THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

The next session of the General Assembly of Virginia begins Wednesday.

The duties of greatest importance to the State are those of the Democratic majority will act well its part in shaping such legislation as will be the best interests of the State in the political and political sense. The people expect this from them and upon rests a grave responsibility. They are no recurrence of the scandals of the past session. The people expect a reproach to the last session, which have been a heavy weight upon the Democracy of the State. The curtailment of criminal justice, economy in the State finances, the amendment of the Walton election are subjects that will merit serious and mature consideration. It is expected that the record of the coming session of the Legislature will be one of satisfaction and gratification to every well-wisher of Democracy and good government.

NEW BATTLESHIPS—GRATIFYING INTELLIGENCE.

The Virginian's dispatches give the following intelligence that the New York Navy Department and Dry Dock Company has again been successful in its efforts for the construction of the battleships, 5 and 6, authorized by last Congress. The bids were yesterday at the Navy Department in competition with the great building establishments of William Cramp & Sons, of Philadelphia, the Union Works of San Francisco, the Newport News Company were successful in securing both vessels—being $2,250,000 for each ship. This means the expenditure of $4,500,000 for government shipbuilding at Newport. It means the employment of a great force of skilled mechanics. It is a demonstration to the country of this great shipyard on the James river of Virginia is qualified to construct the greatest of ships, and that it has unsurpassed facilities for doing so. It means greater attention to this section, a better knowledge and a rapid, material development of the same. The Virginian voices the sentiment of the people of Norfolk and the State in extending cordial congratulations to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company.

DEATH OF THOMAS K. BELL.

The community will receive the announcement of the death of this gentleman with deep regret. He was universally respected and esteemed, and deservedly so. His walk through life in all his years was irreproachable, and he leaves a character behind that is spotless. While never occupying prominence in the emoluments or honors which men generally crave for, few among our citizens were so generally recognized and so ready to respond to all demands in the cause of assistance to the suffering or the dispensation of benevolence or charity to the afflicted or needy. Duty in matters of this character was his watch word. The homes are many into which he brought the sunshine of Christian consolation and none could be more gentle, more considerate, more devoted in an effort to alleviate trouble or to bring comfort. His friendship was a treasure to possess, for none was purer. In all the relations of life he modestly and faithfully acted his part. As son and brother, and friend, he was as true as the needle to the pole. He has passed away to receive the reward promised by the Saviour to those who in life followed his precepts as best they knew how. Dear friend, peace to thy ashes.

VALUABLE AND PATRIOTIC SUGGESTIONS.

The Virginian prints to-day the paper read by Colonel William Lamb before the Great Bridge Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution at its recent meeting. It is replete with valuable and patriotic suggestions, which it is hoped will receive the endorsement they deserve. There should be a proper observance, indeed, as Colonel Lamb remarks, a proper celebration of the birthday of George Washington, of the Fourth of July; the 19th of October, the anniversary of the crowning glory of the Revolution, the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown—and surely the Norfolk Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution should secure a suitable and appropriate observance of the 9th of December, "The Battle of Great Bridge."

Another and very important suggestion is that of the establishment of a department in the public library for the reception of books, pamphlets, prints, &c., in regard to our Revolutionary struggle. The South has been very deficient in this respect, and especially so have been the people of this historic section of Virginia, embraced within the confines of the present Second Congressional district. Within this territory we have Yorktown, Williamsburg, Jamestown, Old Point Comfort, Great Bridge, and a great number of historic places unequalled by any other section of the republic. Yet we have listlessly refrained from gathering up the rich records connected with them—the very fragments of which are deserving of attention and patriotic care. The Virginian has time and again alluded to this apathy of our people. It hopes that a different spirit will prevail and the suggestions of Colonel Lamb are in the right direction.

Whither?
Where goest thou, hurrying river, where?
"I follow the path made for me,
And because I am weary I am going now
Far down to the quiet sea."
Where goest thou, blustering wind, oh, where?
"Far into the untraveled land,
And because I am weary there I will rest
With the quiet rocks and sand."
Where goest thou, sailing cloud, oh, where?
"I know of a barren waste,
And because I am weary there I will seek
A quiet resting place."
Where goest thou, swift flying bird, oh, where?
"Far into the forests now,
And there I will rest, for I've weary grown,
On a safe and beautiful bough."
And thou, my soul, where goest thou?
"Higher than clouds I go.
Eternal love, for I am weary here,
Will bear me aloft, I know."
—Philadelphia Lodger.
