

"Organs."

The New York World a short time since had an article on "organs" that has gone the rounds of the papers, and the World consequently flatters itself on having done a big thing. Now much of the ground taken by the World with regard to Grange organs, or "organs" of any other kind is true. But it is a little curious to see papers that are under the control of party and rings, and that pride themselves on standing by their masters, and doing their dirty work, prating about every paper that is started in the interest of the grandest movement for the social and intellectual elevation, and the financial advancement of the largest class of people ever reached by any known organization, and striving to belittle the grand work which such papers are designed to accomplish.

The fact is that not a church, party, or other organization of any great importance in this or any other country is without papers devoted to the particular interests and to the advocating of the principles of such church, party or organization.

This in itself is perfectly proper so long as such papers are published by men who are not "owned" and print their own honest convictions. The great trouble is that a great many of these papers have passed into the hands of rings and cliques, who have run them not for the bold, fair, and outspoken advocacy of principles held by their publishers, but the advancement of the interests of corrupt men, rings, and monopolies. The new movement came and found this condition of things, found the press of the country "owned" by interests adverse to the interests of the producing classes, and the result has been the upbuilding of a new press that has made the old press, that was running in the rut of supporting rings that paid best, uneasy for their standing, and mourn their dirty occupation ruined. Now we do not say that the World is one of the class alluded to, for it and other leading journals showed more wisdom than many of the small fry that catch at their articles like drowning men at straws.

The idea of having "organs" as the infallible mouth piece or the constant exponent of any class is a miserable humbug, and often a power for evil, but to have a press pledged to the cause of right is a mighty power for good, a bulwark of truth standing between the people and those who would deceive and mislead them.

The fact is that the new press has occupied ground which the old papers were either too venal, too corrupt, or too cowardly to occupy, and in nine cases out of ten the new papers are in every way in advance of the old. That the old sheets should raise a howl to break down the new is perfectly natural, for with them it is a question of bread and butter. The people will not be very much frightened by this howl and they will stand by the papers that stand by them, and will hail every new paper started in the cause of right as another ally to help on the glorious cause. We have yet to learn of any of these newspapers that are particularly anxious to become "organs." It is their teachings that have made the very word odious. It is the "old paper" that thinks it must be somebody's "organ" in order to live; the "new paper" almost invariably acknowledges no master but right and justice.

TRENTON, Pierce Co., Wis., Aug. 24th, 1874.

Editor of The Grange Advance:

DEAR SIR,—It has been a long time since I wrote to you last, I have been so busily employed. I am glad harvest is over, for it was very warm this year, but I am very thankful I have done so well, for I have had good reward for my labor. I had a birth day party on the 14th of August, and had a very good time. I have not been so very well for a few days back. I attend Sunday School regular; we have a very good one; we have some very good singers which makes it more interesting than it would be otherwise. I play croquet every Saturday afternoon; it is a very amusing game, and I like it better than base ball, for there is not so much danger of getting hurt. I hope our school will begin before long, for I am anxious to go. I want to be a good scholar. Some one thinks I could study at home. I can, but there is little time for any one who works on the farm. Hoping your paper will always contain as good stories as it does now I am your young friend,

LILLY BOUSTEAD

THE GRANGE ADVANCE.

Official Paper of Goodhue County

—Andrew Koch of Lake City was in town Monday.

—The Temperance Convention is in session in this city.

—The Anti-Monopolist have their city caucus on Friday evening.

—New wheat is coming into market, but very little is being sold.

—The public schools of this city opened in fine style on Monday.

—Wheat 71 cents per bushel. See Red Wing Markets in another column.

—The Republican City Caucus is to be held to-night (Wednesday) at 7 1/2 o'clock at the Court House.

—The hotel begins to show something of what it is to be, the first walls above the basement being now up.

—To-morrow is the day of the Mass Convention in Featherstone. Let every man go and take his neighbor.

—The presence of the Hutchinson family, Tribe of Asa, is one of the pleasant features of the Temperance Convention.

—The advertisement of Bartlett & Pierce, found on this page, speaks of the business of one of the most reliable firms in this State. Read the advertisement.

—The Red Wing Mills are turning out two hundred barrels of flour a day this week, and are gaining a little since the beginning of harvest on their lumber piles.

—Let the Patrons of Goodhue county remember the next meeting of the Goodhue County Council on the third Friday, the 18th day of September, and govern themselves accordingly.

—The boat race between the Red Wing and Stillwater Boat Clubs was postponed from Monday until Tuesday morning on account of high winds. The Red Wing Club come out ahead or behind; we go to press too early to learn which.

—The walls of Cogel & Betcher's new building on the corner of Main street and East Avenue are up. The building is finished with stone trimmings, is three high stories above the basement, and makes one of the finest business blocks of the city.

—Dr. G. H. Crary of Minneapolis who has frequently visited this city and established a reputation as a practical Dentist, arrived here on Tuesday, Sept. 1st. He has his office at the National Hotel where he will be glad to see all who wish his professional services.

