchase and arrange for a division of the same. The timber of the county consists of walnut, black oak, white oak hickory, locust, &c.

The soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of wheat and corn, clover and timothy. Blue grass is indigenous, and soon forms, on uncultivated fields, a sod equal to the far-famed helds of Kentucky. It belongs to the lonestone formation—the limestone being readily obtained on almost every farm for building purposes and for burning into lime. Besides wheat, corn and hay, which are the chief productions and for which a ready market is found in Baltimore, 120 miles distant by rail, all kinds of fruits in this latitude are grown, and apples are produced on some farms in large quantities.
