Catarrh in the Head

Take Seven Bottles—Perfectly Well

Mr. Norman Bodine of Chicago.

"I have been a victim of catarrh a long while. My nose and head were so stuffed up that sometimes I could not sleep at all during the night. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. One bottle did me so much good I kept on; have now taken seven

The ADVANCE office is equipped with new and first class type and machinery; second to none outside the large cities. We make a specialty of brief, pamphlet, poster and commercial printing.

The Wabasha Herald says: "Congressman Baldwin has shown himself to be a democrat." That settles it.

Northfield News: And now it is announced that Col. Bobleter may be a candidate for State treasurer, and in political circles some surprise is expressed

The State during the past year received only about $60,000 for interest on daily balances. It would appear that sum is not large for the amount of money out.—Northfield News.

We hope the republicans will nominate a new man for treasurer—Bobleter has held the office long enough.

The Lake Crystal Union is authority for the statement that State Senator Barr, of Mankato, will be a candidate for State treasurer. If the ADVANCE had a vote in the State convention it would be for Mr. Barr; no better man has been mentioned for this office. Senator Barr would lend strength to the ticket.

At St. James last week the village marshal was assaulted by a fellow by the name of C. S. Ingals, a dissolute character. Ingals struck his victim with a knife, severing an artery. The marshal lived until Wednesday. Ingals is in jail, awaiting the action of the grand jury, which meets in May, next. The indications are that Ingals will adorn a gallows.

It has been mentioned that Hon. John Lind might be a candidate for United States Senator. If Mr. Lind would consent to a candidate he would be, from the start, a formidable opponent to other aspirants. He is a man of the people and the people admire him for the devotion to principle. And so far as ability is concerned he is the peer of any man now in the Senate.—Cannon Falls Beacon.

The Redwing Republican voices the sentiment of the ADVANCE when it says: "In view of the hard times those of our people who have any little odd jobs of work that can be done by any needy person, will confer as great a benefit upon deserving ones by distributing this employment as by giving an equal amount in charity—and at the same time receive an equitable return. For example, if your sidewalk needs cleaning, or if you have some wood to cut, you can do some one a favor that will be thankfully appreciated.

POLITICS.

The report that L. P. Hunt is a candidate for State Auditor is well founded. Bro. Hunt never sleeps—he is up early, and stays late.

The Blue Earth City Post says: "Secretary of State F. P. Brown was in the city a few days last week, and in answer to the direct question, put to him by the editor of the Post, 'Mr. Brown, do you intend to be a candidate before the coming Republican state convention for renomination?' he answered in his ever-frank and straightforward manner, 'Yes.'"

The ADVANCE would like to see E. C. Huntington, the talented and loyal editor of the Windom Reporter receive the nomination for secretary of state. If there is a man in the state better qualified for the position let his name be mentioned—we don't who he is.

The Slayton Gazette voices the sentiment of the ADVANCE when it says: "Joel Heatwole is reported as saying that he is not out of politics. We are glad to hear as his able pen will be needed in the coming campaign. Joel made a valiant fight in an overwhelmingly Democratic district in the last campaign and for his able services ought to receive some substantial recognition at the hands of the party this year.

Bob. Dunn, the fiery-headed editor of the Princeton Union, is trying to fall into the office of State Auditor because he took a hand in smoking out the present auditor. Bierman would have smoked himself out in time.

We have information that the friends of H. J. Miller are going to make an effort to give him the nomination for senator from this district. If Mr. Miller is given the nomination there will be no question as to his election. He is much stronger than he was four years ago, besides this is going to be a mighty poor year for democrats. Miller would make a splendid record in the state house.

Congressman McCleary will be re-nominated by acclamation, and elected unanimously. That's what the people think of Mr. McCleary.

Ex-Gov. Merriam is credited with a desire to see Gov. Nelson succeed Senator Washburn.

REMARKS.

Heard on the Street, and Elsewhere; Gathered by the Advance Reporter.

A. E. Tripp:—The Scandinavians in my section of the county are getting back into the republican party. They were lured away at the last election by democrats and populists, but now say that they were imposed upon, and, I am glad to say, are coming back to their first and best love. The Scandinavians are among our best people and I am glad to see them in the republican party—a party that has done so much for America.

DAVID SMITH.

Would Get out of Oregon if he Could.

SPRINGFIELD, OREGON, JAN. 3, 1894.
EDITOR ADVANCE:—I am still receiving letters containing inquiries about this section of the country which I wish to answer through the ADVANCE with your kind permission.

