PARNELL RUNS THE MACHINE.

DUBLIN, April 6.—When this city gets excited, which event is not frequent, it is apt to be stirred up from the very bottom, and that is now the state of feelings on the election progress, throughout the country. No similar excitement has attended any general election for many years. Since Parnell's return home the violence of his utterances has been received with no little surprise by the Liberals and Moderate Home Rulers.

In several cases the latter who are standing for seats regarded as safe if things were left to their natural course, are resisting Parnell's orders to make room for candidates of his own dictation and it is believed the resulting disaffection will open a fair prospect of Conservative success in many places. Mr. M. D. L. Murphy, the Liberal Member for Parnell ousted from his candidacy for Cork City, in order that he might himself stand for that constituency, tendered the olive branch to Parnell, saying that he had no desire to call in personal grievance, but Parnell contemptuously rejected Mr. Murphy's overtures of peace and assailed him in very bitter and vituperative language. Among the others he applied to Murphy the term of "death-bed repentant," and said he only proposed to become a genuine Home Ruler when there was no other course open for him.