—F. F. Sandberg arrived home from Europe this morning after an absence of two and a half months. He reports having had a very pleasant trip, with any quantity of enjoyment at his old home, among his friends and relatives, but is glad to get back to Minnesota again. He reports the European crops as unusually good and thinks that we must expect low prices.

—Mr. A. D. Roberts, of Featherstone, has lately purchased in Wisconsin, a Jersey bull 19 months old, for which he paid $100. He is a fine looking animal of the kind, though the Jerseys are not nearly so much celebrated for their beauty as they are for the butter yield of the cows. Mr. Roberts proposes to cross with his half-blood Short-Horns, in order to secure the good qualities of both breed of stock.

—We are glad to see the name of N. O. Werner, who has frequently favored this paper with some of the productions of his pen, prominently mentioned as a candidate before the Republican County Convention for the office of Judge of Probate. We do not propose to have anything to do with making or unmaking candidates, but when we see an honest, competent young man, who needs and deserves encouragement on the way to promotion, it affords us pleasure.

—Mr. Walter Record, formerly a resident of New York, and for some years past a resident of this State, died at his residence in this city on Monday night between eight and nine o'clock. Mr. Record came to this city some five years since, and has lately been engaged in the business of keeping a meat market in partnership with Tim. McCue. He had been sick with the typho-malaria fever some three weeks. He was about 48 years of age. The immediate cause of his death was a congestive chill.

—The Densmore Brothers are rushing the repairs to their foundry forward with commendable energy. They did not let the embers get cold until they commenced clearing away to rebuild. Such enterprise is an honor not only to the firm but to the city, and deserves encouraging. There is no other establishment in the County so important to the farmers as this. Every one owing the firm, should at least show their good will by paying up at once. You may be burned out yourself some time, and then you may know how it feels.

SOMETHING NEW—Mrs. M. L. Eckles is canvassing Goodhue county for Smith's Improved Fire Kindler. For lighting fires, firing stubble, straw piles, brush heaps, &c., this little instrument is invaluable. We have seen it tried and can recommend it as being the best thing of its kind we have ever seen. Always on hand at the drug store of F. A. Poole, Red Wing, Minn.

ELSBURY & GREENE, a Chicago firm, represented by J. M. Wolf, have undertaken the getting up a lithographic view of Red Wing in colors, and are canvassing the city for that purpose, and meeting with good success. The getting up of the cut will be quite expensive, it being necessary to have six different stones engraved to get the different colors.

The firm cannot undertake the enterprise unless at least six hundred dollars worth of the pictures are taken. We have seen a view of Winona gotten up by this same firm, that certainly speaks well for their work, and we think we can heartily commend their enterprise.

The picture will not only be a nice adornment to one's own walls but will be a fine present to send East, or to Europe as it will show not alone the growth and prosperity of Red Wing, but also the wealth and improvement of the country, from which such a city draws its support. The firm are offering the picture at about one-half the price, for which such views are usually sold. The work will be ready for delivering about the middle of October.

WE are pleased to learn that the State Temperance Union Convention, which is to hold its annual session here this week, have induced the North Carolinians to give one of their concerts here under their management, and they will accordingly sing in Music Hall on Wednesday evening September 2nd inst. From our exchanges from different portions of this State and Wisconsin we see they have given excellent satisfaction, and in quite a number of our sister cities have had earnest invitations to return a second time. This is a troupe of colored people formerly all slaves, who sing the old plantation melodies with all the peculiar unction and fervor of their anti-slave life. Being entirely uneducated but ambitious of advancing their moral and intellectual condition they have chosen this method of obtaining the means with which to attain their object. We do not feel the necessity of urging our citizens to patronize these concerts, as their introduction is of such a nature as to warrant them a full house. Admission 50 cts to all parts of the house. Children 25 cts.

WE took a look through the Art Gallery of J. D. Kellogg on Monday, and found a great variety of work, which aided by his new artist from Boston he has lately finished. We noticed a style of enameled photograph, that brings out the expression very perfectly, and which is claimed to preserve the picture in the very best manner. Mr. Kellogg is evidently determined to bring up his work to the very highest standard, and we believe that his pictures will compare most favorably with those of the best artists of New York or Boston.

A SULKY AND GANG PLOW is one of the new things for the making farm work easy, and of enabling one man or boy to do the work of two men, to be found at the hardware store of Nelson & Peterson in Red Wing. These plows, the Sear's Sulky and Gang Plows, with the Diamond Plow attached, are arranged with two plows attached to a sulky so that a man can ride and drive turning two furrows at once, relieving the fatigue of this part of farm work. They are said to do work with the least labor to both team and driver of any thing that has been offered in the market.

STAMMERING AND STUTTERING permanently and easily cured. Dr. A. J. Seymour, of Cincinnati, Ohio, arrived at the Hickman House, Red Wing, Monday, Aug. 31, and will remain seven days. Come and be cured of this horrible affliction. No cure no pay.