Land here is worth from $5 to $100. Plenty of government land in the mountains and near the valley, but it is worthless, or nearly so. I know of no good land that could be bought for less than about $30 per acre. A good improved farm cannot be bought here for less than $50 per acre, I know of no farm for rent. There has been considerable inquiring for lands to rent by new comers. A new-comer should not buy land here until he has been here at least a year, unless he can trust some one to judge for him, as much worthless land looks good to one just from the East. Horses are worth from nothing up to $100. A good farm team can be bought for from $100 to $200. Cows are worth from $8 to $20, nice beef cattle sold a few weeks ago for about one cent per lb. Farming implements are high, wagons, 3 inch, $85, and all hardware in proportion, nails, 15c per pound; lumber, rough, $6 to $8, dressed, $14. One thousand dollars would indeed be very little for one to begin with here, even with a small family. Many buy only ten acres, others 20, some buy 40, some 50 &c.

I think a man ought to have at least 40 acres of the best land here to support a family on, if he farms. If he cultivates hops, prunes, or even in the hog business, one might do with less. Farmers here are scarcely making enough now to support themselves and pay their taxes. Produce being so low. Wheat is worth about 45 or 50 cents, oats 30 cents, hay $8 per ton. Hay is expensive to produce as we have to sow annually for it the same as for wheat or oats. Some sow cheat, some oats and some wheat for hay. I do not see why any one should prefer this section of country, only on account of its grand climate, its fruits, its fine water and fuel. Our roads are terrible, with mud and slop and gravel and stones, which are hauled there, without which they would be impassable. Then it rains so much for about six months and so little sunshine. The thermometer indicates most all the time now about 55° above, but it has been down to 27° above or 50 below freezing, twice this so-called winter. Today I was plowing our garden. We intend planting onions, and carrots and some potatoes tomorrow, if the weather holds good, but it is raining now. I believe any one can make more money there than here, and if the very cold weather is not too objectionable, more pleasure can be enjoyed there than here.

The reason that I have remained here is I have had my money in such a way that I could not well get without distressing others. I would like to sell some good property, but I have no prospect in view of being able to collect much soon. My folks are beginning to like western Oregon very well, and I like it some better than I did. Our home is in one of the most beautiful parts of the Great Willamette Valley, and our neighbors are as fine a class of people as the world can produce. That, of itself, makes a home pleasant almost anywhere.

Christmas day was as beautiful as any May day I ever saw, warm and pleasant, with beautiful bright sunshine all day and meadowlarks, robins, thrushes and other birds singing all day long. Fall seeded crops are looking fine. My wheat is stooling now and looks splendid. Pastures are good and growing. We have had no snow as yet, but we can see plenty of it in several directions on the summits of the mountains. In fact we can see plenty of snow all summer on the peaks of the Cascades. Well, with sorrow, I read the announcement of the death of my old neighbor and friend, J. P. Moulton. No neighborhood can well afford to lose such an excellent man. I notice in the ADVANCE, lately, also, the name of Mr. Tillander, a good, kind, honest neighbor. I hope he and Charles Saxson, and all such good men around there, are well and doing well.

I have read the ADVANCE for many years and it was always ably edited; A. P. Miller was an able editor, Robert McCune published a good, pure, wholesome, paper. It was a credit to any county while in his hands. But now it is excellent, so much improved in many ways.

I would say in conclusion, it would be well for those writing to me for information in regard to this section of country to inclose a self-directed stamped envelope for reply.

I am very tired and not feeling very well. Will try to do better next time.

With best wishes for the good old ADVANCE, and all my old Worthington friends.

DAVID SMITH.

Pat Wants a Job.

PAT.—On the eve of last election When the fight was getting warm We raised our hats like Democrats For Cleveland and Reform. Now brothers we have got it, In this fatal business wreck. From the business dread of Free-Trade We have got in the neck.

FREE-TRADE BOSS.— Sure, Pat, you are mistaken. Our party loves you still; It was not Free-Trade that did it, 'Twas the Sherman Silver Bill.

PAT.—But that Bill gave us employment And kept money in our job; To the devil with your party, Tell me where O'll find a job.

Popular Everywhere.

Beginning with a small local sale in a retail drug store, the business of Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily increased until there is scarcely a village or hamlet in the United States where it is unknown.

To-day Hood's Sarsaparilla stands at the head of the medicine world, admired in prosperity and envied in merit by thousands of would-be competitors. It has a larger sale than any other medicine before the American public, and probably greater than all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined.

Such success proves merit. If you are sick, it is the medicine for you to try? Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

Recipe

FOR MAKING BUCKWHEAT CAKES:

One quart of Loveless the Grocer best Buckwheat Flour on earth, four tablespoons of yeast, one teaspoon of salt, one handful of Indianmeal, two tablespoons of molasses, warm water enough to make a thin batter; beat well and set to raise in a warm place. If the batter is the least sour in the morning stir in a very little soda dissolved in hot water. Mix in an earthen crock and leave a teaspoonful or so in the bottom each morning to serve as sponge for the next night.

Fry in the usual way, serve hot with Loveless the Grocer justly famous $1. maple syrup and you will feel so good that you will stumble over each other in your eagerness to get to the place where Loveless the Grocer does business to get more of the good things he keeps there on sale.
