The Nobles County Fair will open on Tuesday next, the 18th, and all the inditations point to a large and successful exhibition, if the weather holds good. The officers tell us that everybody they have seen has promised to come. There is good stock enough in our county to make a good fair without anything else, but this year we have a magnificent, overflowing, bursting crop of about everything that grows, and all that is now needed is for the farmers to put their best samples on exhibition.

A good lesson might be learned from the recent Villard reception at St. Paul. That is admitted to have been one of the most magnificent and successful civic demonstrations ever seen on the continent. The secret of the success was that everyone threw aside his personal, party and other prejudices and worked with one object, viz: the suc-cess of the display and the good of the
